The Pennsylvania Field Sports and Huntress Club has nothing whatever to do with the Army-Navy Week. It is a private club located on Pennsylvania Avenue, and its members are not connected with the events of the week.

The Big Red team left Ithaca at seven o'clock last evening bound for this city. It is expected they will arrive at eight o'clock this evening, and will be met at the railroad station by the coaches. The members of the Big Red team will be housed in a large hotel in the city, and will have an opportunity to get acquainted with their opponents before the game.

The Princeton team left New Brunswick at ten o'clock last evening, and arrived in this city at eleven o'clock. They will be housed in a large hotel in the city, and will have an opportunity to get acquainted with their opponents before the game.

THANKSGIVING NUMBER.

The special Cornell-Pennsylvania number of The Pennsylvania appears to-morrow morning. We take pride in saying that we believe it will be the best and most complete issue of The Pennsylvania which has ever appeared. This special issue will consist of an eight-page edition, and will contain cuts of the two teams and of individual players, and will be a regular catalogue of the athletic achievements of the University.

... EXTRA EDITION.

For the first time in the history of the University The Pennsylvania will publish an Extra tomorrow, giving full details of the game. The Extras will be sold at the gates as the people come out from the game, and should prove a tremendous success. This innovation on the part of The Pennsylvania in getting out an Extra on the game deserves the support of every Pennsylvania man. It is in keeping with the spirit of the present board, which is wide awake, working hard and working always with the good of Pennsylvania in view. Buy the Extras and spread the news.

... COMMUNICATIONS.

The Pennsylvania is always very willing to publish communications on any matter of interest to the undergraduates or the University at large. There is one thing, however, we insist upon, that the communication be signed by the person who wrote it. We will under no consideration publish anything that is anonymous. We will not even consider it.

The Pennsylvania takes upon itself no responsibility for the sentiments expressed by the contributors to the communication column, and we hold that any news which is of sufficient importance to be printed in this column should bear the name on the copy of the man who wrote it. If we should for any reason withhold the name from the article, we will gladly give it to anyone who inquires.

This will explain to why certain ridiculous and silly communications whose writers did not care to sign their names have not been published.

The Pennsylvania desires more contributions to this column. Communications of a sane and serious nature show a lively and healthy interest of the undergraduate body in University affairs. This is what is needed and this is what we want, and The Pennsylvania is only too anxious to print such communications at any time.

... THE MASS MEETING.

Tomorrow morning the football team returns from the Whitemarsh Country Club. They will arrive at the Training House about eleven o'clock. The game with Cornell, which begins at two o'clock, will be without doubt the hardest game of the season, and more than this, might prove to be one of the hardest contests ever waged on Franklin Field. It is absolutely necessary that the team be made to feel before they enter the game that they have the University behind them as a unit. To make them play their best game and if necessary to play beyond themselves, the good citizen and enthused thousands of the 4,000 undergraduates must thrill them and spur them on to play the greatest game of their lives. At 11:15 to-morrow morning a monster mass meeting will be held in the Triangle. From here, headed by the University Band, they will march to the Training House to cheer the team. It is necessary that the mass meeting be made the largest of the year. The team needs it. No undergraduate body is more loyal to its teams than is Pennsylvania, and this fact alone we feel insures the success of this meeting.

and sit in other parts of the stands. The cheering at this game is needed more than at any other, as it is always one of our hardest games. The Penn- sylvania advises that each under- graduate secures a megaphone for this occasion. Michigan used megaphones at the Pennsylvanias game at Ann Ar- bor, and it improved their cheering fourfold. Let us do the same tomorrow. Megaphones will be on sale at the Field, and the students can buy them on presenting the tickets. Everybody bring one and make the cheering the greatest that has ever been heard on Franklin Field. Another suggestion: Buy flags and add some color to the cheering section. Make the under- graduate sections of the stands a waving mass of Red and Blue—some- thing which has never been seen be- fore at any of our games. The game is worth it, so everyone buy megaphones and flags, bring them to the game, and use them.
