Spalding's Annual for 1909 Out To-day: Dormitory Courts, in Shape at Last, to Open on Monday.

Spalding Lawn Tennis Annual for 1909 Out To-day: Complete and Entertaining Account of the Trip of the American Team to Australia. The Illustrations of all the articles are excellent and a complete recreation is found in the pictures.

Details of all the intercollegiate tournaments are published with the rankings for 1909.

Wallace Johnson, ’11, is placed in Class 4 with such players as Robert Leiper, ’11, Robert Warfield, ’11, and R. H. Palmer. The only men who are ranked very high as tennis players are Wallace Johnson, the University tennis team, and the students from Pennsylvania.

John H. Converse was the presiding officer. Rev. C. A. U. Janvier, It. ’10, Mi. Willis, Kelton, and Mr. D. S. Evans. The speeches all concerned various activities in the church. The reception was given for the Presbyterian members of the Senior Class by the Christian Association of the University. Mr. J. Herrmann, A. J. Drexel Biddle, Philadelphia’s hero, and several other members of the class have been working hard and will be on display in the several events. It is probable that Philadelphia society will be well represented at the sports.

Christian Association Reception.

The annual spring handicaps, to be held on Franklin Field, will be considered the opening of the season. They have been playing steadily but weak at the bat. Victories over the New York City and New York papers spoke highly of the pitchers to depend upon and the support given them was excellent. The support given them was excellent. In general, the team has been playing steadily but weak at the bat.

One hundred yards handicap—Ramsdell, scratch; McSween, eight yards; MacElhone, eight yards; Satchell, eight yards; Williams, Broughton, Scranton, ten yards; Captain Hordern, twenty-five yards; Frohman, twenty-five yards; Cammer, seventeen yards.

THE PENNSYLVANIAN

First Undergraduate Address
Delivered by Dale H. Parker in Houston Hall—Subject, "Mormonism."

"Mormonism is not so much a religion as a mode of life," said Dale H. Parker, M. A., in his address as President of the University of Pennsylvania yesterday afternoon before a large audience. The occasion was the opening of a series of "Three Talks by Undergraduates" given under the auspices of The Pennsylvania in the Houston Hall Auditorium. Owing to the inclement weather yesterday, the hall was not filled to overflowing, but the audience was sufficient to warrant the success of the present series.

Edward Burton Robinette, a prominent Senator in the College, presided, and in his speech of introduction reviewed the policy of The Pennsylvania during the past year in bringing to the students advantages outside the regular course and in placing the University before the public as a centre for the promotion of culture in the community. He hinted that next year The Pennsylvania might arrange a series of lecture recitals, with musical accompaniment and in connection with the grand opera student nights.

In his speech on Mormonism Mr. Parker dealt touchingly with the movement, presenting its petals as one who knew the subject well and could speak of its most interesting phases. After denying the current report that he himself was a Mormon, Parker read extracts from the Book of Mormon (which the Mormons accept as inspired in addition to the Old Testament) to show its high literary quality, and told that the story it narrated was second only to "Paradise Lost" in the grandeur of its conception and the scope of the action. The speaker then related the historical basis for the Mormon religion as given by the Mormons and traced the history of the Mormon colony in the United States. Mr. Parker, in speaking on the subject of polygamy, said: "It is true you can still find a few men in Salt Lake of whom it can be truthfully said that they can take a street car going in any direction and ride home. But polygamous marriages are no longer entered into. The only men living in polygamy are those who were married before 1890. In conclusion Mr. Parks praised the Mormon custom of virtue, industry and thrift and said he did not think there was any community that took better care of its poor and needy members. "After all," he said, "they have the courage of their convictions, and lead upright lives. Everybody can have a right to his own belief, and that of the Mormons is to be deserving of respect than any other."

In the audience were students, ladies and members of the Faculty. The next address in the series will be by Samuel Rosenbaum, B. C., who will speak on "Maurice Maeterlinck." On Thursday, May 6th, at 4:30 P. M.

Tuesday Speaking Contest. Zeta will hold a price contest in extemporaneous public speaking in Houston Hall on Friday, May 21st. The subjects will be announced at 6 P. M. on that day and members interested among the competitions by lot. Two prizes have been donated by members, to be competed for. The debate last night on professionalism resulted in a draw, the judges finding it impossible to come to a decision.

To Elect Sophomore Captain. There will be a meeting of the Sophomore Class in Houston Hall on Friday to elect a captain for the class track team which will meet the Freshmen in the annual Sophomore-Freshman Track Meet.

Dean Penman's Condition. Dean Penman has not returned to College on account of his previously stated condition, but dangerous sickness is sufficiently serious to confine him to his room.

British Association Smoker. The annual meeting and smoker of the British Association of the University will be held Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Fraternity Baseball. Phi Delta Theta defeated Delta Tau Delta by the score of 8 to 1 in an interesting baseball game.

Success to the Tryes. The Pennsylvania joined the undergraduate body in wishing the baseball team the greatest success in their struggle with Yale today at New Haven in the first intercollegiate baseball game of the season. It is difficult to predict the outcome of the contest, as there is little opportunity of comparing the strength of the two teams. But the scholarships of our team in the last two games augurs well for Pennsylvania.

Starting the season with but five regular players from last year's squad, the team has gradually developed and rounded into shape, until at present every member on the team is playing a good and steady game. The men have showed improvement in form, particularly in striking and fielding. The batting of the men has all along been the weakest part of the team, but that too is now improving. With an excellent battery in Shultz and Conover and with the able backing of their teammates, Pennsylvania should be able to give Yale a hard struggle today, and the final result of the game will be watched with interest by all loyal Pennsylvania men.

Cosmopolitan Club Smoker. The Cosmopolitan Club of the University of Pennsylvania told a smoker last evening in Houston Hall. The club is primarily to promote social intercourse and good fellowship among the students who come to the University from foreign countries. The club is newly organized and this is its first attempt at a social gathering. The evening was enjoyed by everyone present, and great credit is due to the officers who managed the affair.

Priestly Chemical Society. "American Beet Sugar Factory" was the subject of an address by Harry L. Holier, W. C. H., before the Priestly Chemical Society last night. Mr. Holier has spent some time in the best sugar industry, and his interesting talk was much appreciated by the large audience which greeted him.
