FOREIGN REGISTRATION SHOWS

Number of British Students Enrolled in the University Is Likewise Greater Than Ever Before.

Pennsylvania's educational prominence outside of the United States, due partly to the broad policy in which extending foreign students is concerned, resulted in last year a larger foreign registration than ever in the history of the University.

Unusually prolific in results has been Dr. Leo R. Rowe, who is through South American and plans for a closer cooperation between the universities of North and South America, an advanced educational work which he took in regard to the solution of large and complex problems in political science, and the fact that he went as a representative of the United States, appointed by President Roosevelt to the Pan-American Congress. These facts have caused the University of Pennsylvania, by whom Dr. Rowe is associated, to make his educational tour, to become better known to the people of this nation than any other university in the North. As a result of this close association and the successful results, it is now being considered that Latin-American students are now registered here than in any preceding year. In addition to this, the University has been a special service for the students.

An increase in the number of British students has also been noted. All British subjects interested in the University and associated with the University in any way will hand and will wish to become members of the British Association. Students from all of the Pennsylvanias are requested to hand in their names and addresses to the Honorary Secretary of the University, to be held at Room 216, on or before October 24th, or to any of the officials of the Association: President, R. G. Fincher, vice-president, E. F. Stover, secretary, R. G. Fincher, Jr., assistant secretary, J. C. G. Smith, Jr., 126 South Thirty-fourth street.

Arrangements are being made by the association to give a reception to all the new men some time during the latter part of this month.

Camera Club Excursion.
The Camera Club of the University will take its first excursion of this year this afternoon. All students interested in photography are invited to join their mates and accompany the group. The club will take the train at West Philadelphia Station at 2:14 for Chestnut Hill. From Chestnut Hill the party will go to the Whitaker School, where a good opportunity for photography is presented. Maurice T. W. Fezak engrafted the Intersororiate Association will accompany the party.

Honor System Committee.
Frank Krieger was unanimously elected chairman of the honor system committee of the Wharton School Association.

COMMUNICATION

Editor of THE PENNSYLVANIAN.

Dear Sir,—The Igor-meek to hold the daily Chapel exercises at eight instead of at nine o'clock each morning, announced in yesterday's issue of THE PENNSYLVANIAN, is with the unqualified approval of a large portion of the student body.

Aside from the evident advantage to the students in the professional departments, it will finish their day an hour sooner than they did before—there are considerations which should appeal even to the students in the elective departments of the University. No part of the day is so well suited for mental work as the first few hours after sunrise, and the nearer we get to noon, the less efficient such work becomes. The limit is closer and thoughts more free in the early hours of the morning than later in the day. Just as we derive twice as much benefit from every hour of sleep before midnight as we do from every hour after, so do we work twice as well in the hours before noon as in those after. Many students recognize this by doing much of their studying in the morning hours before College opens. Moreover, it was well brought out in your recent editorial that much valuable time would be gained for athletic purposes.

After all, early rising is only a matter of habit, and we can well afford to follow the example of the former classes at Pennsylvania who attended Chapel early in the morning at eight o'clock as a matter of course.
