Cheer Leader Election

OFFICIAL BALLOT

NOMINEES—TWO TO BE ELECTED

JOHN A. BROWN, '05 C., '08 L.
GEORGE M. FLINT, '97 D.
LLOYD P. DURHAM, '06 C.
JAMES G. DAMON, '07 C.

MY CHOICE FOR CHEER LEADERS FOR 1906 IS

Said choice is made whereby an upper class committee, consisting of four thousand students, this number may be increased in the next few days.

In the College the regular opening exercises will occur this morning in College Hall Chapel. The program includes addresses by Provost Harrison, Vice-Provost Smith, and Dean Pennal.

The Law Department will open at eleven o'clock and the Medical Department and the Department of Veterinary Medicine hold exercises this evening at eight o'clock. At this time the opening class of the Medical School will be welcomed by Provost Harrison at a reception in the Medical Laboratories. Professor Edward Martin will make the principal address.

The Department of Philosophy opens to-morrow morning. The Dental Department does not formally begin the year until Monday evening, when some of the most noted men of the profession will be present.

The new year sees the returning of the power plant and some of the new $800,000 Engineering building. This event will take place on October 28th. Retired members of the faculty have sent out several hundred invitations. Students and other celebrities from the whole country will be among the guests.

Mr. Frederick Emlen, Instructor in Geology and Micropaleontology, succeeds Dr. Evans in the position of Sub-Dean of the College.

The following is a list of the new instructors in the College:

C. W. Balke, Instructor in Chemistry; H. D. Baten, Jr., Assistant in Drawing; C. W. Bloosken, Instructor in English; G. S. Chamber, Instructor in Mathematics; E. A. Child, Assistant in English; Thomas D. Cope, Instructor in Chemistry; J. W. Crawford, Instructor in Roman Languages and Literature; G. C. Fenn, Assistant in English; O. R. Gleason, Instructor in Mathematics; C. G. Gommon, Assistant in English; A. T. Goddard, Instructor in Civil Engineering; A. M. Gregory, Assistant in Mathematics; W. F. Harper, Instructor in Engineering; J. M. Harrell, Instructor in Chemistry; C. W. Hays, Assistant in Physics; J. E. Draper, Instructor in Physical Education; F. C. Powers, Instructor in Greek and Latin; J. Martin, Assistant in Physics; John F. Murphy, Instructor in Physics; and O. H. Whitaker, Instructor in Chemistry.

PHILADELPHIA, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1906

UNIVERSITY BEGINS 167TH YEAR

FORMAL OPENING EXERCISES TO BE HELD THIS MORNING.

The largest session in the history of the University will meet today in the various departments for formal opening exercises. The University community is invited to hear the first of the addresses by Provost Harrison at a reception in the Medical Laboratories. Professor Edward Martin will make the principal address.
Philadelphia, 1740 progress and co-operation have made her a great University class in the history of this University.

To each and every member of that large body The Pennsylvania extends a cordial welcome.

...THE PENNSYLVANIAN.

It is the undertaking of The Pennsylvania to print all the news of interest to the students of the University without partiality or discrimination in favor of any individual. That the news shall be news, shall be fair and just to all concerned, shall tell the truth and all the truth we know, is the intention of the board of editors.
If we make mistakes, such as occur even in the best regulated newspapers, as well as in families, we invite friendly criticism. Editoriality It is our intention to show justice to both sides of whatever limy be the issue and just to all concerns, shall tell the truth and all the news shall be news, shall be fair
sides of whatever limy be the issue
and just to all concerns, shall tell the truth and all the news shall be news, shall be fair

To each and every member of that
large body The Pennsylvania extends a cordial welcome.
SUNDAY SERVICES ARRANGED

(Continued from First Page.)

hospital in Canton, China, to be manned and supported by the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Andrew H. Wood, '90 M. D., and Dr. Joseph McCracken, '96 M. D., have now been supported while they organize and establish the school. Dr. Woods is at present conducting a dispensary in Canton. Dr. McCracken is now in this city, with headquarters at the University House, Twenty-sixth and Lombard streets, raising $10,000 to purchase and erect the dispensary and hostial buildings. The support of Dr.
Wood and Dr. McCracken, for the next year will cost $1,000. Of this amount the Alumni Committee will contribute $2,500, leaving $2,500 for the faculty and students to meet.

The new dispensary House, at Twenty-sixth and Lombard streets, is being constructed. The resident al ments and ten graduate students are now living there and getting things set up in an admirable fashion. The building was erected at a cost of $10,000, and in an unequal amount similar institutions insufflculated to hospitals in China. It is about the fifteen minutes walk from the campusy way of the South Street Bridge.
One of the principal objects of the Retirement is to bring the students of the University into sympathetic touch with the people of the neighborhood, by means of hospitals, lecture, ent-tertainment, educational classes, religious gatherings, summer camps, etc.
In order that all fifty students will be needed to go there one night a week in order to assist those living at the house. During the past summer three hours were held at the Delaware River town at the Delaware Water Gap and two at Tohickon. About eighty boys and girls enjoyed outings of from one to two weeks under the direction of students.

Membership in the Association is open to students, members of the faculty, and the alumni of the University.
The Hand Book for new students will be ready for distribution to room-mates. Among other things this contains a map of the campus, freshman football and basketball schedules, lists of clubs and fraternities, University minutes and rules, and a few useful suggestions for freshmen, who may duplicate copies at the Association
Rooms and table board.

 Rooms and table board.

Lancaster Avenue, 3925—Comfortably furnished rooms for students, $1.50, also table board. Isabell Calhur.

 Rooms and table board.

GILBERT & BACON

PHOTOGRAPHERS

The Pennsylvania Daily

The University of Pennsylvania

The Pennsylvania will contain all news of transactions absent from Phila-adelphia and contain reports of all college activities.

It is indispensable to the students of all departments, as it contains all faculty notices as well as those of student organizations.

Subscription at the office.

4051 WOODLAND AVENUE.

 Rooms and table board.

GILBERT & BACON

PHOTOGRAPHERS

600 'YEARS' EXPERIENCE