FENCING-GYMNASTIC MEETS.

Yale fencing meets. The Yale fencing meets were held on Friday evening in the Winter Gymnasium, and a number of the Yale fencing crew were present.

The meet consisted of a single match between Yale and Pennsylvania. The Yale team was victorious, winning 9-1. This was the first time in recent memory that Yale has defeated Pennsylvania in fencing.

The meet was a good one, and both teams showed fine form. The Yale team was led by Captain John E. Martin, who played a brilliant match against the Pennsylvania captain, whom he defeated 6-3. The other Yale fencers also showed good form, and the team was in fine condition for the meet.

Yale fencing is one of the strongest teams in the country, and it is expected to do well in the coming season.

We are hearty in favor of the appointment by the Undergraduate Committee of a number of upperclassmen who will take into their hands the task of formulating plans for the hazing of the next college year along the lines which we have indicated. It is our belief that this plan will serve as an effective means to ensure that the future of our university shall not be saddled with the liabilities we have been discussing. We believe that the future of our university shall not be saddled with the liabilities that we have been discussing.

HABDO

Appraisals of the recent communications concerning the subject of hazing which have appeared in the columns of The Pennsylvanian, we feel that at last men are coming to the front who consider the matter in the proper light. Both communications have come to us from men of good common sense and judgment, and what they have written should be seriously considered by the undergraduate body.

The proper note seems to have been struck in emphasizing the fact that the ultimate aim of hazing men is not to make them mere objects of ridicule, but rather to instill in them a knowledge and love of all things Pennsylvanian.

We are not radiatingly opposed to the harmless hazing in view of Pennsylvanians, but so much consideration it is hardly a fitting reception to men entering the University to put them before the public in such a way that, although they will hardly forget the experience, they will feel small cause to remember it either with gratitude or with pleasure. Entering as they do upon an entirely new life, it should be our first duty to give them glimpses of what Pennsylvanians really stands for. Her traditions, her songs, her cheers, are the things with which they should become familiar. To what better advantage could be used than to familiarize the entering class with the real essence of what it means to be a member of the University?

To bring about such a result does not necessitate the turn-up tussle, the coat turned inside out, or the lock-step procession to the Botanical Gardens. Quite on the contrary, it has been decided that the college year shall be marked by the development of plans which will make hazing at Pennsylvania a matter of vital importance rather than a laughable performance which has no excuse outside of its triviality.
