1910 C. BANQUET LAST EVENING

 Held at the Continental—Many Sopho- men Gain Entrance to Hotel.

The Freshman Class of the College held their banquet last night, at eight o'clock, at the Continental Hotel, corner of Ninth and Chestnut streets. It had been rumored around College that the Sophomores would be held to last night, and the Sophomores had already been admitted to the dinning room on the second floor.

A squad of policemen was stationed at the door to keep the noise out of the room and were successful in stopping the first few Sophomores who tried to enter, but when the main crowd of Sophomores, some thirty or forty strong, stormed the side entrance, they succeeded in breaking the door down and gaining access to the room. A hot fight ensued. Three or four tables were turned over and about twice as many Sophomores entered the room before the Sophomores succeeded in clearing the room. When all of the 1909 men were finally cleared out, the Freshmen made an attempt to enter, but was put down and with the remains of the feast the banquet was then cleared out as planned.

Later in the evening the Sophonors made a second attempt to enter, this time with an additional force of policemen had been called or several more minutes had elapsed in its interest, the after the leaving the floor the Freshmen made another attempt to enter the room.

No dances were served on the menu; the best fare issues were responded to: "The Class of '10," Allen Smith; "Chemistry," A. H. Lewis; "K. A. P., College Hall," R. E. A. De Bow; '90 C, P. H. Wood; C, D. B. H. H. R.; Ar-

By adopting a new regulation which puts public and private preparatory schools on the same plane as regards recognition of their work in satisfaction of the requirements for admission to College the Faculty has rectified what has long seemed to many an unjust discrimination against the graduates of private preparatory schools. No plan of admission is perfect, and many educators are in favor of the entire abolition of tests for admission, making ability to do the work in college the sole criterion. This is evidently impossible under present conditions, and the University rules as amended by the new regulation probably hit very fairly the golden mean.

Tonight in Weightsman Hall the Varsity basketball team will play the Yale quintette in the Intercollegiate League contest. This is the first game of importance on our floor, and should receive the hearty and enthusiastic support of the undergraduates. It was only last year that the Yale five made a four-thousand-mile tour of the country, meeting some of the strongest teams and returning with a successful record. The losses in the only League game so far this year resulted in a very close contest and victory over Princeton by a few points, their form in to-night's contest will show an improvement. The University team has in turn twice defeated the Orange and Black five by larger scores, and would be predicted the likely winner. The "Varsity" is in as good form as last year, and the preliminary games have given promise of their ability to retain the championship. Their team work is excellent, and a victory tonight will give one of the strongest Carter teams in the League will materially strengthen their position.

Reading by Dr. Furness
Dr. Horace Howard Furness will give a reading of "A Winter's Tale," in the rooms of the Literary House, 1236 Spruce street, Dr. Furness rarely gives readings, and this is therefore an unusual opportunity. He is considered the greatest living Shakespearean scholar. In 1873 he began a valuable edition of Shakespeare's works, which gives a complete list of all opinions on each text of Shakespeare's works.

Grand—"The County Chairman."

Marilyn Atwood and her "County Chairman" Company is at it the Grand Opera House this week. Crowded houses have been the rule wherever Marilyn Arkles in George Ade's quaint comedy, "The County Chairman," has been presented. So many are the amusing scenes and laughable lines in "The County Chairman" that it is unnecessary to mention them at this time. Suffice it to say that laughter and tears are intermingled. As suggested by the title, interest naturally centers in the main part of Marilyn Arkles as Jim Hooker, who inverts the role with a mangy-nellism and regretted method that establishes him as a comedian of the first rank. The part is essentially in keeping with Marilyn Arkles's method and personality and his interpretation is in which has found favor with all classes of theatregoers, as it is virile, unaffected and manly throughout. Houses are also divided in the final interpretation of Bussaftas Livingston, a colored gentleman, played by Barry Maxwell, which has caught the fancy of true lovers of comedy. Mr. Maxwell has given certain touches to the part which make it stand out most prominently in the production, and his entrance and exit are occasions for succession of laughter. The remaining members of the cast are equally well placed, and the stage management leaves nothing to be desired.
