REV. A. F. SCHAUFFLER SPEAKS

"THE BIBLE AS LITERATURE AND AS A MESSAGE TO MAN."

Considered from Two Standpoints.

The Bible as Literature and as a Message to Man is the theme of a sermon by the Rev. A. F. Schaufler, of New York City, delivered at the Sunday services in Houston Hall. Dr. Schaufler said:

"We may consider the Bible from two standpoints: one from its literary worth and from the standpoint of its message to humanity. As a mere example of literature, the Bible stands as far above other religious works as do the heavens above the earth. There can be no comparison, because the Bible is the message of the divine revelation of a personal God, written by inspired writers. Considering the fact that the authors of the Bible were men whom such serious and great purposes and adherence to the single aim of Christ—so we and world men might—must—realize the significance of its message.

"What did Jerry Mckeeley know about the value of the Bible as literature? Nothing. He merely recognized it as something of beauty, and in the last stages of decay, this Bible brought a promise of better things, a way of escape from the consequences of its past life and its darkness.

"The purpose of the Bible is what makes it of prime importance to me. I have it for what it brings of comfort and encouragement from a living Father to be taken to heart. God may affect disbeliever, may give no food whatever to the real message of the Bible. Hamma—_saying it brings in plucking flaks in its language or its contradictions, but after all it is not this aspect of the Bible which brings its reader to an apprehension of the merits of its inspired messages.

"When a believer lies upon his deathbed, he goes to the twentieth Psalm because it is an example of poetry? No. He reads it because it brings to him the comforting assurance that 'even though he walketh through the valley of shadow of death' he will fear no evil—just as he who will fear, that the Shepherd will be with him.

"In the evening Dr. Schaufler gave an interesting and thought-provoking illustrated lecture on "Rush and Renee," showing some of the worst sliding the conditions which exist in the higher world of the City of New York.

FOWELL LOSES TO FOSTER

Yale Representative Wins Two Out of Three Bouts in Wrestling Meet.

In the finals of the wrestling championship of the Middle Atlantic Association at the University Saturday evening, R. B. Foster, of Yale, threw R. C. Fowell in two out of a series of three bouts.

Fowell did not appear to be in his normal good condition, as nevertheless he won the second bout in two minutes and put up a strong fight in the decisive third. It was the first time in 6 minutes 24 seconds with a head and body hold in Fowell's favor at the match. Fowell while trying to roll out of a hold was caught by Foster that hit him on his back. The bout lasted six minutes.

In the other classes several Pennsylvania men were placed. Pyle won the lightweight class when Craig, of Catholic, was dislocated and was forced to retire. R. A. Peters captured second place in the 125 pounds class and H. B. Brands took second honors in the 115 pounds class.

BASEBALL SEASON OPENS AND PITCHERS GET A TRYOUT.

Twintime Pitches Through the First Five innings, Followed by Collier and Chapman—Pauwts Bats Well.

Pennsylvania opened her official baseball season Saturday afternoon on Franklin Field with a decisive victory over the New York University nine by the score of 9 to 0. The New York nine was completely outclassed this afternoon by the Red and Blue throughout the game.

Although the field was rather wet and soggy after the heavy rain it did seem to handicap the speed of both teams. Pennsylvania displayed plenty of energy with three hits in a row in the third. The New Yorkers made but one hit, the lone hit of the game. Chapman pitched the last inning for the Red and Blue and escaped unscathed.

Pauley and Porter were largely responsible for Pennsylvania's nine runs. Both of them made three clean drives and the former lasted a pair of doubles. The batting was very interesting, since light hitting has been a much talked of theme in the nation. With the exception of Murder reached for the third base in the seventh inning the visitors did not threaten to score in four. He was caught napping and run out for the fourth out of the inning.

Pennsylvania—Landau, second; Glasser, third; Gamber, left; Phillips, second, base; Van Hoesen, shortstop; Murphy, right field; Feddersie, center; Crossan, first; Collier, pitcher; Porter, catcher; Smillie, left field.

Gamber—Pennsylvania, 3, Two base-hits—Pauwts, 2; Porter, 1. Sacrifices—Phillips, 3; Porter, 1; Glasser, 2. Runners—Wessells, 6; Wood, 3; Third; Wood, 1; Third; Chew, 1; Phillips, 1; Collier, 1; Crossan, 1; Porter, 1; Smillie, 1. Hits—Wessells, 1; Glasser, 1; Phillips, 2. Base on balls—Wessells, 1; Porter, 1; Glasser, 1; Phillips, 1; Collier, 5; Porter, 1; Smillie, 1.

Football Schedule Announced.

The football schedule of the University was announced on Saturday. The schedule has not been ratified by the faculty committee, but it has been arranged with such carelessness that there is but little if any possibility of the faculty committee suggesting any changes.

There are several important differences on this season's schedule, though new affiliations have been made with big teams in the East or West. The West Virginia University, one of the new products of the North, will be seen on Franklin Field this season, and it comes with a good reputation.

The biggest change is the fact that Swarthmore has been moved back on the schedule. The Garnet will have a powerful team next season.

Michigan will be played again at Ann Arbor, Mich, on November 14th, and Cornell faces Pennsylvania here on Franklin Field November 20th.

The schedule follows:

- September 25th—West Virginia University, at Franklin Field.
- September 29th—Ursinus College, at Franklin Field.
- October 3rd—Bucknell, at Franklin Field.
- October 7th—Villanova, at Franklin Field.
- October 14th—State College, at Franklin Field.
- October 17th—Brown, at Franklin Field.
- October 24th—Indiana, at Franklin Field.
- October 31st—Swarthmore, at Franklin Field.
- November 7th—Lafayette, at Franklin Field.
- November 10th—University of Michigan, at Ann Arbor, Mich.
- November 20th—Cornell, at Franklin Field.

Princeton Begins Rowing.

Princeton has just started on her new sport, rowing. Eight shells, which were presented by alumni of Philadelphia and New York, have been launched on Carnegie Lake. Turtles, the famous local oarsman, is coaching and putting his forty men in condition. Princeton will not enter the Intercollegiate regatta this year. There will be races later in the season on Carnegie Lake for the Carnegie Class Cup.

Examination for Internes.

A competitive examination for internes will be held at St. Mary's Hospital, Brooklyn, N. Y., on Saturday, April 11th.
