In 1908 Pennsylvania sent a track team to Europe to compete in the English and Scotch universities and the Olympic Games, then held at Paris. This team, composed of such athletes as Albert C. Krueger, then holder of three world’s records; George W. Orton, former captain of the Harvard track team; and Jiirgen Thomsen, the intercollegiate record for the one-mile run; L. K. Baxter, Stanford have, Alexander C. Landis, the outstanding American and Motion Picture; and W. Moore, McCracken and several other lesser lights, made a brilliant showing for a college team and established the athletic fame of Pennsylvania on a firmer basis in Europe than any other American university. In 1908 it is probable that the pick of the 1904 Pennsylvania track team will be found in England this summer. Even if the University does not send a team, there will undoubtedly be several of her athletes on the American team, with which she will battle for the honor of sending men in the country in every event. Such recent successes as Charles G. Loelch, i. e. his “decathlon” and his “Alternative Secret,” Mr. Pfeiffer Kirk has just presented the manuscripts of his three lectures on “Philosophy and Civilization,” and Mr. Henry C. Lees on “The Universities of Spain.” Dr. Joseph Loelch, Jr., has given the University an interesting collection of the material gathered by the late Joseph Leitch in his monograph on “Philippines,” and the University hopes to secure from the late Dr. Joseph Loelch, Jr., some manuscripts of her husband. Negotiations are also in progress for other valuable manuscripts.

The collection is being beautifully housed, and a special space is being prepared, where they will be on permanent view.

Dr. Morris Jastrow Honored.

Dr. Morris Jastrow, Professor of Semitic Languages and Librarian of the University, has just received notice of his appointment as delegate to represent the United States at the Fifth International Congress of Orientalists, which meets in Copenhagen during the second week in August.

The other delegates from the United States are Professor Paul Hitti, of Johns Hopkins University; Professor Charles R. Loomis, Harvard University and President of the American Oriental Society, and Dr. A. V. W. Jackson, Professor of Indo-European languages at Columbia University.

The National Congress of Orientalists meets in Copenhagen this year in a variety of European capitals. The congress will be held under the auspices of the Danish Government, and all the leading governments of the north will be represented to-day to-day. It is expected that the University will be attended by five or six hundred delegates from all parts of the world.

Saturday Recitations Discontinued.

Saturday recitations are completely discontinued to abandon Saturday recitations. Students were requested to answer how they spent their days and what these answers were tabulated. As a result, certain recommendations that the trustees order Saturday recitations to be discontinued.

LIBRARY SECURES MANUSCRIPTS

Dr. S. Weir Mitchell’s “Hugh Wynne” Among the Many Contributed.

Last spring at the suggestion of Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, past president of the Library of the University, a collection of manuscripts from the scientists and writers of Philadelphia. The effort was not to have an end of the library daily will have before them the evidence of the intellectual activity of the men of past and present.

Dr. Mitchell himself contributed a manuscript of “Hugh Wynne.” Mr. John Harrison followed it up with two manuscripts of long ago, one by Charles G. Leidel, i. e. his “Decathlons” and his “Alternative Secret.” Mr. Pfeiffer Kirk has just presented the manuscripts of his three lectures on “Philosophy and Civilization,” and Mr. Henry C. Lees on “The Universities of Spain.” Dr. Joseph Loelch, Jr., has given the University an interesting collection of the material gathered by the late Joseph Leitch in his monograph on “Philippines,” and the University hopes to secure from the late Dr. Joseph Loelch, Jr., some manuscripts of her husband. SIGNED AT THE OLYMPIC GAMES

Many Universities Contemplate Sending Their Entire Track Teams to England—Yale Leads Movement.

This week the collection of imprints brought from Alaska by Dr. Bingham were uncrated and placed in a private room on private shelves, and these, as well as some single copies of the books, have been shelved in cases for public view. The collection will be the largest made by any one group of tribes.

Many were very hard to obtain from the people, as there is a sentiment of attachment for antiquities, and some of the fences had been hauled down in tribes. The collection were obtained mostly by trading with the Alaks, giving to them in exchange tobacco, tea and trinkets.

While on his expedition Dr. Bingham, happened on a deserted village. Books were found in their homes, showing that the people had been sedentary for at least a year. A very rare piece was spotted by a passerby. Traces showed that few, if any, were housed in the village.

At this place a good collection of articles was obtained but little else. The specimens are a lot of bone, wooden basketwork, which was made by the women, two bullroarer and a polished bolo in the village.

The collection contains specimens of everything used by the people of the Kuskokwim Valley. The tools shown are very interesting. One is a knife made of a very hard piece of wood with a handle of ivory fastened on to leather things. Most of the smaller implements have cutting edges of hard bone, pipes have over and under cutting edges made from large bones that have been picked up on the shores. A great curiosity is a hand held spoon of a type never before seen and of very early structure. This spoon is that at some remote time the natives had iron and know how to work it. The largest items is that, besides basket making, and the collection shows a wide range of baskets. They are mostly made of grass and dyed by native dyes. They include coarse baskets, used for storing, to extremely fine ones, used for medicine. One is a basket or bag made of salmon skin and is waterproof.

The collection includes many wooden and ivory tools. They are not so crude, and are dressed in fur skins. There are many small objects from Alaska, such as maces, carvings, but made in the form of animals, pipes and game fasteners.

Tooth is a great factor in the lives of the Alaksans. They are the most important for it with the Siberians. As a result much time and labor is spent in making pipes, tobacco boxes and small boxes.

Included in the collections are clothes made of fur and tiny skins. This industry has reached a very high stage. Bows and antler-tipped arrowheads are also exhibited. Among other things the collection contains the head of a chief's wife, ivory horns from the ears of oxen, tooth boxes, wooden dishes and clay cooking pots, wooden lamps and.

BRUSSELS MONTHLY SWIMMING EVENTS

Walker’s remarkable plunge of 67 feet 6 inches was the feature of the bi-monthly swimming events last evening. This is better by half a foot than the intercollegiate record made by Morrow, of Yale, last year. Walker’s exploit, which he made four years before him, should develop into a wonderful man for the Variety. The events were run off much quicker and easier than in the past. Beginning Walker, has also shown up well. Summaries:

News of the Law School.

The classes will be distributed to the reading rooms. A list of the books will be posted on the bulletin board.

The following were present: M. Bate, M. G. Stelzle, G. P. Oert, W. K. Miller, W. R. Windle, A. St. George, L. H. Fairchild, A. D. Scholfield, S. W. S. Brown, J. Dolan.
