Midshipmen Win Baseball Game by Score of 5 to 4

Navy Made Five Runs off Penn. in Second Inning.

Varsity Scored Thrice in Second and Once in the Fourth. Simpson Stops the Scoring.

The Varsity lost to the Naval Academy team yesterday at Annapolis by the score of 7 to 6. The Midshipmen scored all of their runs in the second inning. Fennell pitched through two innings, giving up six hits and one run. His pitching was not always steady, but he gave his best. Penn. scattered the ball three times on Wilson's single, sacrifice by Garrison and Brokaw, and bases on balls by Smith and Rambousky's two passed balls. In their half of the inning the Midshipmen made five tallies on singles by Barnes, Dacus, Gilliam and Hambrock. A base on balls and Brovay's bad error. Pennsylvania scored again in the third inning on Wilson's double and Heffner's single, which Lange got by him. Though narrowly missing a tally in the eighth and ninth innings, the Varsity could not score again.

TABLET TO JAMES WILSON

Unveiled in Houston Club

Vice-President E. F. Smith Makes Speech of Acceptance.

Appropriate Ceremonies Mark Presentation of Memorial to University's First Professor of Law.

The Wilson Law Club added another tablet to those already in Houston Hall yesterday afternoon when it presented to the University a memorial tablet to the great jurist and statesman, James Wilson, whose name the club boards. This tablet completes the row which now file the inner face of the wall at the head of the east stair.

W. K. De Victor, '98, l. pres., president of the club, made the speech of presentation, and Vice-President Smith accepted the tablet on behalf of the Provost, Trustees and House Committees of the Houston Club, giving a short sketch of some of the more important events of James Wilson's life. Dr. Smith in his speech of acceptance said in part:

"It is fitting that in this building, given over absolutely to the students of the University, there should be erected some testimonial to those who assisted in its foundation. If we were to erect a tablet to all our sons who are deserving of the honor they would fill every panel in this hall.

"The statement that James Wilson was a signer of the Declaration of Independence is of great interest to us. Ten of Pennsylvania's sons had this honor last Saturday. More tablets will follow this now, other student organizations will erect tablets in this building.

"The University welcomes this memorial to James Wilson, scholar, statesman and jurist."

Eason entered Pennsylvania from Penn Charter School in 1901 and graduated in the civil engineering course. He was a member of the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity and his home was in Cape May, N. J.

Klaw & Erlanger's "Advanced Vaudeville" Continues to Create Wonder Among Philadelphia Theatregoers by the Magnitude of its Weekly Bills of All-Star Materialists.

It has not taken long for Klaw & Erlanger's "Advanced Vaudeville" to become a firmly established success in Philadelphia. In fact "Advanced Vaudeville," now in its third week at the Chestnut Street Opera House, is the particular "vogue" with Philadelphia theatregoers, and will undoubtedly remain so during the summer months. The third week's bill, which is apparently drawing all Philadelphia to the Opera House, is lifted from the ever present to the orchestral finale with special headliners. Victor Herbert's debly scored and poignant travesty on "The Grand Opera War is in New York," "The Song Birds," which took Philadelphians by storm last week, is re-

Grand—"Patsy in Politics."

Billy B. Van is the attraction at theGrand Opera House this week in an entirely new show entitled "Patsy in Politics." The play is the work of George Tilton Smith while the lyrics were supplied by Carl Hand.

It is a fine and original comedy and indubitably as sassy water is of bubbles, and in his new vehicle of popularity Oscar Hurst is a whole shell of a man. It gives Van a chance to do his best.

Nothing remains of the old musical comedy that Van appeared in at this theatre last season. The plot is new, as are the ideas, songs, situations, scenes, etc. There is good, fast action all the time, the costumes of the characters are unique, while those of the curio are creations of beauty. Van will be ably assisted by Rose Honigman.

Some of the songs that were so well whittled on the streets are: "Back on Old Broadway," "Jolly Little Johnson," "Love Is a Wonderful Thing,"
"Nance," "Take Me Back to Parch,"
"Waiting for Mr. Mother-Law," "The Early Bird Catchs the Worm," "Wedding Rings and Watchin the Children Play."

The matinée during the engagement will be on Tuesday and Saturday at the popular price of $1.25 throughout the entire house.
