DORMITORY TENNIS COURTS.

Many communications have been received in the past several days in the Dormitories, heartily endeavoring and pleading earnestly. In the interest of placing tennis courts in the "Big Quad," indeed the undergraduates will do all in their power to further the cause, and to that end the following money is necessary for their construction and maintenance.

The following letter from Dr. Gildersleeve shows the firm stand of the Partial Committee to take the matter up and handle it from the different houses in the near future.

Kinner of The Pennsylvaniaian.

Dear Sir—Regarding your editorials on tennis at the Alumni, I wish to state that the matter is now in the hands of a committee of the Board of Benefactors who are ready to collect funds and see that the courts are installed.

A few years ago there were tennis courts on the old Schiefer Farm, now the "Big Quad," but building operations made their removal necessary. Last fall the alumni subscribed liberally to construct courts in the "Quad," with the understanding that if the alumni failed to complete the building, the courts and the cost of maintenance would be assumed by the Dormitory residents. If the Dormitory residents will take the matter up in such condition as to add to the appearance of the "Quad," to meet this situation, the alumni will be agreeable to construct good courts, which will be leased to the alumni, and the latter will provide a fund for their maintenance.

Since it is not expected that sufficient funds will be raised this year to build such courts as we desire, it is possible, that all who desire to play may do so.

We assure the students that every possible thing will be done toward construction of the courts in the "Quad," and ask that all who desire to play by paying what little the courts will cost will do so.

I am sorry that enough courts cannot be put in to accommodate the whole body of students, but the Law School will undoubtedly offer adequate facilities for the students now in residence who are most desirous of playing, and the others may take possession of the courts, which will be kept in proper order.

Very truly yours,
NATHANIEL GILDERSELEY.

Opera Season Near Close.

From 1.30 to 2.15 o'clock today reduction cards for "Fautst" at the Philadelphia Opera House will be distributed at the offices of the Pennsylvaniaian. As previously announced, Constantino and Amiculese, both of whom have become quite familiarly entrenched in Philadelphia's popular affections, will play the principal roles. As is seen from the list of operas advertised for next week, Mr. Hammerstern is closing the season with a burst of glory. With half a dozen operas and a week of concerts and receptions of the best in his modern style, the opera season in March will be a fine one to close the magnificent season of opera at the new house will be a fine one for the opera lovers in Philadelphia. The opera for the next Studenl Night is "Fauin." With Miss Garber in the titular role.

Wrestling Notices.

CRICKET PROSPECTS BRIGHT.

Seven Men Form Nucleus to Build on Canadian Trip Under Consideration—Men Report March 20th.

Pennsylvania's cricket prospects are particularly bright this year, for although four of last year's team have gone to the West Indies, there are seven veterans in college, and Captain Howard will have no difficulty in turning out a championship eleven.

The official report on March 26th, and outdoor practice will begin in the early part of April. A large number of games are expected on this report, and with the "Varsity men as nucleus to a strong team, there is no doubt in building up a winning combination.

Manager Crowell is arranging a number of matches and about Philadelphia for both the Varsity and second teams, with the ultimate intention of taking a Canadian tour. This project was accomplished so successfully last year. Some of the strongest Philadelphian club teams will be played, in order that there may be fully as much competition against the strong teams as in Canada last year.

This trip of successful negotiations will be completed, and a number of matches will be played in the end of March, just in time to be won, which will close Monday, June 7th, and include games with the Universities of Pennsylvania, Dartmouth, Gurt and Ottawa, besides several other matches with other local clubs. The complete schedule will be published shortly.

Those men who are back this year at Penn, in addition to the "goggle demon" bowler and batsman, who is among the most prominent in college cricket today—during the recent Philadelphia tournament. Some of the Gentlemen of Philadelphia Eleven, who were prominent in college cricket last year, will again be very prominent this year. An average of 636 runs per wicket in fifteen matches, a remarkable record when the number of games played is considered. A number of these games have been played.

There is no doubt that the bowling department of the team will show a decided improvement over last year, and the bowling will prove very effective against the strong teams.

The President, the Almanac, and the students, have been very much to the strength of the team, and the President will do his utmost to carry the team to a championship.

E. C. Hurley, manager of the "American" club, will again be at the helm, and with the help of the members of the "Black" team, the President should also prove strong in the bowling department this year. The team will be very definitely led by a reliable left-hand batsman

Sales is a good all around player, and a promising batsman from Drexel and his backers, who is in the final list of the best in the class, is a frank and energetic batsman. In addition such players as Drinkwine and Clem, both former Haverford star, and he is doing more credit to his usual style.

Morris will undoubtedly be in good shape for the hard contests, and A. Hunter and Satchell are both excellent players. In addition such players as Drinkwine and Clem, both former Haverford star, and he is doing more credit to his usual style.

The Philadelphia Physical Club and the Haverford Physical Club both meet yesterday afternoon at five o'clock. As previously announced, the members from the regular routine work in that two gradu- ate-students, and each of the other clubs under the regular routine work in the laboratory. The former reported on a frequency meter for alternating currents, which he had de- veloped into a convenient and simple production of 0.15 by electric discharge.

Deutscher Verein Celebration.

Fifteen members of the German Verein held a social last night in the main room of the Pennsylvaniaian offices at 1.15 in Room 102. Everyone is invited to the next meeting.

SENIOR BANQUET MARCH 26.

