Pennsylvania again has a Rhodes Scholar. It is a gratification to the undergraduates that the committee decided as it did. The man selected is one of the most popular in his class, and besides being a good student is an athlete of ability.

The Rhodes Scholarship is an honor of the highest rank accorded not only to the University but he is selected from his State and goes as its delegate. He must be the highest type of college man—one who combines the advantages of physical and mental health and strength. The Rhodes Scholars were designed to fuse into the Oxford University the vigorous and hearty blood of young and ambitious Americans and to give these the benefits of a 600 year education, as well as to prevent that ancient university from becoming effete. We feel sure that Pennsylvania's representative will properly and sufficiently maintain his resplendent titles and duties.

University Circus Rehearsal. A full rehearsal for the University Circus, which will be given next Friday night, was held in Weidman Hall last evening. About an hundred men participated, which showing was very gratifying to William J. Cronin, who is conducting the work. The circus will consist of athletic contests between the Sophomore and Freshman, wrestling, boxing, tumbling by the gymnastic team, selections by the Citrus Band, and fun in general made by "Kromie's Kolice Karatza." A dance will follow the circus proper, after which the University Orchestra will furnish the music.

Summer School Notice. Mathematics 497 (Calculus for Architects) will be duplicated in the Summer School if there is a sufficient demand for it. This course is regularly given to Sophomore architects and is a prerequisite for Architecture 30 (Mechanics of Architecture). Students interested are requested to confer with Dr. Bradford.

First-Year Medical Speaker. The concluding speaker in the series of talks to the first-year medical class on American medicine in the Far East will be Dr. H. J. Bond, who has had a wide experience in North China. He will touch on points which have not been covered by the other speakers.

Intercollegiate Swimming Meet. The University swimming team has established a fine record so far this season, both individually and collectively. The team now stands tied with Princeton for first honors in the Intercollegiate Swimming League, although Coach Kister's men defeated the Orange and Black by 10 to 15 in a dual meet. Pennsylvania has not yet lost a contest, but were forced to default to Harvard. Owing to the tie the team will meet Princeton in the pool of the College of the City of New York, the probable date being April 10th.

Last Saturday evening Coach Kister entered the team in the New York National Athletic Club meet, and they performed exceptionally well. J. K. Shroyer won the 50 yard junior national championship in 7 minutes 38.4 seconds. In the 400 yard race the relay team were second to the New York Athletic Club team, which consists of four of the fastest swimmers in the country.

The team will be entered in the individual championships at Princeton next Saturday night. All the leading college swimmers will compete.

The league standing to date is as follows:
