NEW EDITOR OF TO-DAY'S ISSUE.
J. P. HARDISON.

Let us not forget the basketball game tonight. We have a good team.

Classmen should take more interest in their class meetings. There is always a reason for holding these meetings, and the members of the class ought to care enough about their own business to make it a point to attend. Such a thing as postponing a meeting because there are not enough members present to hold one is a disgrace which any class ought to be anxious to avoid it. To do is to be hoped that the Juniors will turn out for their next class meeting and not forget it to such an extent as they did yesterday.

We would respectfully remind the Undergraduate Committee that many in the University are waiting to know when the list for the new catalogue, containing the names and addresses of students registered in the College and Wharton School, will be published. The list will be kept posted as long as it is possible. Students are requested to see that their names are spelled correctly, present Philadelphia address is given, and that their class standing is stated accurately. If corrections should be written and sent in promptly to Dr. Conklin, Dean's office, College Hall.