Class of 1909 to Hold Its Last Undergraduate "Spread" at Rittenhouse.

H. B. Register Toastmaster.

At a meeting of the Senior Banquet Committee, which met yesterday, arrangements were made for this last "Spread" of the year for the Senior undergraduates.

H. B. Register was selected as Toastmaster. Register has been prominent in both class and University activities all through his college career. In his Freshman year with Dewhurst he won the interscholastic double championship, for which he was awarded his "Varsity" letter. He has been actively identified with minor athletics. His participation in the Associated Students Sports Committee, has held several offices in his class, and for two years has taken a prominent part in the Architectural Society play.

A most attractive list of speakers has been selected. President Cockram, following tradition, will address the assembly, "The Class," Prof. Stearns, who has played the principal role in "Hansel and Gretel," will speak on "Athletics." Rosenau will talk on "Publications." Trowbridge, "The Indians." Per- til, prominent for several years in the Band and 9th productions, will pay a well deserved toast to that organization. Kenneth Cooke, who is a Phi Beta, President, will deal with class history and traditions. At social events it may be continued by one or both of "The Future," in which Ballard will respond.

An announcement of the time of the banquet will be held Friday evening, March 26th, at 7.30 in the Aidan room to be three dollars a plate. Pro- f. Stearns has asked with the President, and special attention has been given to the musical numbers. It is hoped that no one will miss the opportunity of hearing such an assembly.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the following committee: Platt, Landis, Satter, Dickson, Kie- gel, Reisig, Rowland, Kon-Woodland, Westcott, Brown, Chairman.

Junior Banquet To-Night.

The Class of 1909. will hold its third annual banquet at the Rittenhouse to-night at seven o'clock. The committee to-prior to the occasion to be prepared, and from the sale of tickets the proceeds will be used to defray the expenses of the banquet. Allan Smith will act as Toastmaster, and the toasts and those responding are as follows: "Athlet- ics," Harry P. Braedwall, "Publica- tions," Samuel Rosenau; "The Faculty," James F. Ferguson; "Interna- tionals," Edwar H. Newberry; "The Ladies," Andrew D. Hoover; "Old Things," Albert C. Miller; "The Class." During Wor- tor.

The Banquet Committee consists of the following: C. W. Misland, G. H. Binder, H. E. Bliss, M. Morris, H. P. Kirkner, J. W. K. Kerrigan, L. G. Biddle Club; B. A. Wood, E. Wood, H. L. Campbell, B. M. Schmacker, H. Vorrey, H. E. Woodall, S. D. Newell, and A. H. Stanley, Chairman. The committee will hold its meeting in Room 203, College Hall, to get a final report, when all money and un- sold tickets are expected to be turned in at that time.

Dr. Ames Honored.

At the recent meeting of the Alumni Association of the University, Dr. Herman V. Ames, Professor of Astronomy in the University and Dean of the Graduate School of the University, was elected President of the Alumni Association.

Senior Class Meeting.

Important meeting of the Senior Class on Friday, at 1.15, in Room 205, College Hall.

FACULTY CLUB TO ORGANIZE.

Professors and Members of Graduate School Desire Luncheon Room. Now Have No Meeting Place.

Notices were sent out yesterday to professors and members of the Graduate School of the University urging the re-establishment of the old Faculty Club. These notices were received at 8:00 o'clock last night at Longworth. It is proposed to conduct the Club under its old charter, except that the entire responsibility of catering will be assumed by a steward.

The dues suggested have been made low enough to enable every member of the Faculty and the students of the Graduate School to become members. The amount thus realized will furnish and equip a club building with comfortable lounging and smoking rooms, library, private reading rooms, and the collateral advantages of a club. It is proposed to furnish the new room with a number of small tables seating eight each, and one large table seating twenty, or a total capacity of seventy-five. The committee forms a nucleus and meets with the hearty approval of the Provost.

At present there is no meeting place for members of the University Faculty for the social intercourse and for becoming acquainted with each other. There are no limits to its usefulness. There is no place within walking distance of the University, aside from the Faculty Club, where a meal can be obtained. Of the four four, notably students, few, if any, take advantage of them. The faculty takes them in entertainments, formally or informally, which can be done at little or no cost, either by entertaining on a small scale or entertaining in an elaborate manner.

Diphtheria Patients Improving.

Frank Mitchells, one of the students of the Municipal Hospital, Tuesday, surprisingly suffering from diphtheria, full of life and hope, that institution yesterday. L. B. Spiker, 12, who was removed to the Municipal Hospital yesterday, also has the disease. Both patients are expected to be discharged from the hospital at any moment. They will be kept in a clean and well-scrubbed hospital and are expected to make a complete recovery.

Weather Report.

United States Weather Forecast for today.

H. B. Register Toastmaster.
Berge, who has been in the field of music and art education for many years, is well known for his work in the development of the Epic in France and the United States. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the National Music Association and has been invited to speak at many educational institutions around the country. Recent publications include "The Future of Music Education," which was released last year. Berge is also a frequent contributor to the "Journal of Music Education." He is currently working on a new project titled "The Role of Music in Society," which is expected to be published next year. Berge resides in his home surrounded by his many guitars and musical instruments. He is married to Mary Berge, a talented pianist and singer, and they have three children named John, Sarah, and Michael. The family enjoys spending time together, playing music, and exploring the vast world of art and music.
