CANDIDATES REPORT FOR TRACK

This week, 38 men were elected to the Captains' First Call. The membership of the track crew will be bolstered by many freshmen who will report for training. The team will hold its first practice on Monday.

Intercollegiate Association Decides Upon the Games and Officials.

Several changes were made in the schedule of games and officials for the Intercollegiate Basketball Association meeting in New York. The league is composed of teams representing Pennsylvania, Columbia, Harvard, Yale, Princeton and Cornell. Pennsylvania won the championship last year. The season will open December 13th in this city. Pennsylvania playing Princeton. A. L. Sharp is referee for all the games. A. Locke, an ex-student in Harvard, and S. T. Staffard in Ithaca. Pennsylvania's schedule will be:

Saturday, November 13th—Princeton, at Philadelphia.
Saturday, November 17th—Harvard, at Cambridge.
Saturday, November 20th—Yale, at Philadelphia.
February 7th—Cornell, at Ithaca.
February 10th—Cornell, at Philadelphia.
February 21st—Columbia, at New York.
March 1st—Yale, at New Haven.
March 8th—Columbia, at Philadelphia.

The association encouraged the adoption of a schedule for Freshman football. It was decided that Pennsylvania, Yale, Harvard and Columbia arranged a schedule. Pennsylvania and Columbia will meet in New York while Harvard and Yale play in New Haven. Two of these games will play for the championship.

The Wharton Receptions

The Wharton School Association will tonight give, on the ground floor of Lavaud Hall, its first annual reception to the Freshmen of the school. The reception is in connection with the association, which is to create a general tone of good feeling and understanding among the undergraduates. The reception is a means of securing a feeling of good will among the students. In addition to this the association furnishes a medium for securing and presenting to the faculty the undergraduate sentiment concerning such undergraduate matters.

The program arranged for this evening contains many features of value to men new to University life. Head Coach Robert G. Torrey and Robert H. F. Sharp will be present and give talks. A member from each of the Senior, Junior and Sophomore classes will welcome the newcomers on the part of their respective classes. The secretary of the General Alumni Society, will also speak. The mimeograph of the Glee Club will also sing college and other songs. There will be an address on the honor system, which is proposed to extend to Freshmen and henceforth there will be a general getting acquainted.

The committee of the association which has arranged the reception is composed of: Paul H. Oelrich, chairman; Charles T. Brown, B. F. Gimbel, J. M. Shoemaker, R. C. Folwell, R. M. Price, A. W. Steele, E. G. Smith, W. P. Lee, S. B. Wieland, C. M. Collins.

Basketball at Pennsylvania

Basketball has been placed on a more or less regular basis at the University. Students come at the time at which the men will be expected to report. Signed: J. T. Thimmes, assistant head usher.

VARSITY HAVE HARD PRACTICE

Draper and Ziegler Declared Eligible. Keinath Reported for Practice.

Yesterday afternoon the Varsity team was put through a hard and strenuous practice. The work was in good condition and not suffering any jars from the game with North Carolina on Saturday, with the exception of Captain Greene, who slightly sprained his ankle in heading a catch in the latter part of the game, and helped much during his practice. It was almost ideal for football, and this, together with Ziegler at guard and Draper at tackle, seemed to put new life and spirit into the men.

The team was divided in forward passes, quick kicking, quarter-back kicks and the running back of points. In the scrimmage with the Herb they fired the Varsity's defense was much stronger than has been heretofore, and they were enabled to gain much ground against a strong Herb. The play was more open than at any time this season, and the players handled the ball with greater accuracy.

The cripples, Captain Greene, Sommers and Keinath, were given light practice, and it is expected the latter will be able to begin work by the afternoon.

Another man was added to the list of new players today and practically moved the work for the afternoon. Bartholomew, who had joined the squad for practice on Saturday afternoon, in going down the field under a punt and was injured, but did not show the least signs of pain. He seemed to be just as strong as before.

As the coaches wish to try some of their new players, secret practices will be held.

Linotype Machine Breaks Down.

A part on the Linotype machine in the Pennsylvania office snapped in two on Monday. It is feared that this machine failed to see how this morning's paper could be printed. The machine is owned by George F. Lasher & Co., printers, of this city, came to our assistance and loaned us a duplicate piece. We are indebted to him for his kindness.

Undergraduate Committee Meeting.

There will be an important meeting of the Undergraduate Committee this Tuesday afternoon, at 3:15, in the trophy room, Houston Hall. All the members of last year's committee are reported to attend. Signed: E. Hopkinson, chairman.

The Lyric.

