JONES WINS COUNTRY AT PRINCETON IN 35.28 3-RUNNERS

CORNELL SECURES SECOND PLACE WITH 20 POINTS.

CORNELL WINS THE MEET WITH 23 POINTS.

Pennsylvania has the meet in the lead, with twenty-five points. First finish and third finish were used to be able to make better than seventh place. By placing second, fifth and seventh places Cornell won out with twenty-three points. Boston Tech was second, with Harvard third, and Princeton, Columbia, and Northwestern tied for fourth, but Statler was not better than seventh place.

More than one thousand people attended the match, which was the last Thanksgiving event ever given by the club. The success of the evening was the unexpected appearance of the Old Sunshine Quartette, composed of Williams, MacIntosh, Moffit and Revel. They were noticed three times, so popular were their performances.

The members of the Musical Clubs were: Glebe Club—Strass, Bow, Pecully, Moreland, Nevin, White, Swain, Williams, Grasse, first tenors; Davis, Devlin, Moore, Moffit, second tenors; Barlow, Barlow, Barrick, Decow, McDermott, third tenors; Susan, Swain, Haney, Merrick, Gunell, Hill, W. J. White, Bill, Bonnitta, Storraw, Carley, basses; MacPherson, Sturtevant, McDermott, Wollay, Allie, Damon, Bulley, Wheeler, Baker, Jones, Bayard, second basses. Banjo Club—Fulger, Hoffman, Haskins, Williams, Pelz, Witter, Earn, Ryder, Rodman, Kreefer, McCluskey, Trapp, Kreefer, Kreefer. The concert was followed by a dance.

The combined Musical Clubs graced their season last night with the annual concert and dance in Weightsman Hall of the gymnastic. A temporary platform was erected at one end of the hall, which was artifically illuminated with Peacocks lights. The arrangement was in perfect condition, and expected to put over a hard game. On hearing that Field was protected by a covering of canvas from any change in weather, Coach Warner seemed much pleased. Nevertheless he had just remarked that a wet field would not endanger the chances of his team any more than it would those of Pennsylvania.

Captain Cook also expressed confidence in his team and the outcome of today's contest.

A temporary platform was erected at one end of the hall, which was artifically illuminated with Peacocks lights. A large sign with "U. of Pennsylvania," and a cloud of Peacocks light over the platform was very effective. Numerous flags hung from the walls and ceiling. The first number of the program was "The Rose and the Gloe Club, followed by an encore, the Toast." The next number was "Singing Club" followed by the Hamilton Club. The other numbers followed.

The “secrecy” team will meet Cornell at Haverford this morning, and we doubt all the “secrecy” enthusiasm will be there and will see a close and exciting contest. We would like to see a large delegation at the game. Our team is a good one and deserves the support of the undergraduates.

The Freshman football team is especially good this year, due to the new ruling debarring Freshmen from Varsity teams. It has defeated the Cornell Freshmen twice besides securing other notable victories, all of which looks promising for new Varsity material next year and encourages the coaches to believe that this new rule is not a hard one after all. In fact, we believe that its advantages are now generally admitted. The scholastic standing of the Sophomores on the Varsity will undoubtedly be higher, the players will esteem it a greater honor to win than its “F” at football, and they will be physically better developed and better prepared to meet the streamlins of a football season after they have spent a year in their new surroundings.

COLUMBIA LETTER.

As well as the German Consul-General Gaulet, will be present. King’s Crown has awarded the prize of twenty-five dollars which was offered for the best Columbia marching song submitted. The new song, which fills a long-felt want, was hailed with enthusiasm by the men. It is called “The Good Old White and Blue.”

Columbia is fortunate in the numbers of veterans back this year to try for the basketball team. Captain Hepler, C. A. Cathell, J. H. Ryan and M. L. White, as well as the better half of the substitutes and squad, have returned to college. The new men who have come one, however, appear able to make them hustle for their positions.

COMMUNICATION.

Conduct in Cheering Sections. Editor of The Pennsylvanian.

Dear Sir:—There is one feature of the conduct of the students in the cheering sections that is extremely reprehensible, but which probably arises more from thoughtlessness than from a deliberate intention to do the wrong. This is the making of remarks when strangers happen to pass the stands and the shouting in players on the field which is occasionally heard. It is so doubtless that this is all meant in fun, and it may be said that it is only a matter of manners after all. But manners are all that strangers have to judge by, and we should take care that we do not give them a false impression of our selves. A recent instance will show what is meant. During the intermission between the halves of the Morningside games, some marked, middle-aged gentleman was walking around the field. When he reached the Cheesebox he was greeted with cries of “hat off,” at which he was obviously astonished. Now it is of course perfectly legitimate to call “hat off” at times and no one could regard it as anything but innocent fun. But there is a time for all things, and students should use the same discretion in a body that they would individually.

