SECOND ANNUAL GYMNASIUM DRILL ON FRANKLIN FIELD
THE PROVOST AND YALE'S PHYSICAL DIRECTOR TO ATTEND.

Twentv Thousand Invitations Have Been Distributed University Dismissed at 3:15.

Twenty thousand invitations have been sent out for the second annual gymnasium exhibition of the University which will be held on Franklin Field at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. All the nearby schools, the alumni in Philadelphia, students in the Graduate School and other friends of the University have been invited. Dr. Andrew, Physical Director of Yale, has signified his intention of being present to attend the exercises. This year for the first time Provost Harkness will attend the exhibition. It is hoped that all students taking the gymnastics work will appear at the drill with well regulated uniforms, each of which will be worn for one hour 15 minutes throughout the exercises.

The object of this annual exhibition is to show the character of the regular gymnasium training and the progress students go through from October until May. This, however, does not mark the close of classes, which go on until May 15, after which day all class work will be voluntary except for men who are about to graduate. Their work is completed unless the extra cuts are made.

In case of rain this afternoon the exhibition will be held on Tuesday, April 29th.

The first event on the program will be a Relay race, in which students walk which goes through four movements—setting up movements for the figure and distance events, and combining the events and combinations, dancing stunts and make the relay race. The class then divides into open order for the athletic events, which consists of a thirty-yard sprint, a forty-yard dash, shot put, standing jump, and conditioning jump. All of these events will be run off at the same time, the class being divided into five squads with the fastest squad going on to the next event, all of which events will be run through in rapid succession, so that eighty men will start at every crack of the pistol. At the conclusion of the athletics the event will go through a march, remaining itself four times stretching and jogging. The names of ten men each will then take part in the walk, concluding the event.

The exhibition will be closed by the ten marching off the field to the air sirens.

Mr. Mantell is appearing this week at the Garrick Theatre, where he will act four of Shakespeare's great roles—Brutus in "Julius Caesar," Iago and Othello in "Othello," and Macbeth. Save for Macbeth, which he gives again by request, all the others he did not play the week of April 15th, when he acted in the Chestnut Street Opera House to packed audiences as Macbeth, Lear, Richard III, Hamlet and Iago, respectively.

Mr. Mantell's return to Philadelphia has been marked by all the expected success. When he was last here in January of last year he drew immense audiences in a repertoire of six roles—Richard, Macbeth, Lear, Othello, Hamlet and Iago. He has returned in three new characters—Brutus, Iago and Iago. Of these three only one has so far been seen in Philadelphia—Shylock, in which, on Tuesday night, April 16th, and Saturday afternoon, April 20th, he backed the Opera House to the doors.

The arrangement of the plays and roles for the remaining performances follow: This afternoon, only time, as the Moor in "Othello." Tonight, tomorrow night, Friday night and Saturday night, Brutus in "Julius Caesar" (first time here), Saturday night, only time, Macbeth.

Mr. Mantell's sight performance begins at eight o'clock sharp and he needs at two o'clock sharp.
