REPUBLICAN SPEECHES MONDAY

MEN OF NATIONAL FAME TO ADRESS MASS MEETING.

Held in Houston Club at Four O’clock. Speaker Cannon and Congressman Daniel to Address Academy Meeting.

A notable Republican mass meeting will be held in Houston Hall Auditorium Monday afternoon at four o’clock. The meeting will be in charge of Mr. A. A. McKay, 31 Ia., Mr. McKay is a representative from the Forty-third Ward of Philadelphia. Another prominent speaker who has been invited for this meeting is Mr. James A. He is present editor of the State Department of Laws. The other speaker will be W. H. W. W. Quimby (Captain in 1865) and Mr. Moon is now a candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket.

So much favorable comment was accorded by the singing and cheering of the student Republican enthusiasm at the Union League meeting that it is hoped that every Republican will join in a similar cheering section in the meeting which will be held in the Academy of Music Monday night. Both speakers as Speaker Cannon, of the Senate, Congressmen Daniel, and many others well known throughout the United States will make addresses.

VOLUME XXIV.—No. 55

PHILADELPHIA, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1924

PRICE, TWO CENTS

TEAM READY FOR THE INDIANS

KINNEAR WILL NOT BE ABLE TO GET INTO THE GAME.

Walks Through Rines and Past Practice at Winslow Junction Before the Team—Rest of Men in Good Condition.

Franklin Field will today be the scene of the annual struggle between Pennsylvania and the Carina Indians. It is the game for which the coaches and players have been holding their efforts since the beginning of the season, so as not to take matters as in the past two years; and yet on the morning of the game neither team can claim any distinct superiority over the other.

The Philadelphia headquarters was held with the Pennsylvania headquarters last night, and the coaches say that there is very little hope of Kinnean getting into the game. Miller will at all events be in at quarterback, Trainer Murphy was in hopes that a strong snap could be made which would protect Pennsylvania’s ankle, but he now thinks the risk of further injury to the ankle is too great.

Hollenback and Meeker, who have been suffering with knee strains, are doing very well, although the injuries are not likely to hamper their work somewhat. The men are in all the best of spirits and feel thoroughly equal to putting up a great fight. The two days’ stay at Philadelphia—starting—signs—was—benefited the men greatly and he hope to put in top-notch condition.

Trainer Murphy took the men a walk through the grounds in the morning and a fast game drill was held in the afternoon. Miller ran the team well at quarterback. The squad will leave Winslow Junction at 9:41 this morning and are due at the Training Hall at about eleven o’clock.

The Indian team arrived at the No. 110 at nine o’clock last night with a large following. Glen Warner says that his men are all in top condition, and that his team, however, has suffered from the loss of Backer, Moon and Meeker, Pheasant, their three best men last year, and the team is not considered as strong as this year.

There will be a large number of advertisements on the sale at The Pennsylvania office this morning at twenty-five cents apiece, and so many men as possible are urged to buy them, as it will greatly improve the evening.

"Red and Blue" Out To-Day.

The "Red and Blue" for November, out to-day, contains articles by Captain Hollenback, Coach Metzgar, Lloyd Jones and other prominent men in the Pennsylvania athletics. The magazine will start off on new and more popular lines this year, and from the contents of the first number it would seem that much respect is true. Beside special articles on the present football outlook, by Captain Hollenback and Coach Metzgar, there is a very interesting review of the great college games by Lloyd Jones, illustrated throughout by half-tone cuts, while a full-page picture of Captain Hollenback, suitable for framing, will be contained in each number. Ralph White has something to say on the evening in Pennsylvania, and other prominent men have contributed articles on subjects of topical interest, while the History Department is well filled out.
TO-DAY'S GAME.

Once again the Indians are with us, and right heartily do we welcome them. No game of the year is more popular to the students and public at large that our game with the Cardine aggregation each year. It is the most picturesque of our games and certainly within the last two years has proved one of our most exciting games.

The Indians had their first great team in 1899. In 1904 our great eleven and Harvard were the only teams who won from them. Since 1906 they have lost only two games, Harvard winning from them in 1906 by 2-0 and Princeton last year won from them 14-0.

The radical changes in football in the last three years, which have been marked by more open play and the introduction of the forward pass, has proved a boon in the Indian camp. This style of play suits them exactly, as is shown by their remarkable performances for the past two years. Pennsylvanias won from the Indians last in 1906. For the last two years our team has met defeat at their hands, and the question is: Will history repeat itself? We feel confident it will not. This afternoon we are assured the tables will be turned. Our team goes into the game to wipe out the defeats of the last two years, and when any Pennsylvanian team is animated by such a spirit, we don't believe any two Indian teams could win from them.

The team has been at Window Junction for the last two days preparing for the game, and this spells Victory. Pennsylvanias will win today.

THE "RED AND BLUE.

We take pleasure in announcing on the front page of this morning's Pennsylvanian the advent of our college friend, the "Red and Blue." This first issue of the year, which comes from the press to-day, the advance sheets of which are now on hand, we believe is far in advance of the "Red and Blue" publications of past years. Both in attractiveness of design, general make up and in the par excellence of its contents this number takes precedence over all "Red and Blue" attempts of past years, and sets a new and high standard for its publications in the future.

This issue contains interesting articles by well-known and representative men of the University, and we believe that this is the true policy for the board to pursue if it is to raise it to the position it should occupy as a University publication. This number will without doubt meet with the success it deserves.

Rain Prevents Large Mass Meeting.

The mass meeting held last night at the Dormitory Triangle was a success from the standpoint of securing confidence. On account of the rain there was not as large a gathering as was expected. Everyone followed the lead of the band in the singing and the cheer leaders in the cheers.

"The Warrens of Virginia" at Lyric Theatre. Philadelphia, for a fournight, commence Monday, October 26th. David Belasco will present the most powerful of his recent dramas, "The Warrens of Virginia," written by William C. de Mille. The play when produced in Philadelphia last season proved one of the strongest popular successes of its kind. It is a North and South Civil War tale without powder, a vital, thrilling romance that has its life amid the period when a whole country was driven with hatred and retribution. Press the rite of the curtain, showing a mock in the scene at Appomattox, Va., with an engagement between Generals Jim Gifford and Buck Warren of the Northern and Southern forces prominent, the thrill of a great conflict pervades the air. Yet, bigger in interest than the Federal spirit is the gripping love story whose complications make for the substance of the play. Rarely before has charming young womanhood been drawn with a more artistic hand than the author of this play has drawn Augusta Warren, the Southern girl played by Charlotte Walker. A gift of fine impulses, she conveys an ideal of the flower of Southern womanhood at a time when the country below Bailey was as great a factor among national and social values as any portion of the country. War plays of the '61-'65 period are always absorbing when well written. "The Warrens of Virginia," as written by Playwright de Mille, staged by Mr. Belasco, and played by Frank Keenan, Charlotte Walker and the Belasco company, is conceded popularly to rank first among all the stage issues of the season so far written.
