CORNELL CONCERT TO-NIGHT
WILL BE GIVEN IN BELLEVUE-STRATFORD AT EIGHT O'CLOCK.

Pennsylvania's Combined Musical Clubs to Unite with Ithaca Organization in Rendering Popular Airs.

On the eve of the great Thanksgiving football struggle on Franklin Field between Cornell and Pennsylvania there will be given in the Bellevue-Stratford the joint concert between the Glee, Banjo and Mandolin Clubs of these two universities.

The Cornell men have been strongly urged to win the city this afternoon with the expectation of outdaring the Pennsylvania clubs in the concert tonight and of seeing their football team defeat Pennsylvania on the day following.

Edition has been the most unusual shows in the musical clubs, and as both Pennsylvania and Cornell have excellent organizations, the event should be well worth while. As there is always a large crowd of Cornell students in the city for the Thanks-giving games, there will be a splendid crowd of Cornell sympathizers at the joint concert also. Pennsylvania alumni in the city are also taking great interest in the concert, and will undoubtedly turn out a large crowd.

Among the numbers played by the Cornell Mandolin Club will be selec-

The Cornell men have no banjo cube, and the Pennsylvania Banjo Club will not doubt make the hit of the evening with their numbers, among which are "Slavery Days" and "Alabama Echoes."

Junior Week, which begins tonight with the Cornell-Pennsylvania Musical Clubs' concert at the Bellevue-Stratford, should receive the support of the entire University. More elaborate plans have been made this year to fill the week with interesting events than ever in the past, and from the concert tonight to the theatre party Saturday night there will be enough to keep the Juniors and their guests pleasantly busy. The Junior Ball is one of the most important of the winter events, and no one should miss it. The committee has gone to great trouble and expense, and we can appreciate their interest by attending the dance.

Cornell is glad to welcome the Combined Musical Clubs of Cornell to a concert to be given jointly with our own. This is the first meeting with the Cornell clubs that this city has ever seen, and we have no doubt that the musicians from Ithaca will receive the welcome they deserve.

The reputation of the Cornell clubs has preceded them here, and we know all through the East as one of the best of such college organizations. Last season Pennsylvania gave a concert at Ithaca in conjunction with the Cornell clubs and were heartily and cordially received. Let us show Cornell the same appreciation of their work.

University Senate Service.
The speaker at the University service next Sunday morning will be Mr. Jacob A.illis, of New York, the author of the "Making of an American," "How the Other Half Lives," "Roosevelt the Man," etc. Mr. Iilis has also been one of the great leaders in settlement and other charitable work in New York City. His subject next Sunday morning will be, "Who Is My Neighbor?" This service will be open to the public.

CROSS-COUNTRY MEET TODAY

generally supposed to be up to Coach Mead's usual standard, and the Illini escaped to win their eighth championship.

Princeton has Captain Kelly and Vernon, of last year's team, and Whittle, the former commemorative dance champion, who is expected to be up to them individual championship, and Perry, who did well in Freshmen races many years ago. In addition Princeton has defeated Yale and Columbia in dual meets, and as Yale turn out extras Harvard, who defeated Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the Isles appear very good.

Of the remaining team, Syracuse, little is known. This is their first year in the cross-country championship, but they may prove the dark horse in the race.

The list of those men who will start in the race is as follows:

Freshman Bowl Fight Committee.

There will be a meeting of the Freshman Bowl Fight committee at 1:35 today in Room 205, College Hall. The following compose the committee: Professor Taylor, E. Carr, H. Scott, G. T. Farberie, B. M. Finn, Waska, Mertors and Gilmant. It is important to be present. Signed: E. R. Coneta, chairman.

Humor at Pennsylvania.

The current number of "The Bohemian" magazine contains an article on "Humor at Pennsylvania," by a former editor of "Punch Bowl." The history of "Punch Bowl" two previous issues, "Chafers" and "Bon Franklin," are briefly reviewed and typical drawings and jokes are reproduced.

Mask and Wig Club Smoker.

The board of mention expects all undergraduate members of the Mask and Wig Club to be present at the smoker to be given in the club house immediately after the joint concert of the College and Pennsylvania Musical Clubs' concert, this evening at 12:30 o'clock.
