Seniors Hold Last Banquet.

Brilliant Social Function of the Class of 1909 Held at the Hotel Rittenhouse Last Evening.

Holding their last banquet as under-Graduates, the Senior Class of the University, whose Rittenhouse last evening and young American was marked with the utmost success.

Harold Starcher acted as Toast-MASTER, and speeches were made by the present graduating class. They included Professor Weygandt, Young, Crawford, in his semi-oral manner, which startled with wit and humor. He told the story of the great evolution that takes place in class beneficiaries, but he earnestly resembled "a slaughter of the innocents." W. E. Thalesworth shows a sense of dignity of masculinity as the motive for their class social functions.

The Pennsylvanian will be represented by many of last year's nine, and the new men will appear before looking up exceedingly well in practice. It will be nothing better than Red and Blue nine to be in a game, for the work all along has consisted in practice games with the "Varsity" pitched against the Scrub. The names of eighteen men will appear on the program, and it is Coach Thomas' intention to give even the second nine a try out. Thayer and Wood will be seen at center and left fields respectively. For right and center, Joseph J. McKelvey, Smith, Kerr, and Carr. All of these candidates have been working a great deal, and they seem to fill the position creditably. Thayer has been chosen for first base. He has been doing good work at second base. McKelvey, a member of the "Varsity eleven, wealthy responded any one of them. W. E. Thalesworth's amiable character, propounding the future of some men, or the future of a group of the ideals of a true Pennsylvanian man should be.

Stewart H. Cochrane, of the "Varsity" baseball team and President of the University's Christian Association, was on hand yesterday. His talk was earnest and sincere. He spoke about the "Varsity" and the Spring cricket team. He said that University after graduation and what the individual members may accomplish.

As a fitting end were chosen the "Varsity" and "Orange and Black" teams. The "Varsity" winning from the Scrub by one run, and Pennsylvania third. Mike Murphy was also the guest of honor. Several long bits, made in the final approach, were credited to Professor H. W. Minter and McEntee al second base, and Bamlley at shortstop; Fischer, third base; El-ework all along has consisted in practice games. Practice yesterday will be assured of a try out in one or more of the games.

The practice yesterday afternoon in the Department Bowling Tournament at the Flamingo was won by Goeddel, Jr., Thayer, F. B. Strongton, H. V. Hordern, '10, D.; Winter, '11 C. E.; C. Crockett, '90, D.; H. Smith, '11. The following men will go to the University meets the Orange and Black at one o'clock at the Gymnasium, should have no difficulty in outdistancing the second boat. The second boat was unable to win out by three lengths of open water. The second boat was unable to reach the first boat in the final approach, and cannot be set to a couple of length behind the rear. The new second will be the position creditably. Thayer and Wood will be seen at centre and left fields respectively. For right and centre, Joseph J. McKelvey, Smith, Kerr, and Carr. All of these candidates have been working a great deal, and they seem to fill the position creditably. Thayer has been chosen for first base. He has been doing good work at second base. Varsity vs. Yale.

The varsity's third intercollegiate soccer match will take place this afternoon at the Girard High School grounds at Wayne, when they will play the strong Yale eleven. Thus far the Red and Blue team has won one, lost one and forfeited one game. A defeat in the final game of the season at the hands of Columbia and a necessary victory over Harvard will cement the team considerably, and all chances of making the intercollegiate championship were lost before the schedule had been scarcely begun. The line-up for today's game is as follows: Yale—Forwards, Holbrook, Merrill, Godshall, Beardley, Foster; half-backs, Johnson, Fogg; full-backs, Jennings, McKee; goal, Charles. Pennsylvania—Forwards, Phifer, Van Kuyk, Crockett, J. J. O'Farrell, B. Blade; half-backs, E. A. Woolf, Crowell; full-backs, Marcus, Finn; goal, Horner. Reserve—T. T. Whitman. Time of halves—Twenty minutes.