Special Holiday Offer.

To the students of the University and members of the teaching force, the Bureau of Publicity makes the following additional offer. No orders will be received under this proposition after Tuesday, December 29, 1909, and the order must be accom- panied by a check for the amount. After the purchase of the first copy of the "University of Pennsylvania illustrated," either outright or under the combination offer, an additional copy may be purchased at a deposit of 20 cents per copy, paid in advance. The combination offer is made on the same price as for the first copy. The Bureau will send such books by express, free of cost, to any address in the United States. The books will be sent at any time during the academic year, and may be accompanied by presentation cards or other donor. This liberal offer is made so that University men may have an opportunity of sending a beautiful and appropriate gift and souvenir of the University to their friends in any part of the country. All checks should be made to the order of "Bureau of Publicity, University of Pennsylvania," third floor, Houston Hall:

"University of Pennsylvania Illustrated" is the most beautiful book of University of Pennsylvania views ever published. Its printing alone cost nearly $3,000. The work consists of 124 pages and 125 plates, completely illustrating life at Pennsylvania. The pictures are printed on the very best calendered paper, the plates being 5½ by 12½ inches. The volume is bound in red cloth and stamped in blue and gold. Price, $1.25, additional. Three copies will be sent postpaid for $3.75. Five copies for $1.75 each. Ten copies for $1 each. Covered in red cloth, $1.50. Uncovered, $1.00

"Old Penn" is the official weekly publication of the University of Pennsyl- vania. It consists of 16 pages containing a brief description of every building, its cost, architect, use, etc.; a small half-tone cut of all the buildings; a copy of every inscription mentioned above, so that they may be able to present to others, and to pros- pective students; a list of the oil paintings, by whom painted and presented; lists of all University societies, clubs, associations, publications, etc. Price, 25 cents.

Combination offer: The Bureau of Publicity deems it desirable that all Penn men have the three publications mentioned above, so that they may be able to present to others, and to pros- pective students, in an attractive form, the splendid equipment of the University of Pennsylvania. Until the early holidays, therefore, the Bureau will send all three publications to any address in the United States for $2.50.

The Drury Tailor Shop—Down the Pike

Among the big musical comedies of the season is again numbered "Down the Pike," in which the Bays have made such a hit the past two seasons. Some time Johnny and Emma Rye have laid stage as two of the leading comedy stars in musical farces, and "Down the Pike" has unusual opportunities for further display of their peculiar talents. Mr. Rye's queer, sneaking voice and unusual stretch of mouth, and Miss Rye's place in a class by himself. She will be seen as "Cassy," the automotive janitor in a big apartment house, who is beset with many troubles. Among the cast of three different tenants disguising themselves to represent the janitor. Mixed identifies is the theme used for building up "Down the Pike," and it is needless to say that fun and laughter reigns supreme from the rise to the fall of the curtain. Emma Rye will be seen as Mrs. Russell House, a strong-minded, jealously, whose husband has a fondness for pretty stenographers. She hires a detective to watch him, and from there on the action is not good enough to suit the most fiasulous: "Down the Pike" will be presented at the Grand Opera House for this week only.

Garrick—The Prince of India

An unusual amount of interest is being manifested in the forthcoming engagement at the Garrick Theatre of Kish & Binger's mammoth production of "The Prince of India." "The Prince of India" comes here by train from its three months run in New York, where it has been playing to the most phonom-eous business on record. The wonderful success of General Lew Wallace’s novel, "Ben Hur," was one of the significant facts of the last decade of the nineteenth century. It appealed to the piety of the people, while its brilliant picture of Roman and Judean life, as well as the advent of the Christ, came with most satisfying completeness to a people with whom the moving story of the Gospel had been part of their daily lives from the cradle to manhood and womanhood. Naturally this success brought to the anchor the determination to go further in the domain of the historical novel.

When President Garfield entered the White House the selection of General Wallace as United States Minister to Turkey was not only a reward for distinguished services, but also an opportunity of studying the various peoples at first hand and gathering material for another great historical book. That he improved every moment possible to saturate himself with the story, the life and the ver-tualities of the Orient, was made apparent the work he had in contemplation. He was public servant for eight years after his return from Constantinople—"The Prince of India." The "Princess" is staged in a prologue and five acts, and requires some 600 people in the production.

The seats and boxes will be placed on sale Thursday evening, December 6th.
