JOINT CONCERT WITH CORNELL

TO BE HELD TOMORROW NIGHT AT BELLEVUE-STRATFORD.

Great interest has been aroused in the joint concert between the Glee and Mandolin Clubs of Cornell and Pennsylvania, to be given in the Bellevue-Stratford ballroom tomorrow night. The advance sale of seats has been remarkable, and financially the concert is already a success and great interest attaches to it, as it occurs the night preceding the football game with Cornell, and as this is the first time the musical clubs of the two universities have united together in Philadelphia.

For many years the clubs of both colleges have been rehearsing nightly, and their program will be one of high musical ability. As the Cornell programs are announced this year, they will be held in Houston Hall.

Lectures on lope de vega

Yesterday afternoon Mr. James Pittman-Kelly, of the British Academy, delivered a lecture at Houston Club on Lope de Vega, the great Spanish dramatist. The choice of subject was particularly fortunate, for it was the three-hundred and forty-fifth anniversary of de Vega's birth. Mr. Pittman-Kelly briefly outlined the adventurous youth of Lope de Vega and spoke of his participation in the Spanish Armada, during which expedition he found time to write his epic poem, "El Camino de Maga." He explained that de Vega, non-dramatic work, especially his letters and his novel, "La Dolorosa," were entitled to give the author lasting fame; but he is best known for his dramatic works. De Vega began writing plays at the age of eighteen and until the end of his life continued dramatic work. According to his own testimony he wrote fifteen hundred plays, over four hundred of which are extant. He was the real founder of the Spanish drama and every dramatist of the early seventeenth century in Spain revered him. In every matter of influence extended all over Europe and his plays were initiated in France.

ACTION OF A. A. SUSTAINED

S. J. Henderson, Esq., Graduate of Law School and Prominent Member of Bar, Submits Written Opinion

Possible doubt of legal action of the Athletic Association this season was recently removed by an opinion in the possession of Director of Public Safety Henry Clay.

After a conference with Mr. Clay and the counselor of the Director to the plan of the Athletic Association, Clif Pomfret, Jr., treasurer, accepted the proposal for the association, obtained a written opinion from Samuel J. Henderson, Esq., a graduate of the University and a prominent member of the Philadelphia Bar.

According to the opinion not only is it permissible for students to act as special policemen, having been sworn in for that purpose, but they may also call upon any police officer to render assistance when it is needed. The policeman is bound to obey the call, as he is also a citizen who may not refuse assistance.

Clif Pomfret has made arrangements for a squad of extra policemen to patrol the streets outside the field for the Thanksgiving Day game, which, from the rate at which tickets have been sold, promises to draw the biggest crowd that Franklin Field has ever seen.

In the Henderson's opinion in full follows:

"My Dear Mr. Pemberton:—In accordance with your request I am writing to inform you of the legal effect of your action appointing special police officers to maintain peace, etc., at Franklin Field while the athletic contest is being held there."

"The Bullitt Hill, which provides for the government of citizens under specified conditions (Act of June 1, 1855), provides in Section 1, Article 3, The Superintendence of Police shall, when required by the Department of Public Safety, appoint and cause to be sworn in an additional number of policemen to do duty in any place in the city designated by and at the charge and expense of the person or persons who may ask for such appointment. They shall be subject to, and obey the orders, rules and regulations of the Department, and conform to the general discipline and special regulations thereon.

"As the wording of this act clearly states that these special officers are policemen in every sense of the word, subject to the duties and invested with the rights of such, it is quite clear that these special officers, in the event of their being unable to render any assistance with any disturbance, may signal for the aid of any fellow-policeman, and any policeman belonging to this company shall be in duty bound to respond, just as much as if the signal would be made by any regular policeman on the outside of Franklin Field, where Pomfret finds himself in a similar position. They are eligible and trying for a place on the team.

"Respectfully yours,

R. C. Chesnutt, chairman.

University Debate Committee.

A meeting of the University Debate Committee will meet to-morrow, at 8:45 A. M., promptly in Room 205, College Hall. They will be preceded by the students of the Dean from Pennsylvania, which will result in the choice of P. Brusse.

Cross-country run ready

Will Start This Morning for Princeton, Intercollegiate Race to-morrow.

The ninth annual intercollegiate cross-country run will be held on the course at Princeton to-morrow. While Pennsylvania's team is one of the strongest that has ever represented the University, Cornell, who has won seven championships, has a team which fairly measures up to her usual standard, having on this year's team four men who finished well up in the list of twenty men, Harvard and Columbia all have a number of veterans entered.

