CAMPUS FIGHT RATHER THAN ENDS IN A DRAW.

No Serious Injuries—Oden, ’91, Reached Houston Club in One Minute Forty Seconds.

Another college year at the University of Pennsylvania was formally opened yesterday when, in the presence of the holding of the large freshman class, the exercises attendant upon the opening of the College were held in College Hall. The students were addressed by Provost Harrigan, Vice-Provost Austin, and Professor Braham, and cheering was loud in Chapel. The students, the Provost and Vice-Provost were present when the students entered, and the college song was sung heartily. The morning was a picture of Philadelphia.

The President, in his address, congratulated the students upon the remarkable interest shown in the University work contributed more members of the student body and of the faculty for the excellent opportunities before them for the college year.

The address was the most notable feature of the opening exercises. The President, in his address, congratulated the students upon the remarkable interest shown in the University work contributed more members of the student body and of the faculty for the excellent opportunities before them for the college year.

 Provost Charles C. Harrigan, in commenting upon the remarkable interest shown in the University work contributed more members of the student body and of the faculty for the excellent opportunities before them for the college year.

"I think we can all congratulate the students upon the remarkable interest shown in the University work contributed more members of the student body and of the faculty for the excellent opportunities before them for the college year.

Every man in College should subscribe to THE PENNSYLVANIAN without delay another day.

All students who desire to solicit subscriptions for THE PENNSYLVANIAN will be allowed a commission by the business manager.

Freshmen candidates for the editorial board are asked to report at this office to Frank A. Find, acting managing editor, on Monday at 1:15 o'clock, sharp.

Upper classmen are wondering what to think of the Sophomore Class as a fighting proposition. They are also wondering whether it is "in right." Many seniors have argued that THE PENNSYLVANIAN represents the Sophomore for their disregard of upper class rule in interclass contests, as evidenced by a certain determination to lay their own course in the poster fight regardless of what those who knew more and have the right to win classes understood to impart.

The Sophomore Class is a good one undoubtedly but just a trifle too self-assured when it comes to having its own way. Its leaders were brought face to face with the problem of defending their own poster and compelling the Freshmen to take down the 1914 proclamation at the same time. The Sophomores were told that it was against tradition to allow a Freshman on the campus with a poster, nevertheless while twenty of their opponents were guarding one of the 1914 posters, one hundred and fifty Sophomores kept watch over their own proclamation and refused to divide to attack the enemy even though they were informed that to do so would not mean loss less than two Sophomores, while all the other opposition had deserted them.

FRESHMEN WIN FIRST HALF

P. Brown, '90, organized the Freshmen, while the Sophomores were led in person by last year's president, A. W. Smith.

The Class of 1911 was signal for success in the first half. The "Spoilers" lined up five rows deep in front of the locked north door of Houston Club. The "Fresh," with appropriate yells, made an onslaught, and in the record time of one minute and forty seconds Opieon, '11, succeeded in reaching the door.

The second half ended in a draw, as is usually the case. The two classes this time met midway between the two buildings. The object of the Freshmen was to relieve the Sophomore president of his trousers. In this they were unsuccessful, although the members of both classes were displaying on both sides before the ten-minute half was ended. The fight as a whole therefore ended in a draw.

There were no serious injuries in the first half; in the second one Sophomore was carried unconscious while two Freshmen sustained head injuries that required hospital treatment. The fight on the whole, however, impressed the spectators as rather tame. W. W. Phifer, president of the Junior Class, officiated as referee.

Ushering at Franklin Field.

The ushers for the football games at Franklin Field are selected from University men from all departments. All men desiring to usher are expected to sign their names and departments to the roll kept at the office of the Athletic Association in the Gymnasium before five o'clock on Monday and Tuesday for the Wednesday games and Thursday and Friday for the Saturday games.

The men receive badges, which entitle them to admission to Franklin Field and the privilege of ushering at the games. They are placed according to the regularity with which they attend.

Notices will be kept posted on the bulletin board of the Gymnasium, places throughout the University, announcing the time at which the men will be expected to report. Signed: J. M. Thiesel, assistant head usher.

Ye Parks.

The thrilling drama of Alaskan adventure, "The Spoilers," by Rex Beach and James MacArthur, founded upon the novel of the same name, will be given at the patrons of the Park Theatre next week. This absorbing drama is founded upon actual facts, as the story which Rex Beach gave to the public was written around actual happenings of his several years sojourn in Alaska. He based his story upon the ruthless looting of the great gold fields at Nome, and the dispossession, through so-called processes of law, of the miners who had located their claims throughout the rich district. Through political chicanery, in which United States officials were concerned, many of the greatest finds of Alaska were forcibly taken possession of.

New Romance Courses.

The following new courses will be offered this year in the Romance Department: 200 L, French Conversation, two hours. Mr. La Rochelle.

250 A, French Literature in the Eighteenth Century, two hours, Mr. Vaprilthi.

280 F, French Novel in the Nineteenth Century, two hours, first term; Dr. Crawford (the book may be read in English translation); 423, History of Italian Literature, two hours, second term; Dr. Crawford (books may be read in English translation); 671, Spanish will be given three hours a week, instead of two.

We have moved next door to our old location, into very much larger quarters.

Our stock this year is simply great, and you will say so when you see it. We show over a thousand styles of cloth, selected exclusively for young men's trade, and there isn't the slightest doubt that we can't please you.

And for the class of work we do, our prices are the most moderate in the city.

Suits, $40. Overcoats, $25 to $50. Tuxedo and Full Dress Suits, $35 to $60.
