Pennsylvania's track team will get its first real try-out on May 18th at Franklin Field when the Red and Blue will meet the host end of the Middle States colleges. Several of these colleges have star men on their teams, so that Pennsylvania's fall of winning meets means a goodly number of competition. The other colleges is one that will by no means easy of attainment. Franklin Field has men in Henry, Baker and Krueger who will come in their events. The team is sure to win the shot, while Baker should be placed in either the half mile or event and Henry in the 220 or 440 yards. Lafayette has a very good hammer thrower, while Mount Pleasant will, the Indian, will make the Red and Blue minus in whatever event he chooses to enter. He should win the broad jump.

The best meets in any of the collegiate championships, which take the same afternoon, will be very high class. Competitors from all the colleges are expected at this meet promises to be very large, as a goodly number have already sent in their entries. The Varsity Freshmen will meet the Cornell first-year men tomorrow afternoon on Franklin Field at one o'clock. The events are to be well filled and will bring together two good teams. Pennsylvania's entries: men's: 100—H. H. Biddle, Biddle; 110—J. A. Walls, Walls; 220—W. F. C. Jones, Secor; 440 yards—W. F. C. Jones, Johnson; hurdles—Hartranft, Reese, Mulligan; pole vault—E. P. Biddle, Bioblecker; high jump—Newberry, Johnson. Shot put—Macklin, Pine, McDonald. Hammer throw—Pike, Pike.

Newbold, President of the University of Michigan, will be introduced into the fullber discussion. The winning team in that contest is composed of P. A. Paul, E. H. Reeves and N. C. Vendig, with R. A. Heiting as the subject chairman.

THE PENNSYLVANIAN

Vol. 46, No. 10, May 10, 1907

All Sophomores and Freshmen and as many of the upper classmen as can demand it are in such heavy demand for one night should keep in mind that the Sophomore Cremation will take place this year on the evening of May 28th. The custom of showing certain professors and instructors the under-graduate's disposal will be ob- served with as much propriety as possible. The Sophomore should be there as a matter of class pride and interest and because their treasury needs the money, while the Freshmen should attend both, because it is their duty to see all that goes on at Pennsyl- vania in order to learn as much as possible and because they will be better prepared to render an improved cremation program when their turn comes next year.

An arrangement of college courses so that the students of one depart-ment might benefit by the professors and instructors in another along cer-tain lines of special study in which an expert is desirable has been tried at Pennsylvania in several instances, and we are sure that if it were given a more extended trial the plan would work to great advantage. A course in paleography was given in the Graduate School, for instance, in which Professor Rolfe, of the Latin Department, delivered lectures for the first half year and Professor Howland, of the History Department, the sec-ond. For several years the Architectural Department has had lectures in one of its courses delivered by differ-ent professors in other departments. This year Professor Lambertson has given several lectures on Greek pri-vate Life and Professor McManus on Roman private life, which could not have been so effectively delivered by members of the architectural faculty for the reason that it requires an expert in these subjects to present them accurately and completely. There could not be a more liberal or intelligent arrangement of certain courses than this one seems to be. By this method the student is shown all sides of a subject, more or less complex, under the instruction of spechilics in each one of its branches. For example: A comprehensive course in the history of the drama might be given by members of the Greek and Latin Department for the sake of the ancient theatre, by Pro-fessor Reckling for the Elizabethan period, by the linacuratic departments for the French, Italian, Spanish and German, and by Professor Wayland for the modern English. There are many more suitable arrangements that could be made, and there is no doubt that if it were found practicable and possible upon due considera-tion by the faculty, that the result would give undergraduates the very best of authority upon each special branch of the more important courses and of those courses each department of which demands the life work of one man to the exclusion of everything else.

The Executive Committee of Stan-ford University has awarded the "Var-sity" letter to H. P. Daily, substitute catcher on the baseball team, for his generous action in refusing to play right field in the ninth inning of the California game with two men out, California at the bat. Daily said his playing might weaken the team.