"Julie Bon Bon" will continue its engagement of nine nights at the Lyric Theatre. The comedy, now in its second season, has won an emphatic popularity throughout the country chiefly because of the entHRUslistic personal following of its star, the gaiety, composed of Louis Mann and Miss Lypman. The latter, who is the author of the play, however, has written not a little breezy dialogue, which is interpreted to excellent purposes by an unusually well-equipped company. Mr. Mann has the rather difficult role of a tippling Frenchman, while Miss Lypman is congenially cast as a Gallie milliner.

Kylie Bellev in "Brigadier Gerard." On Monday evening, October 15th, the distinguished romantic actor, Mr. Kylie Bellev, will appear at the Garrick under the management of Charles Dillingham in a new and original comedy entitled "Brigadier Gerard," by Victor Hugo, author of "Les Miserables." The action, which is one of the most popular successes on the London stage last season, is in four acts and six scenes, all of which are based on the Napoleonic Wars and the period of the period March, 1814, at which Napoleon, after the failure of his latest winter campaign, found himself in the north of Paris with the scantly remnants of his once great army. Part of the period is occupied by the occupied by the allied truces of 1811 and 1814, the French, and Mr. Bellev, having turned against his old master, was brought before a French military court. Among the archives of many Parisians was a secret document which it was necessary for the prisoner to recover, and among the names of those who surrounded him he found no difficulty in selecting his favorite officer, Gerard, as its agent. Out of this came the author's novel, which has evolved an interesting and powerful story of patriotic self-sacrifice on the part of the loyal officer and a stirring love episode of which Germain, the Comte de Beuque, and the heroine are respectively the hero and heroine.

"Marrying Mary"—Chestnut. An offprint from the playbill states that New York has hailed as the best entertainment of its kind in years, as is the Friday Night Theatre. This week the piece offers as its stellar attraction Marie Cahill, a comedienne whose deserved popularity needs no new endorsement. She does the same part, a role which is said to afford her splendid opportunity for the display of her gift of gift of the field of making and light-hearted fooletry. The musical comedy is by Edwin Milton Royce, who wrote "The Young Man," and is an adaptation of his own work. "My Wife's Husband!" is inevitable, therefore, that "Mary- ing Mary" should possess for it a greater substance and virility than the majority of musical comedies. Mr. Royce, whom the speaker, has provided many timely and graceful comedienne's musical numbers, including several songs in which Miss Cahill is particularly fine. The company is made up of.. . and the press are asking for your Paris ticket. Here lies the beef. The company is made up of.

BILL FOR THIS WEEK

What may be rightly regarded as the most stupendous bill of figures ever announced on Keith's stage is the opening of "The Phoenix," at the Grand Opera House.

The Phoenix has there been such a brilli- ant, diverse and highly spirited a salutary and noble attempt to meet the public demands which were called for under one curtain. The headline is "A New and Brilliant Production," "The Toy," "Willie Kolden," who will be remembered as having created a perfect figure by his impersonation of the little man-at-arms in "The Phoenix." Mr. Walton's new feature is entitled "Chasie's Dream." It is a panorama of nearly thirty minutes' duration, and for all there is not a spoken word, the audi- ence is held spellbound by the magic of his set to the last. A European im- portation that will be welcomed by the devotees of good musical comedy under the title of "The Gems." They come from Consecutively trained vocal- ists and instrumentalists of high merit. White and Marie Belley will be pleas-

- "Nehal the Palm Tree's Shade by the Pyramids," one of the proudest musical numbers in "A Lucky Dog," as sung by Miss Della Stann Stably to sight and sound and courage. Mr. Wills, the happy trump star of this latest production, and Mr. Currie, never was more happily cast. The author of this piece, Mark E. Swan, one of the most ingenious and musical American, and author of a number of musical comedy, is "The Pilbester," "The Press Agent," "Who's Your Arf You," etc., has been studying Mr. Wills' requirements for the past two years for the sole purpose of providing him with a role truly congenial to his especial talents.

In "A Lucky Dog" the story is new, and Mr. Wills as Happy Holmes, the tramp, has a story woven around him that fits like a glove. Mr. Wills moreover is so perfectly happy in the role, and wishes to continue in it for another year or two since he has met such admirable suc- cess.

The company of comedians, singers, and dancers, and the magnificent scenic production, are all in perfect communion in their entire company. The music is said to catch the fancy public, and all of which are entirely new and original, as sung by Miss Della Stann Stably, and new topical songs bring forth rounds of applause and encore after encore.

The engagement which begins at Grand Opera House on October 15th, is for one month, and at the conclusion of this period will be brought to a close by John J. McVeay, 1239 Arch street. His new role is a most durable hit, and will carry a larger stock than ever before, both of second-hand and new books. You are assured quick service and will be safe by going there first. John J.
