PRINCETON DEFEATS VARSITY

Pennsylvania scored in the third, Longdizar opening with a double and scoring on Harison's single. In the fifth the Varsity scored three runs on four hits and a couple of errors. No more runs were made on till the eighth inning, when with the score at three against them Princeton made two runs. Rides singled and scored on Harison's three-base hit and Clark's out at first, scoring Harison. The Orange and Black tied the score in the ninth. Reed's base on balls by Twintire and Dillon's single, together with an overthrow by catching the score.

In the thirteenth inning Warwick beat out a beat, Reed struck out, Warwick reaching second on Cruickshank's error of Dawson's line. With two men out it looked as if Princeton would once more be blanked, but Dillon's single down the third-base line scored the two runs.

Pennsylvania in their half tried hard to rally. Cullier, batting for Twintire-singly was forced at second to parte. Parte was out at second and Thaxter fouled out.

NEW EDITOR OF TODAY'S ISSUE.
HAROLD A. LIBBER.

We have long been wondering why Pennsylvania could not produce a baseball nine which would be on a par with the teams representing other major colleges. Past performances of former teams have not justified this thought, but the agen is over, and we at last have a team worthy of our name. This was proven in the game of last Saturday.

Such a battle as that was a hard one to lose, and there were doubtful moments which disappointed Pennsylvania supporters in the stands. But there is no reason for discouragement of the team, or among the undergraduates.

That earnest team, well matched, and we lost to the more fortunate opponents, who deserve, however, the credit such a victory bears.

It was unfortunate that we did not win, and such circumstances are not likely to repeat themselves at least not this season. We feel confident of victory in our second game with Princeton.

We appreciate the kindness shown by Princeton in allowing our runner to leave the base in order to bat.

That the earnest team, our team that was gratefully received was evidenced by the hearty support given by the student body. We sincerely hope that the same co-operation will appear at the game with Yale next Saturday.
