INTERCLASS GAMES THIS WEEK

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1907

PRICE, TWO CENTS

NAVY VICTORIOUS OVER ARMY

BALL MATCH TOMORROW.

Upper Class Eleven Will Meet on Wednesday Afternoon. Winning Teams Will Play on Thursday.

Although Thursday last closed the first and third football season this year's contest between the Army and Navy marked the end of the football season of 1907. Franklin Field will be the scene of at least three more gridiron games.

Three interclass games will be played this week. To-morrow the Sophomores meet the Freshmen in a struggle for a point toward the Dean's trophy, on Wednesday the upper class teams representing the Sophomores and Juniors meet, while on Thursday the winners of the two previous contests will decide the University championship.

While no man who won his "P" in football is eligible to compete, all the teams contain a number of star players, and the preceding games of the season should produce some first-class football of the peculiar type of the Army and Navy.

Howard W. Pulverester, captain of the Sophomore eleven, has had four years' experience in football playing, according to an advertisement in the Daily for the 1908 team are Wause, Kane and Larvey for the back field, Keenan and Bricker for quarter-back, De Hamil, Killiam, McCoskey and Sundorfer ends, and E. E. Shoemaker, Lee, H. Philber, A. G. Smith and Wilson for positions in the line. Of these men Lavery, De Hamil and Pulverester have played on the scrub, Keenan was captain of the Varsity Freshman team, and most of the others have played on their school and college teams.

The Junior team is making a strenuous effort to capture the championship, and its selection is such that it is also intact from last year, and all of the men, with the exception of the one or two picked at Princeton, play, have been playing on the scrub during the present season, except during the present season, except in the annual game with the New York and Garfield quarter. The other candidates for the back field and ends are Bower, Collins, Kern, Sheble and Weisenberg; Hufschmied, Oda, Deleon, J. P. Brown, and Marsh will form the nucleus for a strong line. All of last year's team will be in the line up with the exception of De Bow, who has water on the knee, due to an injury received while playing on the scrub.

The Sophomore eleven is rather unsettled, owing to the fact that several of their men earned their "P" in the game with Cornell. Of last year's team Bode, centre; Burns, tackle; Keller, full-back, and Canal, half back, have played full-backs and ends on the scrub. Bradock, Sommer and Crooks have been on the scrub during the present season; these men Dally, Mert, Smith, Torrey, Novia, Thayer and Weiderman are all up to date and may be able to play. The 1908 eleven will consist almost exclusively of the members of the University championship, as well as defending the Freshmen.

This Sophomore organization is the splendid championship team.

Prominent Philanthropist Uses As his Text. "Who Is My Neighbor?"

Dr. G. B. Gordon has again taken upon his circuits at the University after his adventure in Alaska in connection with the expedition sent by the University to explore the Kuskokwim river and make ethnological collections for the Museum. Dr. Gordon describes the tribes within he encountered during his travels as intelligent, industrious and.grace in disposition. They live entirely by hunting and fishing, each family laying up enough provisions during the brief summer to last during the long winter. Their religion is a kind of nature worship, attended with very elaborate ceremonies.

He made a plea to the students to be made up of a highly dramatic character. Each village is provided with a bany house and a club house for the men, which is the centre of social life for each community, for it is there that they dance and festivities are made.

The architectural features of the dwellings are peculiar to the region, and are well adapted to a severe climate. This is also true of the clothing, which is well made from furs of various animals and often highly ornamented.

During the summer Dr. Gordon traveled a distance of more than fifteen hundred miles in a canoe through a physically unknown territory, not far from the Artic circle. During the months of June and July the days were fairly warm and a sweats of mosquitoes prevented life from being intolerable. About the middle of August the frost began and the cold became gradually more severe, until by the middle of September winter had set in, and by the end of the whole land was ice-bound. Dr. Gordon reached Nome, on the Pacific, in mid December, in time to catch the last steamboat leaving during the season for Seattle.

No ethnological material collected was brought to Seattle, where it was delivered to the railroads for transportation to Philadelphia. It is expected to arrive in a few days, and will be exhibited in the Museum during the winter. Students in anthropology will find interesting material in these collections. Dr. Gordon is giving several courses in this subject during the present winter.

Address by Secretary of Treasury

If Secretary of the Treasury Hon. Charles H. Treat, arrives in Philadelphia this morning, as he is expected to do, he will address the undergraduates of the Wharton School. While he is confidentely expected, pressure of business may prevent him from attending the academy until evening, when he will address the American Academy of Political and Social Science. His subject will be some financial topics of especial interest in the recent financial panic.

Beginner Football Practice Today.

Important practice this afternoon, four o'clock, on Franklin Field, will take the form of a scrimmage. Signed: Howard W. Pulverester, captain.

The basketball squad has been hard at work for just a month with good results from the few who reported for practices. It came as a surprise to those most deeply interested in the development of a championship team when so small a number of men reported on the call for candidates. Out of more than four thousand undergraduates but twenty-two reported. There are at present in the University many good basketball players. Due allowance has been made for those who have been with the football squads, and these men will, it is hoped, report tonight at the regular practice. All should realize the difficulty ahead in recovering the championship lost last year, and should come out and try for the team. All who are reporting will be given an opportunity to make the team, as three places are vacant, due to graduated players.

The schedule for the year is now nearly complete, and many good games have been added to an already nearly complete program. Many good basketball players. Federal License Question.

"The Federal License Question" was the subject resolved upon by the University debate committee, at a meeting held last week, as the question to be debated at the intercollegiate debate. The question had narrowed down to the "Federal License Question" and "Centralization," but the former was decided upon by the committee.

of the college world. They lost but one game the entire season and that to the strong Hill School eleven. They defeated the Cornell Freshmen 26-0. All of their members are eligible with the exception of Jeffries, half-back; Marks, centre, and Pifer, tackle. These men are not in the College Department. Their pieces will be taken by Lange, Koepke, and Klar, respectively. The other members of the team are Captain Bountie, Favorito, Johnson, Irwin, Queen, Lindsey, Irwin and Burden.

Photographic Society's Offer.
The Photographic Society of Philadelphia, whose building is at 2722 Arch street, has made an offer to the Camera Club, which has already been accepted by nearly a third of its members. The publication of this offer should induce a large number of those who have not yet heard of it to consider and accept its terms—associate membership, which includes all privileges except those of voting and holding office, is opened to undergraduate members of the Camera Club on payment of a fee of five dollars.

Florida Men to Organize.
