JOINT EDITORIAL BANQUET ON SUNDAY AT THE MAJESTIC

SECOND ANNUAL AFFAIR OF THE EDITORS, PAST AND PRESENT.

On Saturday evening next the sec- ond annual banquet of the editors, past and present, of the various publications will be held at the Ma- jestic Hotel. The committee in charge has not published any information as yet, but the banquet will be held at the Majestic on January 30.

SECOND CREW CANDIDATES CALL

Captain Emig and Manager Townsend Dismissed with First Response.

Captain Emig and Manager Townsend have issued a final call for crew candidates, and it is desired that this last appeal will bring out a large number. The year's men have not, as yet, responded to the call, as in former years, and Coach Ward is very much discouraged with the prospect of turn- ing out a winning crew for the inter- college races at Poughkeepsie on June 20th.

This fall the prospects for a champi- onship crew were particularly bright, but for one reason or another, the men who were expected to return to college did not do so, and now the crew has been called together as a nucleus. There leaves five places in the boat to be filled, and so it will be seen that there is an opportunity for new material to make good. Harvard, Yale, and Princeton have already secured a number of candidates for the freshman crew, but not enough yet.

The Freshman candidates can row anytime between 1 P. M. and 4 P. M. and between 3 P. M. and 5:15 P. M.

All Junior Class Canes Ready.

The balance of the Junior Class canes are ready for distribution at 1:15 today in the trophy room. The following are requested to get them rose: Great, Lowe, Keme, Lewis, Moore, T. N. Wilcox, Fitzpa- trick, Vogan, MacKenzie, Macfarlan, Rolster, Shields, Park.

The price of tickets will be raised to 25 cts.

 shipments roll. Of this number nineteen have been declared ineligible by Professor Lingelbach, of the Committee on Non-Athletic Organizations. These men are credited with from two to eight conditions, but they have this coming week in which to remove their failures or rectify any mistakes in regard to their conditions. They must see Dr. Lingelbach at once, and obtain a statement in writing from him that they are eligible, in order to participate in any capacity whatsoever in "Herr Lohengrin." All those who are in these conditions by the end of this week, as well as those who receive more than one condition as a result of the mid-year examinations, will be dropped. The list of "mid-year" conditions had not been received at the time the Committee on Non-Athletic Organizations made its first report to Business Manager Morgan.

There is a rehearsal of the cast to-night at eight o'clock. Tomorrow evening at eight o'clock the entire chorus will rehearse, while one hour later—8:45 o'clock—the candidates for the general chorus will report.

"Keebles! HATS ARE A PART OF A YOUNG MAN'S EDUCATION."
Mr. Mansfield at the Garrick.

Owing to the extraordinary impression created by "Peer-Gynt" at the Garrick Theatre, Mr. Mansfield will devote all his remaining appearances to his latest success until his farewell day. At the farewell matinee Mr. Mansfield will play the part of Ivar Brunnhild, and for his farewell appearance Saturday night he will play the Baron Chetral in "A Parisian Romance." The reason for this is beyond the record of any play or character Mr. Mansfield has given the stage in recent years. The drama is unprecedented in its comprehensive variety. It has something for everyone, and everything for some. The author of the musical and spectacular delights in the scenes on the back of the wild bear, the fairy transformations, the songs, the impressive shipwreck, and the ballets. There is comedy for those looking for laughter, and the subtle scenes and peer's drive of his dying mother to the gates of heaven furnish excited sentiment. Underlying all and significant to the seer is the optimistic philosophy of unselfishness and the redemption of the human soul in the pure love of a pure woman. Mr. Mansfield has never given so varied a demonstration of dramatic virtuosity, for the role calls for a transition from gay and careless youth to successful middle-aged cosmopolitanism and finally to life-stricken old age. The orchestral performance of the Gwyd music is a delight, and the vast company without exception contribute all that is demand.

...Lyric—"Brown of Harvard."

"Brown of Harvard," a spirited college play with Henry Woodruff as the star, is the attraction at the Lyric this and next week. The play was written by Bida Johnson Young, a graduate acquainted with undergraduate life in Cambridge, a fact which finds reflection in the fidelity of the scenes and the prevalence of what may be called distinctly Harvard atmosphere. The play is just the framing of a bit of university life with a Harvard setting and interwoven is a little melodrama in which the hero shows prudently generosity in fellow-students, is made to appear in disadvantage before his sweetheart, becomes the victim of a student forger, takes the seat of the missing stroke of the 'varsity crew, wins the race from the English crew and is finally relieved from all his troubles. The production was made under the direction of Henry Miller. The play is divided into four acts, the last and last of which are supposed to take place in Brown's room in old Holworthy Hall, Harvard Yard. The second shows a portion of the yard between Holworthy Hall and Stought.

The third act shows Harvard boathouse on the Charles River on the day of the race between the Crim-on crew and an English college. It is around this contest that the plot of the play revolves.

...State, County and Sectional Clubs.

The statistics of the University, which have just been compiled by the Bureau of Publicity of this University, reveal the fact that Pennsylvania has not only enjoyed a most remarkable growth in numbers during the past year, but also the fact that its excellent courses have attracted students from every part of the world and from every State in the Union but one. It is undoubtedly now the most cosmopolitan university in the United States.

One of the most encouraging features of these statistics is that the students themselves take pride in at-lishing this growth of the University to their own efforts. Three years ago, when the Bureau of Publicity first started the movement of the organisation of State, county and sectional clubs, there were only two or three sectional clubs, and these had merely a nominal existence. Today there are

30 clubs, twenty-four

Grand—"Piff, Paff, Poff!"

The story of B. C. Winter's big successful musical comedy, "Piff, Paff, Poff!" which in at the Grand Opera House this week, concerns one August Melon, who cannot touch $2,000,000 left him by his deceased wife, should he marry before his four daughters have found husbands. As the gay widower pursues along the sands of Atlantic City, he meets the dashling Miss Maguire, whom he considers his property. Immediately they begin trying plams to get the four Melon girls married off. This situation leads to a number of very amusing and laughable situations. Chas. P. Morrison enacts the character of August Melon and Herosette Lee the role of Mrs. Maguire, the fascinating widow.

If genuine novelty of plot, ingenuity of treatment and an acting and singing company of the best-known Broadway favorites count for anything in the make-up of a successful production, then the popularity and prosperity of "Piff, Paff, Poff!" is assured.

The principal members of the organization comprise many favorites on the stage and a large and efficient chorus of principally pretty girls. The matinées will be on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. The prices are, as usual, popular.
