PENN WINS SWIMMING MEET

Pennsylvania won the intercollegiate swimming meet by defeating Princeton by 220 yards, won in order to allow the Intercollegiate Swimming Association meet to be held simultaneously tonight at Annapolis, West Point and Annapolis.

At a meeting of the Intercollegiate Swimming Association held recently, it was decided that instead of holding all the preliminary trials in New York, as has been the custom of previous years, to divide the nine colleges competing in the league into three groups for the trials and to hold the finals in the gymnasium of the New York Athletic Club on Saturday, March 24, this year.

The division resulted as follows: Cornell, Annapolis, Pennsylvania at Annapolis; Princeton, Columbia and West Point at West Point, Yale, and Harvard, and Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Boston.

All of these preliminary trials each meet will each choose one of the two and that one scoring the least number of points will be dropped. The winners going to the intercollegiates at New York two weeks later.

Pennsylvania in tonight's contest will meet the best of two teams in the following order, and not only will he doubled up to put up a strong fight against their more experienced team, but one of last year's team returned to college, the place of one of the other men who have not had the advantage of experience as have the majority of the other fences; and in addition to this the team has been put into shape by Coach Terrone has been hard at work and has made a remarkable improvement in their work this season.

A Harvard preliminary team which will meet each one of the two and that one scoring the least number of points will be dropped. The winners going to the intercollegiates at New York two weeks later.

Pennsylvania was handily copped the season by the fact that the hand one of last year's team returned to college, the place of the other men who have not had the advantage of experience as have the majority of the other fences; and in addition to this the team has been put into shape by Coach Terrone has been hard at work and has made a remarkable improvement in their work this season.

Pennsylvania's team which won to Annapolis today will be composed of Cuthbert H. Ford, '89, B. Calif., '89, 22, 39, and C. J. Tretton, '70 C.

Sunday Services.

Rev. John Stone Morris, of Baltimore, Md., will conduct the Sunday services in Hampton Hall auditorium at eleven o'clock tomorrow morning.

Mr. Stone has acquired a considerable experience and is very deeply interested in ecclesiastical and social conditions. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

Meditor of Phils.

The seven speakers will prepare their addresses at once and turn them in to B. H. Comer, editor-in-chief of the 1908 Class record, by March 20th. At yesterday's meeting the class was housed for honors men. The limit of the eight men receiving the highest number of votes will be carefully guarded by the three tellers, Dean, Hendrie and Shoemaker, and will not be announced until next Friday, at 11:30 o'clock, when the first ballot will be taken.

"Red and Blue" Notice.

The next number of "Red and Blue" (April) will not be the Mask and Wig number, as originally planned. The mask and wig number will be the May issue, and will appear about April 29th. Copy for this number is to be ready on Friday, April 24th. Signed: Frank A. Paul.

BASKETBALL WITH GEORGETOWN.

Varsity to Meet the Southern Champions in Gymnasium To-Night.

Georgetown University, champions of the Southern Basketball League, meet the Varsity team in Weightman Hall this evening.

Georgetown, as soon as it was definitely held yesterday by the fresh men of Fordham, was last to win the intercollegiate championship of the East, was negotiating with the owners of the Northern and Western leagues for a game, issued a challenge, which was immediately accepted by management.

The Blue and Gray have had a very successful season, and the championship of the South with little or no contest. They have played a fast game all season, and have defeated many strong teams, among them Yale, Columbia and Washington University.

They have established only one defeat this season, a game in which Georgetown won by a very desirable margin.

Through an oversight on the part of the Georgetown management they neglected to request the Pennsylvania management. Pennsylvania's line up will be composed of McRory, former star of McNeile, centre; Kofaber and Credden, guards.

Outdoor Baseball Practice.

A very good practice game was played yesterday afternoon by the baseball squad on Franklin Field. The candidates are rapidly being rounded into form and did real snappy work. A crowd consisting of the practice and crowded unnecessarily onto the crimson lawn. In front of the committee the contract for jerseys was awarded to J. G. Gray, 29 South Eleventh street. All candidates for second assistant manager were nominated Lewis and Rollins.

Freshman Class Meets.

One of the largest meetings of the Freshman Class, held in Harrison Laboratory, the auditorium was entirely filled and many hands to stand. The honor system was brought up for adoption but no action was taken. At the next meeting to be held Friday, March 20th, it will be voted upon. Plans for the October Owen have been fashioned over, and arrangements are to be made to this year's event the greatest and most exciting ever held.

Freshman Basketball Committee.

There will be an important meeting of the Freshman bowl committee on Monday in Room 205, College Hall, at 1:15 o'clock. It is very important that every member of the committee be present. Signed: Ernest B. Cotter, chairman.

Citizenship Assignment.

The students who have not had an assignment is to prepare an analysis of "Deeley vs. United States, 152 U. S. 222. Facts, conclusion of the four questions presented, second paragraph p. 230 to bottom of page 232. Signed: L. E. Rowe.

NEWS EDITOR OF TODAY'S ISSUE:

RAMSEY R. MARTIN.

The honor system in class elections has been in practice at Pennsylvania for two years, and no custom adopted by the undergraduate body has given so instant or complete satisfaction. The four class honor men have always been chosen with a recognition of the fact that each honors becomes doubly significant when given as the deliberations of men unimpeachable by political campaigning of any character. Because of the system of honor underlying the selection of the four most popular men each year, the election has become a beautiful and a unique custom at Pennsylvania.

The honor system was extended last year to other class officers in the election of the president of the present Senior Class, and has been used very generally since. The undergraduate objection is not to anything in political activity itself, but rather to class elections as the medium for it. In the selection of class representa- tives there are no issues but the personalities of the candidates; and a personal issue is most fatal of all in engendering ill feeling. The College class is not an organization large enough to experience a political campaign waged on such lines with hurt to the good fellowship which should be the most prominent incident of undergraduate life.

The spirit of union developing strongly in the Senior Class is at- trIBUTED largely to the use of the honor system, and the Freshman Class, which will decide the question of adoption next week, will be glad at the end of four years for anything they may do which advances harmony to the class as a whole.
