Pennsylvania woke this morning to find that, as it has done three or four mornings, the ice was gone, and everywhere, evidences that the Sophomores were, for the great part, successfully keeping, or were at least in the process of keeping, a series of activities that are not supposed to go together.

The principal event of the day was the Freshman Parade, which was held at 3.30 A.M., and which was attended by the entire Freshman class and a large number of upperclassmen.

The parade started at the Freshman dormitories, proceeded down 14th Street, and then turned west on Locust Street, where it was joined by the majority of the Sophomores, who had come by train from New York.

The parade then proceeded north on Locust Street, passing through the Student Union, the main building of the University, and then turned west again, passing through the law school, the medical school, and the engineering school, before returning to the campus.

The parade was followed by a band concert in the Student Union, and then by a football game in the Bowl, which ended with a score of 17-0 in favor of the Freshmen.

The weather was cold and windy, but the students were in good spirits, and the parade was a great success.

THE PENNSYLVANIAN

FOWNES GLOVES—
The way they're made has a good deal to do with the way they wear.

NEW YORK "SUN" COMMENTS.
question never will be settled positively.
However, our claims are strong.
We handled Brown with much answer case than did either Harvard or Yale.
We simply crushed Lafayette after Princeton had had difficulty in losing the team from Iowa.
We submitted a terrible defeat to Michigan, which is without doubt the strongest team in the West.
Our victory is admitted by football authorities to be harder than either Harvard, Yale or Princeton.
Yet, we scored 45 more points than Yale, in more than Harvard, and 114 more than Princeton.
The claim that Harvard is as strong as Pennsylvania is based upon the showing made by the two teams in the Indian game; but Pennsylvania's terrific crippled condition accounts for the showing made in this game.
We should have a game with Harvard, Yale or Princeton. All three would suit us, but one is necessary.
Those who have the initiative and speed we could get busy, and see that by next season we should be at least on this basis in our schedule.

Pennsylvania's Society Program.
An attractive literary program has been arranged for the regular meeting of the Pennsylvania society tonight. Entitled "The Honor of Debating" and "How to Win a Critic" for an English Course" will be read by Bob and Clev.
The debate will be on the subject "Resolved That for the Department of Arts the senior system of "graded marking" is preferable." On it and II, Honors will take the affirmative and Moore and Clevan will defend the negative.
Five in the literary program several new members will be introduced.

Zelosophic Debate Trials.
Trials for the annual debate between the Harvard Society of Columbia Colllege and the Zelosophic Society will be held tonight. The question is:
"Resolved. That boards of arbitration with compulsory power should be estab-lshed to settle disputes between employers and wage earners." The second trials for the annual play to be given during the senior class of most promising will also be held at the same time. Basement only as a few membere come out Wednesday night, no definite and final selection could be made.

Novice Wrestling Tournament.
All those interested in wrestling should enter the novice events, which right next Monday. The preliminaries will be on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon, from 4:30 to 6:30 each, all who have not been in force undergraduate meets having entered.
Cups will be awarded to the winners of seven classes, 155, 150, 145, 140, 135, 125 and over 125 pounds. Candidates report to Captain Waite or Manager Verger.

Cross-Country Run Next.
The cross-country team is reading now for the coming intercollegiate meet at Princeton this afternoon. The first practice run was held on Wednesday at Princeton, and the next practice runs will be held this year.
