RELAY RACES ANNOUNCED.

Contestants Number Among the Hundreds—Pennsylvania is the Favorite in the Four-Mile Event.

Next Saturday will see the fifteenth renewal of the annual relay races, a distinctively Pennsylvanian affair, which draws more colleges and schools in Pennsylvania than any other series of events in the country. Over two hundred relay entries have been received, with a number that is far greater than any previous year.

Draws for position have been made and Pennsylvania has been fortu-

The event is scheduled to take place at 1.15 on the mile track and third place in the two-mile relay.

It is probable that several of the teams which have been entered will be scratched, but should they all appear at the line the race can be run.

Haverford and Princeton seem to be the contenders for the two-mile championship. The former, under the coaching of Kriipps, Villa and Spinif. The latter lost but one race during the Eastern Association meet that Pennsylvania.

Boys' Red and Blue quartet that defeated them will be entered in the four-mile championship and a much weaker combination will compete in this event.

Princeton bases her hopes on the great showing made at the New York Athletic Club games several weeks ago, when the Orange and Black captured nearly every place in the distance runs.

Whipps and Praxt have been doing better than two minutes in the half mile and Coach Con impartially thinks he has two men who will make that mark. Dartmouth is an unknown quantity, while little is heard from Columbia.

Pennsylvania and Michigan will fight it out for the four-mile championship, Yale and Ohio State as the other entries.

The Red and Blue have a very fast four, this distance and will be represented by Paul, Beck, Levering and Stope, who in the indoor two-mile relay this season have run great time. These men seem to be even better fitted for four miles, as they are all long-distance runners. The next four minutes and thirty seconds, and Trainer Murphy has great hopes of de-tettie that will do the course in record time.

A Freshman championship one-mile relay will be run between Princeton and Pennsylvania, and a speed race between the youngsters is assured.

There are six college relays, six preparatory school races, six high school, two preparatory and five grammar school contests.

In addition there will be special events, consisting of the one hundred-yard dash, the one hundred and twenty-five harder yards, and the one-mile. Jump, shot put, hammer throw, broad jump, discus throw and discus. In all these there will be forty-two contests during the day.

The relay races will begin at 1.30 o'clock and the field events at two.

CHOOISINGS A PROFESSION.

Many men who graduate from the College Department this year are con-fronted now with the question of what they shall take up as their life work. The time is drawing near when a decision must be made, and as so much depends upon this decision, they are loth to make it. A man should of course choose the course in life which he believes he is best adapted to follow. He will be influenced by his ideals. If it is his ambition to make money and accumulate a fortune he will certainly not choose the profession of teaching; if his ideal in life is sacrifice, he will choose medicine or the ministry, teaching or the like. Every person is mercilessly guided by his ideals and tastes, and chooses his life work accordingly. Money is a necessary factor in choosing a career or profession, and has to be taken into consideration, but we hope that money alone is far from the ideal of college-trained men. There are certainly other factors of greater importance than gold which should be taken into consideration when the momentous matter of choosing a profession for life is hanging in the balance.

President Eliot, of Harvard, delivered an excellent address recently on "Education as a Career." The address is so full of good ideas on education that we quote it part: of:

"Most of the men in our colleges and universities are lames, and men who have come up through educational work of one kind or another. Of course there are still denominational institutions whose heads are still expected to be denominational men, but it is a fact that the denominational institutions are not the most influential and most likely to progress and grow; and I say, therefore, that the development of science and universi- ties offer an excellent career to men who have acquired knowledge, who love research, who love teaching and educational administration. They are places of great service, but after all, what is the main inducement to the professor of education as a career, in which one looks forward to getting a living, but not much else. The main inducement is the delight of the life. The career of education is, to my thinking, the highest, the most in- tellectual, and the most rewarding as regards services and the direct evidence of services than in any of the other professions. In all professions there is this great element of services, and there is in most careers a certain altruistic feeling. This is especially true of the profession of the ministry, but some of these professions so serviceable and justifiable are per- sued under painful conditions. Thus the profession of medicine, which is infinitelyIncreaseable to the com- munity, to the practitioner and to all concerned, must be said to be often exercised under real pain and distress for a really sympathetic man. This is not true of the career of teaching. It lends itself more readily to sympathy better than any other profession except that of the ministry. Is not that an induc- ment to enter this profession for any man who has the foresight of course, a great many young men have no fore- sight at all to speak of, but for a young man who has, I recommend the profession of teaching as one in which he will find the career possible to relish the joys of life.

"I believe on the whole the deepest hope rests on the man who embraces an education career.

Three "Varsity Men Drop Rowing.
Pennsylvania's chances for a cham- pionship crew at Penn mountains were materially lessened yesterday af- ternoon by the announcements of three of the men of the Varsity boat that they expect to drop rowing for the year. Those men are Schellinck, Brad- dock and Rogers. Rogers is a veteran oarsman, while Schellinck and Bradock have rowed in the four. Rogers and Schellinck find it impossible to devote as much time to rowing and at the same time handle their work properly. Bradock, who has placed in football and basketball, finds a third sport too much.

Unless these men can be persuaded to stay with Coach Ward will have a giant's task before him to develop a creditable crew for Poughkeepsie. Brown went back to his old position at bow yesterday in place of Hoagland, who moved to No. 3. Thompson is at No. 2 in Rogers' place and Benn- nett went to No. 7 in Braddock's place.

Dormitory Baseball.

One of the leading events will be a fours-daunt race with crews composed of women from that university.
