Both teams are in excellent condition and both are exceptionally strong. Each eleven has proved that the "varsity teams" of their respective universities.

Camera Club News.

The postponed meeting of the Camera Club will be held Monday evening in their rooms in Houston Hall. The program for this meeting has not been completed yet, but it is important that all members be present. The exhibition which has been on view for the last two weeks will be closed on Wednesday. Fletcher, 231 Church, formatories, or Carl Carper, 40 North thirteenth street, before Wednesday. The proceeds of this sale will be placed in the treasury of the club.

Association Football Practice.

The association football candidates were put through a rigorous practice yesterday afternoon under the direction of Manager J. R. Alt. The back field was set on defensive while the forwards tried to score upon them. Practice lasted until dark. About fifteen men were present.

Practice will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week at 1:30 o'clock on the "big quai." All the men must report for practice if they expect to play against the Philadelphi CrickI Club on Thanksgiving morning.

CAPTAIN R. C. POLLEY.

The 'Varsity men lined up against the scrub for the last to last sallie- mance of the year, and the way they handled the ball, both on line running and on the forward pass, was extremely gratifying to the coaches.

In order to handle the forward pass, especially when on the defensive, has been a very expensive and gratifying fault since the football season commenced. The coaches feel very con- fident that the Crabells will be able to hold up the ball all the time that has not long been brought up will be rectified with the end that the men will play the game of the year. The only score of the afternoon came when Macklin received an onside kick and ran forty yards for a touchdown. The field was entirely too wet for fast work.

RESUME OF THE MUSICAL CLUBS

Joint Concert This Year Has Produced More Interest Than Ever Before.

The Pennsylvania clubs have now attained a higher grade of excellence than in previous years and the membership has increased. Two clubs, the madrigal club and the mandolin club, have attracted more members and have increased their activities.

The Pennsylvania glee club has composed of thirty men, and the mandolin club of thirty-five members. The Pennsylvania quartet will also be active this year.

The management, which has entire charge of the arrange- ments, feels sure that they will attract many new members and that they will enjoy the concert as much as last year.

The Cornell Musical Clubs, which visit ten or twelve of the larger cities of the East this year on their annual tour, have been a continual success since 1887. It is only in the past dozen years, however, that the membership of the clubs has been so large as it is now, and that they have taken such a prominent place. About sixty men will be taken on tour this year. There has been a glee club at Cornell since 1870. The students of these early days appear to have had some good glee clubs, but they lacked the perfect organization of the present clubs.

Philip Seneca Teams.

P. W. Mullins, '98, and Charles Belknap, '98, and P. A. Paul, '98, with Carl H. Hooper, '98, alternates, were selected last evening as the debutantes to repre- sent the Philomathian Society against the Philomathian Society of Columbia on December 6th. There were ten competitors, and they were so equally good that the judges, Professors lamp- bertson and McCarter, found it neces- sary to be in the majority over forty minutes.

Freshman Elect Representative.

The Freshman Class of the Wharton School yesterday elected Howard A. Megary as their representative to the Student Council. The other candidates were W. Barr and W. P. Johnson.

Captain Carver and the Sophomore Football team report for practice Monday afternoon at five o'clock, at Franklin Field. Everybody is invited.

NEWS EDITOR OF TODAY'S ISSUE.

W. C. JOHNSON.

The University football team will meet today, there being no game on the schedule for them either at home or away. The Freshmen meet the Cornell Freshmen at litchas, and are confident of defeating them.

The last big game of the season will be played next Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, on Franklin Field. Any steps that might be taken to render enthusiasm would certainly be appreciated by the undergraduates between now and the day of the game. We should attend practice in a body next Monday afternoon and with small megaphones, such as some of us took to Michigan, we should try to make as much sound as possible with our cheers and songs. The Cornell game is the biggest and hardest game that Pennsylvania plays this year, and a victory means more next Thursday than it has at any time during the season. We should not neglect any step, therefore, to keep alive the present magnificent spirit of the team and the undergraduates who are backing it.

Wednesday night a mass meeting at the Triangle would be in order, and again we should practice songs and cheers with our megaphones. It will be our last football mass meeting of the year, and all who have not attended any of the others, as well as those who have done so, should make it their duty to turn out for this one in case it is considered advisable to hold it.

The following verse has been composed especially for the Cornell game by M. M. Smith, '10, who sent it to this office. It goes to the tune of "Don't You Want a Paper, Deuter?" as follows:

Pennsylvania got together,
Cheer the team today,
Pennsylvania's team is playing
In the old way, and never
Let Carnellian cross the goal line
Of the Red and Blue.
Get together, Penn, and show them
What this football team can do.

The final writing of the question will probably be determined upon when the holidays, and all students who register before that time will be consulted by mail as to the question is known. Freshman Class Meets:
Reports of committees and the appointment of four and of a debate committee by President Ogden was the most important business enacted by the Freshman Class meeting in Harrison Laboratory yesterday at 1:15 o'clock.

An assistant treasurer for each department was appointed by Treasurer W. A. Pepples, to assist in the collection of the regular term fees of one dollar, agreed upon by the executive committee. All expenses incurred by the officers up to date were explained and the machinist and electrical engineers each given a representative on the executive board instead of a joint member.

The committees and executive treasurers are as follows:

Hunt Club Meeting:
The University Hunt Club met yester- day in Houston Hall, at which time M. D. Hanberger, 69 C, was elected temporary president and J. Wolfsten- holmen, 69 C, temporary secretary. A committee of five was appointed to confer with the hunt clubs around Philadelphia to arrange if possible for the privileges of the six best riders to hunt with their pack.

Princeton has had a hunt club for the last five years, and arrangements are on foot for a duel meet with the club sometime after Thanksgiving. The meet will be scored just like a cross-country run.

Among those who reported yester- day were Hamberger, Wolfstenhol- men, Fernberger, Fletcher, Crawford, King, Smith, Fletcher, Magnuson, Bresnahan, Bosco, Heilgar, Hope, Stuart, Emory, Rogers, Akahaol, Nihelber.

Freshman Executive Committee:
There will be a meeting of the Freshman executive committee on Monday at 8 P.M., in the Houston Club trophy room. This is a very important meeting, and every represen- tative is requested to attend.
