FOOTBALL SEASON OPENS TODAY

VARSTY ELEVEN MEETS WEST VIRGINIA ON FRANKLIN FIELD.

Only One of Last Year's Regulars Will Start the Game—Line and Back-Field Weakened by Loss of Veterans.

All roads lead to Franklin Field today, for this afternoon's game with West Virginia marks the opening of the football season for Pennsylvania. But there is certainly the fact that college has again started the season with a new crop of "scare," in which the incoming Freshmen are to be thoroughly and splendidly initiated into the college spirit. The Freshmen, who were nearly everywhere tonight, were not prepared for the evening's events. The Freshmen, who were nearly everywhere tonight, were not prepared for the evening's events.

The candidates for the Freshman Class, who are to be introduced to the Freshmen on their first day in school, are the Freshmen Class. They were introduced to the Freshmen on their first day in school, and were then introduced to the Freshmen on their first day in school.

Debate Plans Announced.

Preliminary steps were taken toward initiating a movement for a larger interest in debating this year. When the University Debate Committee met yesterday in College Hall, it was decided to hold a meet this winter of the student body within the next few weeks, at which prominent speakers particularly interested in debating will be asked to give talks. The President will probably preside. It is well known that he is very desirous of forwarding the interests of intercollegiate, class and society debating.

There will be three Varsity debates this year instead of two, as has been the usual case for the three years past. The University of Virginia, a rival of some years ago, will be the new contestant, at Charlottesville November 18th. On February 26th two Varsity teams will debate simultaneously in the Triangular League annual contest. Cornell will be met at Ithaca while Columbia is the opponent at Philadelphia. The Varsity teams won both their debates last year.

In addition to contests with other universities, the Zoological and Philosophical Societies have several outside debates and meet each other. The Sophomore–Freshman debate will be held as usual, but the date is undecided.

The Committee is very anxious to secure knowledge of all men wishing to take any part in debating. Names may be handed to Paul, Reeves, Parsons, or Dawson. The complete schedule for the year follows:

November 18—Zoological
November 20—Varsity vs. Virginia
November 24—Philanthropic
December 9—Philanthropic vs. Philo
December 10—Philanthropic vs. Zetoeop
december 11—Zetoeop vs. Philo
December 15—Zetoeop vs. Zoological
December 16—Zetoeop vs. Philo
December 17—Philanthropic vs. Zoological

"A KNIGHT FOR A DAY."

Dig Musical Hit Coming to the Chestnut Street Opera House.

The real opening of the Chestnut Street Opera House is announced for next Monday, September 28th, with "A Knight for a Day," one of the biggest musical comedy hits scored in recent years. The engagement is for two weeks only. Everybody who knows the real St. John Savini and Miss May Vokes, a pair of the most successful talents in the vedos of the theatre. Everyone locally is familiar with Comedian Savini's ability to evoke mirth. No fire-maker of all the hit visiting Philadelphia locally is now more popular than the little mincer. Nor is Miss May Vokes, his partner in comic re-semblance, least familiarly known here. The buoyant femininity of the ranks that go to make up the ensemble-phalanx are already famous elsewhere for their vivacity, comicality, and vocal excellence. Robert B. Smith is the identified of the piece and Raymond Hitchcock its composer. Songs like include "The Little Girl in Blue," "Life Is a Bow," "Hang Out the Flag of Our Door Key," "I'd Like Another Situation Just Like That!," "What Folk's Thru Their Mortals Be," "Hurrah, Hurrah, Hurrah!" and for that," and "Whiche'er You Wilt With." An interpolated number by the author of "Devereaux" entitled "The Garden of Dreams." Both are to the composition of the effects.

We desire a discovery of 15 cents to students. We do this because we have no agents and much prefer dealing direct.
