BREAKS DISTANCE RECORD PREVIOUSLY HELD BY CORNELL.

CORNELL EASY FOR THE VARIETY.

RED AND BLUE NINE WINS FIRST GAME OF SERIES-SCORE 115.

Visitors' Errors Enabled Pennsylvania to Score Runs Almost at Will. Large Crowd Despite Crew Races.

Although Cornell found Rimpson for three runs in the first inning, the record of seven thousand persons who witnessed the game on Franklin Field Saturday afternoon between Pennsylvania and Cornell saw the former down the Ithicans by the score of 115. Rimpson was chosen to pitch against the Ithicans, and after the first inning he was a pinsy. In the second inning he offered but three hits, one a home run by Williams.

J. B. W. Blair, who started the game for the Ithicans, became so "tired" in the ninth inning when the "Cornell" players scored a fast nine-run game that he was relieved by Caldwell. But he was powerless to stop the running.

Cornell scored three runs in the second inning, before W. B. C. could be scored, later going on to second on Nachman's sacrifice. Nachman singled down centre, Pelham moving on the throw to Caldwell, righted himself on the throw to Platt. Platt threw to third in an effort to catch Caldwell, who started for the plate. Poor dropped the return throw and Caldwell scored. Pennsylvania got two in their half of the first. Three walked and scored from first on Longdon's double to deep left field. Staining singled Longdon going to third. Longdon scored when Staining purposely put down between first and second. In the second inning both pitchers allowed three more runs. Thayer again drew a pass and scored on Gable's wild throw of Londrlgan's hit. Cooper singled down centre, allowing Londrlgan to score. Staining doubled to right, allowing Londrlgan to score. Pennants left the latter two on the bases. Cooper again hit a pass and scored on the throw to Platt. Platt threw to first, allowing Londrlgan to score. Pennants left Staining on third. University clubs, including the several which have sprung up in recent years, are very much interested in having their members "officially" initiated into the ranks of college men. A number of them make this part of the new student's life a very important one. This isn't to say that most of the new students are likely to accept these invitations, but the number who do is quite large. And even those who do not accept them are likely to do something like it themselves. In any case, it is important that the new student should understand the reasons for such invitations and be prepared to accept them if he is asked to do so. This is especially true of the new students at the University, where there are so many different clubs and organizations to choose from.
