FOOTBALL WITH SWARTHMORE

Varsity Team Plays Well and Scores a Touchdown on Old Rivals.

The Varsity football team yesterday defeated Swarthmore in a prize game. On the first half was played, and the coaches followed the teams on the field. Pennsylvania kicked off to Swarthmore, who were unable to gain and lost the ball on their thirty-yard line. From there they advanced to Pennsylvania's thirty-yard line. Here the Varsity braced itself, and the Swarthmore ball carrier fumbled the ball, causing it to go out of bounds. Pennsylvania kicked and Draper secured the ball, carrying it to Swarthmore's thirty-yard line before he was overtaken. On the first play the Varsity ran out of bounds for a ten-yard penalty. Pennsylvania did not attempt to kick the ball, and after several exchanges of kicks both teams turned to running games. Pennsylvania's running game was a fast and hard game. Levens, Holcomb, and Oster were the stars of the Varsity. Lawrence played well at quarterback. Kemeny also played well and ran one kick back forty yards in splendid form. Dwyer also showed up well.

Just before the team left for Swarthmore, the band drew in with President Roosevelt's car attached to it. The team waved good-bye around the car and cheered the President, who stepped out on the platform of the car and spoke a few words to the men before they left.

The Michigan team when they come down will spend several days at Swarthmore.

INTERCOLLEGIATE FOOTBALL

The interest in inter-class teams is big. The football season almost twenty men reported for the Junior football team, making the number of men considerable. From appearances and judging by the names on the roster, the team this year will be much better than the junior team should be quite formidable. The following report will go to quarter afternoon, at five o'clock, on Franklin, for practice. : Blekhatu, Boy, Dion, Dyer, Dixon, French, Godfrey, De Halsey, Jerro, Kine, Koonz, Kliniam, Loe Laverty, Mcclure, Phifer, Sagerdorff, Watte, Willson.

Chess Match with Harvard

This may probably be an attempt made this year to arrange a tournament with Harvard University. At present Harvard holds the championship of the Quadrangular League, to the great dissatisfaction of Columbia, and Princeton, and as Pennsylvania is the champion of the Triangular League, so a contest between the two champions would be in order. Pennsylvania has a very fine team of men, and they will be able to hold the Christmas cup, which they have become permanent holder of the Rice trophy.

Boxes for Army and Navy Game

Boxes for the Army and Navy football game will be sold at auction this Saturday afternoon at the West Chester train station. Application for tickets for this game will be received until six o'clock this evening, and must be mailed to Post Office Box 516.

UNIVERSITY MEN ACTIVE AS CAMPAIGNERS IN ELECTIONS

CANDIDATES FOR HIGH OFFICE: GRADUATES OF LAW SCHOOL.

Vigilantes and Photographers Do Indispensal Service in Preventing Fraud and Repeating of Votes.

With both of the candidates for the most hotly contested office, the District Attorney, graduates of the Law School, with alumni as candidates and leons on both sides, and some of its faculty and a large number of its undergraduates as active supporters for different factions, the University of Pennsylvania took no mean part in yesterday's election.

D. Clarence Gibbon, the City Party candidate for District Attorney, graduated from the Law School in 1896, while the Republican candidate for the same office received his diploma from the same department in 1892. Among the City Party's candidates for State Senator in the various districts were William Clarke Mason, '00 L.; Francis McLellan, '86 C, and Virviss Frank Gable, '41 C. Joseph Morgan, '00 C, was one of the Republican nominees for the same office.

Both Franklin Spencer Edmonds, the chairman, and Edwin G. Lewis, secretary of the City Party Campaign Committee, are Pennsylvania graduates. Mr. Edmonds graduated from the Wharton School in 1893 and later from the Law School, and Mr. Lewis graduated from the Law School in 1902.

Ward W. Prichard, instructor in Political Science, was the City Committee man in the Twenty-seventh Ward, where the University is located.

There were five up-to-date cameras operated by the headquarters of the City Party. About twenty-five photographers, at the headquarters of the Republican Party, Frank A. Paul, '80 C, was the permanent assistant of Chief Photographer. Personal assistants of Secretary Lewis were Leon and K. Hare, the Republicans, and Robert R. Adams, '09 L., and George R. Nicholson, '98 L., were in charge of the Republican headquarters.

One of the most interesting features of the election was the organization by Colonel Sheldon Porter of a body of vigilantes. These men patrolled the place of the police officials, of whom many could not or would not vote at the last election, though not working at all in the same way. No students were employed as special police vigilantes at this election. The work of the vigilantes was to be reported to the City Party workers and to watch out for trouble. For this purpose a portion of them were armed with cameras, to take pictures of substitutes, repellers, and other schoolmen. The vigilantes remained at headquarters until elected, and then went to the seat of disturbance in automobiles. Thirty-six of them were Pennsylvanians undergraduates. Henry A. Miller, the force automobilist, was under the supervision of Herbert M. Tilden, '08 C, whose father is a member of the Board of Education and a prominent City Party worker. During the course of the election, they were called to the First, Fifth, Ninth, and Fifteenth Wards. All the vigilantes were active throughout the day.

BOWLING MATCHES POSTPONED.

