A cold and dim wind grooved the crews in their early venture upon the river yesterday afternoon, when Coach repaired to his boat, where he charged his men to get their Platform basis for a brisk spin from the Wayne boat house. The Columbia crew made a brave race across the Wayne Bridge and return. The water was comparable to a small flood, with a rowed well together for the first day. The three Columbia men did not lack in the others and several in the other crew. Only working boats were made use of yesterday. The Varsity will, how- ever, be put into the shells shortly, as there is only five weeks' time before the race with Yale on April 15th. This contest will probably be over a two-mile course.

In picking the slate, the suggestion of a regular first Varsity much earlier than usual, The Spirit is a present composed of three veterans in Sports, Senor, Nick, and Smith. The Varsity color will be adopted for the first boat. Westcott is co-captain, and the second Varsity. The Varsity crews are: Stieve, stroke of last year's Varsity; Smith, of the same boat, in the third Varsity, and Aftet, a stroke of last year's Varsity. The women's first and fourth octopede. In the fourth Varsity.

The Spirit new crew is now composed of Mr. Meld, the former of the eight. Talbert, and Harris, substitutions in the same boat; Fryer, who was placed in reserve for last fall, Korschult, who had rowed in Washington and who is returning as well as the same position as last year. He will be suited in the third of the eight. The Varsity is all together, a stroke of last year's Varsity; Smith, of the same boat, in the third Varsity, and Aftet, a stroke of last year's Varsity. The women's first and fourth octopede. In the fourth Varsity.

Another Communication Regarding the "Varsity Trio," the Varsity was the first after which the Varsity eight went out at two a.m. The octopede shell could not be brought into the new over-rolled boat house, so they crossed formal, and fixed up several vacations in the other house.
primarily organized to fight the political apathy prevalent among college students. It has for its aim the thorough study of political institutions, and attempts to improve the college men in the responsibilities of citizenship. The league is strictly non-partisan, and its work would undoubtedly appeal to many undergraduates at Pennsylvania. Some steps have already been taken in the Law School to organize a branch of this league. Dean Lewis, of the Law School, and Director Young and Professor Rowe, of the Wharton School, are interested in the movement, and will undoubtedly aid in effectuating such an organization. THE PENNSYLVANIAN stands ready to render such aid as it might be possible for it to render. We are hearty in the belief that such an organization can do much good in a university, and we hope to see a branch of this league established at Pennsylvania.

Orotorial Contest in Spring. Pennsylvania is in line in the movement to forward oratory in colleges. A contest will be held about the middle of April for which only Seniors will be eligible. A first prize of thirty dollars and a second prize of twenty dollars has been secured for the two winners in each college, who will represent Pennsylvania in an intercollegiate meet.

Special Architeetural Meet. At the regular meeting of the first floor Society in Architecture, held yesterday, the following officers were elected for the second term: President, H. A. Anderson, Vice-President, M. Jaen; Secretary, R. J. Wadsworth; Treasurer, H. E. Trythell; Sergeant-at-Arms, N. Uting.

Bowling Tournament. The standing of the bowling tournament, which is now in progress, is as follows: Veterinary, Mechanical Engineering, College of Dental, 1921 D. Team representing The Bar and the Medical School have not as yet played any games.

Freshman Banquet Notice. Tickets for the Freshman banquet, to be held Thursday evening, are now on sale at two dollars each. None will be sold after today. Tickets may be bought from any of the committee.

Exchanges. Forty-five men have reported for Princeton's baseball team.

The musical clubs of Columbia have been organized into an association to be called "Notice and Keys." The University of Michigan has the oldest Young Men's Christian Association. It was organized on October 12, 1865, and has a present active membership of five hundred.

F. Hopkins Smill the well-known author and artist, delivered an able address last week before the students of Columbia University on "American Hand and Thought." G. A. Horwood, who has refereed nearly all of the intercollegiate hockey games, has resigned as a referee team. He gives Yale, Harvard and Princeton each two places and Dartmouth one. The cut system at Columbia University has been entirely abolished and a man may now register for any and all examinations. Yet if he passes the examinations the course in recitation will receive full credit. Formerly the Columbia system was the same as that used here—that a man was only allowed ten per cent. cut and with anything in excess of this he was debarred from the final examination. The system now in use was seized with entire approval from the undergraduate body.
