An announcement has been made by the University basketball management of the schedule for the coming season, and from all appearances the games will furnish as much excitement and provide as much interest as they did last year. The list of twenty-six games includes matches with all the professional

Stagg Praises Pennsylvania
A downtown evening paper printed the following news item, quoting Coach Stagg as favoring Pennsylvania for the leadership in football:

He said: "Pennsylvania has as good a team as any university or college in the country. Mr. Stagg said:

There will be ten of them, as the will be played in Welghtman Hall. It is expected to develop a strong five. Practice, but there must be at least fifteen men who have been reporting for the team; so far about 15 candidates for the first. Just now one thing is needed — the taking and the spirit shown from the very start. The football season requires that interest be shown. Those who are new, and a success — that is what we are aiming for. The games, among which those against Navy game the glad hand of welcome. From army and navy, officials of high rank, Cadets from West Point, midshipmen from Annapolis, grizzled warriors of long experience... but for none was the welcome so warm as for the veterans of former years! We have proven worthy of the faith placed in us. We are justified in the position we had taken. We are proved to us that we were justified in our claim that we deserve the championship. The Harvard game set the pace. We are determined to hold it. We have proven that we are one of the finished and perfect fighting machines in the country. We do not care to be boasted of... we feel that the Pennsylvania team is second to no football team in America, and we are supported in this by the most eminent football critics, some of whom claim that we deserve the championship. We have made claims of championship honors for our team in The Pennsylvania for the last two weeks which were of course dependent on the name of the team, the entire season compared with the record made by the other big teams, justified such claims. The game on Thanksgiving further proved to us that we were justified in the position we had taken. We are justly proud of the men who have proven worthy of the faith placed in them and who have once more set the Red and Blue waving triumphantly over both the East and the West.

Victory! Half Pennsylvania. Congratulations to Captain Hollihan back and to every member of Pennsylvania's 1908 football team. Well might we be proud of them, and we cannot sing their praises too much or too long. Pennsylvania has never been represented by a better team in her history nor have any of her elevens of former years been composed of men of more stirring or sterner stuff. Pennsylvania's victory over Cornell by the score of 17 to 4 was a glorious ending of a glorious season. With one of the hardest schedules ever arranged for any college team, we have shown the season without a defeat and with only one tie game. We have handled with ease teams which have played Yale and Princeton to a standstill, and one of these Harvard won from with difficulty. The team as a whole we believe to be one of the most finished and perfect fighting machines in the country. We do not care to be boasted of; with our record behind us this is unnecessary, but we sincerely feel that the Pennsylvania team is second to no football team in America, and we are supported in this by the most eminent football critics, some of whom claim that we deserve the championship. We have made claims of championship honors for our team in The Pennsylvania for the last two weeks which were of course dependent on the name of the team, the entire season compared with the record made by the other big teams, justified such claims. Notice to A. A. Members. Owing to an error made by the printer the official ballot of nominees wrongly states the name of "John H. Cochran, '11 L." as one of the nominees from the Law Department. This should be Joseph H. Cochran, '11 L. Signed: Horace M. Lippincott, Secretary, Athletic Association, University of Pennsylvania.

Shenandoah Debate Trials. Trials for the Shenandoah team to debate against the Philadelphia Society will be held on Friday evening, December 6th.

Attention is called to the games that will be played in Westhampton Hall this year! There will be ten of them, as the schedule shows, and the student body can show its interest by noting down the dates and attending everyone of the games.