Lloyd Jones, the Intercollegiate cross-country champion last year, and Guy Hawkins, winner of the mile and mile and a half at the Cambridge championships, are on Pennsylvania, and should be the mainstay of the other. Of the members of this year's team to-morrow and with whom were both in the run last fall, Pennsylvania's champion rest on the ability of these men to finish well enough to be eligible for any of the first five scores which Jones and Hawkins are expected to make. Scores of Jones, Haskins, Boyle, Quigley, Moore, Jack, Lane, Witham and Gunn, are probably on the low side.

NEWS EDITOR OF TODAY'S ISSUE.

J. F. HARRISON.

While we are taking of a plan of organization for all departments of the University into an Undergraduate Committee upon which the College, Law, Medicine, Dental and Veterinary Schools are all represented, we might mention still another idea of the same sort. This relates to the publications of the University.

There should be a union of the various undergraduate publications with an idea of uniformity of policy in certain matters that affect others rather than the specific paper. "Punch Bowl," "Red and Blue" and the PENNSYLVANIAN should organize a committee upon which each paper would have representation. Many questions could be definitely settled and many involved problems solved if such a plan were carried out. Relations between the publications and the business men of the city should pursue a more uniform course of action than is now the case. This is only one course suggested as one upon which the papers could secure much better results if acting in harmony.

While each and every publication has its own particular object—"Punch Bowl" to satire, "Red and Blue" to encourage literature, and THE PENNSYLVANIAN to report daily news—we are all working for one great common end which, unfortunately, is often lost sight of amid the complication and confusion of everyday problems.

N. E. T. S. Smoker.

All Northeast Manual Training School men now in the University are invited to attend the smoker to be given in the Houston Club Auditorium on the last Friday of this month. All are cordially invited to attend the smoker to be given in the Houston Club, 1522 Walnut street. The newest shades of colors to be worn by the smoker have been provided for the students.

Baseball Notice.

The following men report at the A. A. office and got their Freshman baseball sweaters as soon as possible: Fort, Puxita, McRae, Wood, Chapman, Howo, Thayer, Emly, Smith. Signed: M. Gibbons-Neff.

New Medical Society Formed.

Representatives of the undergraduate medical societies of the University have formed during the past few weeks an association known as the Intercollegiate Medical Association of the University of Pennsylvania. The members will be members of the various medical societies and any member of the third or fourth-year class, not belonging to any undergraduate medical society, who makes application to the secretary.

The purpose of the association are to make the members more interested in practical medical science, to help in the unity of the interests of the various constituent societies. The business and scientific work of the association is modeled largely on that of the American Medical Association, the undergraduate societies taking the place of county and state societies, as in the national association.

The scientific work of the members of the association will be presented at an annual meeting, to be held under the direction of the senior class.

The officers of the association are: President, O. H. F. Pepper; vice-president, A. A. Powell; treasurer, R. C. Davis; secretary, J. H. Messer, Jr.

Junior Week Announcement.

Chairman Corfman, of the Junior Week committee, announces the following program: Wednesday evening, Musical Club's concert, at Belasco's; Thursday afternoon, Commercial College, Thrusert eatheatre. The (the class will attend the play that the team does). Friday afternoon, Junior boxes, in Houston Hall; Friday evening, Junior Banquet, Army and Navy game; Saturday evening, theatre party. Arrangements have been made to hold the theatre party at the Lyric, "The Warrent of Virgin, one of Hoffmann masterpieces, will be playing.

Medical Notice.

Home officers' examination for the positions of second medical extern, second surgical extern and second gynaecological and orthopaedical extern will be held at Carney Hospital, Old City, and the medical staff.

The Fourth-Year Medical Electives.

Members of the fourth-year class in medicine are reminded of the facts that have been provided for elective studies on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, from three to four o'clock. Those desiring to take advantage of these hours will notify the office as soon as possible, specifying the subject and number of hours which they can devote to it. As soon as this information is obtained the course in elective studies will be organized.

Senior Law Photographs.

The individual photographs of the members of the Senior Law Class will be taken at Hamlin's, 1522 Walnut street. Members of the class can have their pictures taken at any time before Christmas. No charge will be made for the pictures for insertion in the Review, but extra copies will be furnished at a fifty cent discount.

Harco Binney Alumni.

On the last Friday of this month the Husse Binney Alumni Association will hold an important meeting in the Horace Binney Auditorium. All the old students, friends and graduates are urged to attend, as matters of moment to all concerned will be discussed.
