QUAKER COLLEGE OUTCLASSED IN FAST-CLEAN BASKETBALL.

Large Crowd Witness Game in Swarthmore Gymnasium—Field Goal by Kiefaber Was the Feature.

In a fast and well-played game, swarming in accurate shooting and fast passing, the Young last night defeated Swarthmore College by the score of 46-27 on the latter's floor.

The Quaker team was hopelessly outclassed from the start, and though thirty-seven fouls were called, there was no ill feeling or dirty play, a game being free from unnecessary roughness.

A crowd of four hundred persons witnessed the game, and the gallery around the floor was crowded with spectators, operators, who applauded the sensational shooting of both teams. There were many remarkable plays, chief among them a throw for a goal by Kiefaber from the middle of the floor, the Pennsylvania's two forwards played a fast and accurate game, although Flint was not up to his standard inI:

000-000 Thel blanket show which was scheduled to be given last night at University House by the club members has been postponed.

Museum Lecture This Afternoon

Alloyn Ireland will deliver a lecture this afternoon at the Franklin Institute, in the Widener lecture room of that institute on the title of the lecture: Physical Colonialisation: A Study of European Administration in the Far East. The talk will be in part a dissection of Dr. Ireland's writings on the government of tropical countries, which he is now preparing to publish, before the public since his return from the Far East, where he spent three years under a grant from the University of Chicago, making a careful study of the methods of colonial administration in the Straits Settlement, Borneo and the East Indies, and demonstrating the acquittance with the natives and an understanding of the peculiar conditions of administration and under the two systems—American and British.

A week from to-day Professor George H. White of Harvard University will speak on "Greek Terra Cotta Figurines."

Deutscher Verein Has New Room.

The regular bi-weekly meeting of the Deutscher Verein will be held this evening in Room 1, Houston Hall. The Verein has secured this room for permanent quarters, and meetings will be held here in the future.

Tonight’s meeting will be important on account of business matters which will be disposed of. The Preliminary Play Committee will report on the progress of the play to be produced this year. Trials for the cast will be held within the next two weeks. There will be open to all members of the University, and will be judged by a committee consisting of Coach Waagen and one or more members of the German Faculty.

Among those who participate in the literary program tonight are Wanger, '98; Zinner, '99 C., and Goldsmith, '99 C. The conversation exercise will be conducted by President Van Haagen.

Swimming in Street Clothes.

The regular bi-monthly swimming events will be held to-morrow evening, at eight o’clock, in the Gymnasium pool. As the public will be admitted to this and future events, all contestants must wear their swimming suits.

A novel feature of the evening will be the introduction of a 100-foot race in which the contestants will wear their regular street clothes. It is planned to have a 200-foot race of the same nature at the next meet.

Mr. Mansfield in “Peer Gyn.”

Richard Mansfield will devote the entire first week of his fortnightly engagement at the Garrick to the performance of Henrik Ibsen’s comedy of human life, “Peer Gyn.” This event has been anticipated with keener interest than any other of the season, and the fact that Mr. Mansfield’s coming is not for more than six days distance, is manifest in the pressing inquiries about details of the engagement.

The sale of seats began yesterday. Every account bears out the growing impression that Mansfield’s triumph is beyond anything else in recent dramatic history. “Peer Gyn” ran for four consecutive weeks in Chicago, where it was put on for only one week originally. Pictorially described by the most beautiful and extensive set of stage pictures ever displayed on any single evening. Reasons for the extraordinary popularity of “Peer Gyn” are not absent from the reviews. The title role being played by Mansfield’s art a wider scope than one could imagine in one evening, although it is longer than “Cyrano,” “Hamlet,” or “King Richard III.” The poetry charms, the music and singing and the ballets divert, the fourteen massive settings furnish a continuously changing panorama, the vast crowd furnishes agreeable movement, and the story is as amusing as any of Van Winckel’s while vastly more profound. These are the basic points of praise incident to nearly every evening. “Peer Gyn” has been acted before, but never in English. It is related with pitfalls of poverty in Paris and with somehow more pretense at the State performance in Munich and Berlin. It is often presented in the Royal theatres at Athens and Copenhagen, where it is beloved as no other play given.

The cast reveals forty-seven characters. All told Mr. Mansfield’s list of people numbers 128. For the production at the Garrick there will be an enlarged orchestra to play the Grieg and other music and a requisition at the Garrick there will be an enlargement at the (garrick to the per- account for detail of the engagement. The requirements for admission to the Department of Medicine of this University have been considerably added to and will continue to be raised, according to the present program of the Committee on Entrance, until the session of 1910-11. Candidates for admission to the department by examination in 1909 may render by presenting sufficient work in English, History, Mathematics,

Latin or Greek, and French or German. Candidates who present themselves in 1908 must also be prepared for examination in Physics, Chemisty and General Zoology. Notebooks to show that laboratory work in these subjects has been done will be required. Candidates who have had insufficient preparation for the examinations, but who have successfully completed at least three years of an accepted college course, will be admitted with conditions in these subjects.

In 1909 candidates will be admitted who have successfully completed work equivalent to that prescribed for the Freshman Class in colleges recognized by this University, provided that one of the languages offered be either French or German.

In 1910 the standard will be raised still higher. In that year, before securing admission, candidates must have completed successfully work equivalent to that prescribed for the Freshman and Sophomore Classes in colleges recognized by this University, provided that one of the languages offered is either French or

German.

Woolen—"The Education of Mr. Pipp."

"Dinky Bell, one of the funniest and most accomplished of American com-dians, who has herefore been mainly associated in the minds of theatrego-ners with comic opera, is at the Wal-not in a straight comedy part. As

"Mr. Pipp" in Augustus Thomas' no-comedy, "The Education of Mr. Pipp,

Mr. Bell has contrived an impersonation of a peculiar type of the shrewed and droll American millionaire that has brought him to the very front rank of American comedians and given him a place to be mentioned in conjunction with such American comedians as Joseph Jefferson, W. J.

Florence, John T. Raymond and other lights who have graced the history of American drama. Mr. Thomas' comedy is based on the drawings of the artist, Charles Dana Gibson, of the same title as the play. All the principal characters of those cartoons are brought into the action of the well-woven plot which the dramatist has constructed. There are the familiar

Mr. Pipp, Mrs. Pipp, the count, the duke, the baron, the butler and the Pipp girl—the lazy types of the American beauty known as the Gibson girl. Mr. Bell has made a living character of Mr. Pipp that is deliciously amusing.

Garrick—"The Man from Now."

"The Man from Now," with Harry

Bolger leading a large cast of exquisite singers and witch-provoking comedians, continues at the Garrick.

Large and appreciative audiences have been the order since the opening, last week, and both press and public has stamped this latest Henry W. Savage musical play with their approval.

Helen Hall, thecharming soprano, leads a score of her college chorus at Gasser in a delightful football song, and her exhibition of punting is as well received as is her dainty rendition of Massenet Klein's catchy verses.

Among the song bits are "My Dainty

Music Maid," "Dora," "Love's Lesson," "There Isn't Anything That

Can't Be Cured," "College Chums," "What's the Matter With Our Team.
