Wharton School Elections

Executive Committee Will Arrange for the Nominations of Officers.

Considerable interest is being shown in the coming election of a president, a secretary, and a treasurer of the association. At a meeting of the Executive Committee, to be held at 11:15 P. M. today, five members of the association will be appointed to nominate candidates for the different offices. The following article from the constitution governs the election.

"The election of officers shall take place on the third Monday in April in each year. Polls shall be open at twelve o'clock and close at 2 P. M. The names of the association shall be posted at twelve o'clock noon on the bulletin board of the Wharton School. At a meeting of the Executive Committee there shall be appointed a committee of five members of the association, who shall nominate a ticket for the office of president, secretary, and treasurer.

The reports of said committee shall be posted on the bulletin board of the Wharton School at least ten days before election.

Any member of the association, within ten, may nominate other candidates for the same office or offices. Such nominations may be made in writing with the signatures of the nominees. In making nominations, the name of the candidate shall be on the books of the secretary, who shall post them on the bulletin board at least five days before election.

The names of the candidates shall be posted in alphabetical order. The names and the names of the candidates shall be counted by the judges of election. All members of the association are invited to attend.

The names of the successful candidates shall be posted on the bulletin board when the result is determined.

The baseball season will open today with the contest with New York University on Franklin Field. Although the preliminary practice season has been short, the candidates appear in good condition to start the schedule. After their Southern trip the team should be more than prepared to successfully play out the remaining games.

The Varsity nine of the past few years has not been successful, and although this year's team does not start with bright prospects of winning the championship, we feel sure that the season will be successful if hard, consistent work will earn that result.

The undergraduates should support the ball nine with the same enthusiasm they exhibit in football season. If the spirit exhibited at this time of the year, the result would be beneficial.

Law School Notes.
The petition of the first and second-year classes of the Law School for a recess from Thursday until the following Tuesday has been granted. This vacation privilege has not, however, been extended to the third-year class.

Freshman Baseball Notice.
There will be a change today, due to "Varsity" game with College of the City of New York. Signed: M. Gibson, manager.

Ermete Novelli in Shakespeare-Lyric. This greatest interpreter of Shakespeare on the Italian stage of this generation has been Ermete Novelli, who has not only succeeded to the barehanded and sabre-in-hand Usurpator, but has also triumphed in Shakespearean comedy. The role of Petruchio, that daring wife-tamer of the merry Elizabethan fairies, "The Taming of the Shrew," is one of Novelli's most popular roles. His other great Shakespearean characterizations are those of Shylock, Lear, Othello and Hamlet. These five roles represent the uses of his art, and three of them will be given during his first engagement in this city at the Lyric Theatre next week. Shylock, Othello and Lear are announced as three of the seven Shakespearean characters this versatile Italian artist is to present in the single week in which he is to be seen here.

"Othello" ("Othello") was made peculiarly his own role by Tomasso Bartoli, whose name is so linked with this distinguished Othello that his name is the universally agreed upon "King of the Shrews." The entrance of Shylock, Lear and Othello lies in the producer, Thomas W. Garrick. "The White Chrysanthemum," which is about to receive the benefit of this season's most popular and versatile artist in the role of the Christian cannibal can be seen clearly in the artistic and variegated physiognomy of Novelli that even before his mouth the audience can feel the spirit of the dashing villain in revenge which is about to be enacted.

Garrick: "The White Chrysanthemum."
There is little surprise in his conception of Shylock, which gets back to that Elizabethan director of the part that ruled in the days of Charles Marlowe concerning Shakespeare's Venetian Jew. In this particular Shylock, in Professor Gurnett's fantastic version of "The Merchant of Venice," the result is more than the mixture of the miser and the ter- rible hand of the Christian. Shylock can be read so clearly in the artistically variegated physiognomy of Novelli that even before his mouth the audience can feel the spirit of the dashing villain in revenge which is about to be enacted.

Grand—"The Mayor of Tokio."

"The Mayor of Tokio" is the attraction at the Grand Opera House this week. The scene of Richard Carle's successful farcical opera is laid in Japan and deals with the adventures of a comic opera company stranded in the Nippon metropolis. Marcus Or-ando Kidder, impersonator of the horri- ous troop, is played by Mr. John L. Kearney, who is famous for his suc- ceedful comedy, singing and dancing in "The Chinese Honeymoon," "The Tenderfoot," etc. Mr. Kearney was especially selected out of a large num- ber of candidates by Mr. Carle to take this part.

Mr. Kidder and the remnants of his Konpishe have arrived in Tokio with easily depleted treasury and wardrobe. In addition to Kidder himself, all that remains of a troop that left San Francisco sixty members strong for the tour of the far East are a mor- tised wardrobe mistresses, a love- sick singkong boy, a undertier with khakipurpean ambitions, and nine- tirc bros girls called the "peanut" bal- let.

At the time of his arrival the Mayor of Tokio is unfortunately entangled in a plot with a Russian spy, Ivan Orfulitch, and General Satake, a com- plicter, who has entered into an agreement with Ivan to betray im- portant secrets of the Japanese Gover- nment. The Mayor has the unfortu- nate habit of talking in his sleep, and Satake persuades him that dur- ing one of his somnambulistic con- versations he has betrayed the secrets which in reality Satake has told to Rus- sian's agents. Furthermore Satake informs the Mayor that unless the latter forces his daughter, Oloty, to wed the renovator he will report the Mayor's supposed treason to the Mi- kado, with harkiriki as a result.

Oloty, however, falls in love with Julian Lincoln, the tenor in Kidder's Konpishe, and with active characteris- tic of tenors, Julian returns the maid's affection. Complicating mat- ters to a further degree, the Mayor mistakes Kidder's Konpishe for a royal party of princesses and princecesses, who are momentarily expected in Tokio. Kow Tow gives the royal wel- come and hands the key to the city to Kidder, who unlocks Tokio and keeps it wide open until his identity is discovered and he is thrown in jail.