Owing to yesterday being election day, there were no matches played off in the bowling tournament. The tournament will be resumed this afternoon.

Basketball Practice Today.

Practice for Varsity and Freshman basketball candidates this afternoon was announced by Walter C. Foster, manager.

PENN'S ANNA'S BIOLOGICAL DEPARTMENT WELL EQUIPPED

THE BOTANIC GARDENS HAVE NO EQUAL IN COLLEGE WORLD.

Much Has Been Done Here to Light Upon Study of Both Animal and Vegetable Kingdoms.

Though the time of year that we associate with the "wear and yellow leaf is too short an attention Pay to the Botanic Gardens, much of interest and delight can be learned and enjoyed now by a visit to the Biological Department, the Botanic Gardens, and the Vivarium. It is a fact that no university of similar size in a city of such ex- tent as Philadelphia has an equiva- lent of this equipment, of which the University is proud. The Botanic Gardens are behind the University dormitories. A graduate of the Medical Department—a practicing physician within a half mile of Biological Hall for the last ten years—has not visited them.

The other day, having just re- turned, he and his wife happened to stroll into the Botanical Gardens. He was surprised to find, after having crossed the lawn, its grassy knoll and its cool woods, the Botanic Garden is beautiful and refreshing.

Passing along Hamilton Walk, with the vista of the gardens on the one hand and the classic architecture of the dormitories on the other, comes a glimpse of Biological Hall, the most prominent building in the garden. The Botanist and geologist will linger here to pore over its herbarium of 45,000 sheets, its herbarium of plants and the lower forms of ani- mal life, and the Botanical and Zoological Libraries. But the lay visitor will hasten on to the green- house, where the needful work of germinating sensitive plants, and their struggle for life is presented. The exit from Biological Hall to the other end of the palm house one comes upon the "old rose- tree" house, the "old rose-house," according to the brass tablet, which guide says: "I was born about one hun- dred and twenty years ago in The Land of the Rising Sun," where they named students working at headquarters for the City Party and in the vigilantes were on duty until midnight handling the returns over the telephone.

None of the opposing men received any pay. Indeed, one of the features of the help given by the students was that most of it was voluntary. In this respect it was in direct contrast to the last election, when many students raped a golden harvest. Some men, however, made new sums, especially in canvassing for the last week or two before election. Many also received pay yearly as workers around the polls for both sides. Most of the men, however, regard the experience as of more value than the money, many of them reporting they found canvassing contests and some of them half-labirinth escapes from the partisans of the opposite. A large number of Wharton and Arts men worked under Mr. Pearson in the Twenty-fifth Ward.

In his address on Friday last before the City Club of the University, former Chairman Carpenter, of the City Party, said: "I would rather have student canvassers than other class of men with which I am acquainted. The City Party carried my ward in the last election because I turned loose it seven University students, and not one of them acquainted with a voter in the ward."
Seven Reasons

"But apart from all theories, deductions, and which ever be justly termed governing generalities, there remain seven solid reasons for using an Electric Shoe Brush. These are to be found by a count of the letters which form a word spelled B.U.T.T.E.R.S, for that is what an electric sign spells to the merchant who places it over his door."

Grand—"Breaking Into Society.

The some of musical comedy excellence and novelty is combined in the newly constructed melodious frolic, "Breaking Into Society," by Lee Thor and Robert B. Smith, with music by Gus Edwards, which Manager Frank V. Haywood has well chosen to introduce the premier fun-makers, the Four Moors. In the field of musical comedy, The Four Moors—Sam, Charlie, Paul and Billie—are without question the most talented family of entertainers on the American stage, and they have a mission to be decided in the history of the society. "Breaking Into Society," which, as its name implies, is a satirical potpourri of mirth and melody.

CAMERA CLUB EXTENDS SPHERE

Offers Courses in Photography to All Men Interested in the Subject.

A unique innovation will be made by the Camera Club today by the opening of courses in photography to University men. The course will be given by members of the club in the elements of photography and prepare the students to make a series of picture making. They will include practical instruction in exposure, development, printing, retouching light papers, platinum, gum-bichromate, carbon, thermoplastic—extra-ordinary lantern-slide making, and trimming and matting.

The instruction will be individual, and hours will be arranged to suit the men. Absolutely no charges will be made, and no obligations are to be entered. Further information may be obtained from the committee in charge, J. T. Quinlin, L. E. Levy, and T. Theodore Marshall, who will be in Room 3, Houston Hall, Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, at 1:15 o'clock, to receive men interested.

Technology Course Dropped.

There are in the present Post Student Class of men who comprise the last class to be graduated from the special course in Science and Technology. When the present class entered the course in 1902 it consisted of nine students. Five of these dropped out before reaching the conclusion of the course and in the last four years three more were admitted.

The evidently small number of students availing themselves of the course has been conspicuous among the former years, owing to the fact that most of the courses in special subjects in it have been gradually amalgamated with the regular courses in chemistry and engineering. A cause for this reason that the Academic Council took the step. In the early part of the year, of discontinuing new admissions to the course and abolishing it entirely when the students then registered would be graduated.

Glee Club Rehearsals.
