RHODES EXAMINATIONS.

VARSIY VS. NORTH CAROLINA.

Southern Collegians Have Excellent Record—Collier or Chapman Will Pitch for the Red and Blue.

There will be plenty of sport for Varsity fans today when the Old North Foe will visit this campus. At 3:30 the Varsity will play North Carolina, and at 4:30 it will follow the game the Spring Handicap will be run. Both games will be played in Roanoke Field, a large city Saturday night.

The Varsity is today the last minor contest on the schedule. On Wednesday, the middle of the season an improvement over the form displayed in the early spring has been seen. The infat, which is practically correct, will be working well together, and in recent games they have put up some good baseball.

Corkman and Smiley at short and third have handled a good many difficult chances with skill and without errors. Ernest Comyn has been catching a wonderful game. Out of eighty-one chances he has made but a single error.

The outfield is a strong one, all of the men being well up in hitting, which is as it should be.

With Shults to work in the important positions, Carolina has a good chance to land at the top when the conference closes. The line-up today will be:

Admission to College.

Testimonials and references must be sent to the Dean not later than the first day of the entrance examinations in June and September (September 10th, respectively, in 1909).

Handicaps This Afternoon.

The Spring Handicap, which had to be postponed Saturday on account of wet weather, will be held this afternoon on Franklin Field after the baseball game with North Carolina. The handicap will be run at five o'clock and will be run off as fast as possible. Results of the handicap will be posted at once and will be held on Wednesday afternoon.

May Day Sports To-night.

The May Day Sports will be held tonight on Franklin Field. As the Philadelphus polices have interested them selves in the boxing contests, all participants under twenty-one years of age will be forced to show a written permit from their parents or guardians in order to use the ring. The marshals appointed for the sports were announced in Saturday's issue.

GOLFERS AT ATLANTIC CITY.

H. B. Heyburn, '12, Runner Up To W. J. Travis in Big Spring Tournament, Wright and Kitchener Figure.

University of Pennsylvania golf players were much in evidence last week. Henry B. Heyburn, '12 of the team, won the University Tournament, defeating C. F. Fawcett, a player of national reputation on Monday morning, and in the afternoon he beat Eben M. Browne of Pittsburgh, a former national champion, in a close nineteen-hole contest. At the end of the sixteenth hole the exchange was one down, the seventeenth was halved, and Heyburn by a superb effort won the hole and evened the match. On the first extra hole Heyburn had a well played four and won the match, as Browne played his second shot into the rough and took three shots to get out.

In the finals Heyburn was opposed by Walter T. Travis, the former world's amateur champion. While Travis was of excellent form and was the frequent match. At the turn Heyburn was one down and such player had gone out in forty-three. This was the worst course that Travis had ever seen by a heavy northwest wind rendered golfing difficult.

Before the tournament Heyburn was practically unknown in national golfing circles. With one leap he has placed himself on the lists of reputable players.

H. P. Kitchener, the University of Pennsylvania, won the second place in the National Club Tournament cast at the President's Cup, losing to S. T. Buck by a single stroke. D. W. Wright lost in the semi-final to the President's Cup.

H. P. Kitchener, F. Wright and Blair, all excellent players, should make a strong bid for the championship at the Intercollegiate. Heyburn, Fye and Blair are good enough players to be counted on to land well up in the individual championship.

THE COLLEGE MAN'S FUTURE.

In six weeks another class numbering over two hundred and seventy members will be graduated from our College Department. The engineer, the architect, the chemist, will have already attained their professions; others have yet to make their choice of a calling. But for all a degree from the University of Benjamin Franklin's founding should stand for much. Four years of greater or less effort have preceded it, of which it is the culmination. Many years of success in what ever pursuit, characterized by a noble and honest purpose, sympathy for our fellow-men justice to all should be its consequence. A degree should not be a mere symbol of scholarship it should be a prediction of a great good which its recipient is to do.

We hear much nowadays of the degeneration and dissipation of our college graduates. Mr. E. C. Morse, with whose work most college men are familiar, has told us of his frequent meeting with college graduates, of every profession, in the climes of every large city. He has told us how they have been driven to the "bad luck" in New York City to obtain their daily subsistence. From this it might be implied that the lives of college men wrecked on the sands of dissipation are many, but considering the number of graduates throughout the country each year, the percentage is relatively small. This percentage, however, must be yearly reduced before a college career and its degree have acquired their maximum efficiency. Such cases as Mr. Morse cites, whether they be numerous or exceptional, not only reflect upon the influence of the particular college from which the victim graduates but also on colleges in general.

No matter what pursuit a man may undertake, no matter where he may be situated, no matter what class of people he may be thrown with, he can so conduct himself that his associates and even those who do not know him, may point to him with pride as an exemplary type of a college man. It will mean that he has been just and honest in his dealings with others, upright and moral in his habits, true to himself. A college course forms the foundation for this (if the individual's innate character has not undermined it), but the superstructure rests entirely with the man. It is for him to decide whether or not he shall uphold the principles which Pennsylvania and other American colleges stand for and which has been sent here to learn. Upon the present graduates depend the justification of our colleges. Whether or not our colleges will crest a still greater influence than the equipment of American citizenship depends upon the college graduate.

The classes of 1899 must ever keep this in mind in the moulding of their future. Scattered as they may be throughout the world, rich or poor, in their simple mode of life they may always reflect credit on their Alma Mater. May each Pennsylvania graduate lead just such a life at the last he shall have proved truly worthy of the words, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

Baseball Games Postponed.

Wet weather Saturday caused a general cancellation of athletics all over the country, and as a consequence the "Veritas" baseball team had to cancel its game with the Freshman-Mercersburg baseball game and the Veritas-Mercersburg cricket contest were called off. Only two baseball games of any importance were played, those being at Charlottesville, where the University of Virginia defeated Penna. Juniata, the score of 7 to 2, and at Annapolis, where West Virginia triumphed over the Navy by the score of 7 to 2. Two track meets were held, however, winning the Princeton Intercollegiates and Lafayette defeating Haverford in a duel meet.

Name for Dormitory No. 27.

The name for Dormitory No. 27. The name for Dormitory No. 27 has been determined as the Birthday House. One year ago Mrs. C. C. Harries, the President's sister, and her three children presented the money for the erection of the Dormitory to her husband as a birthday present. This fact has hitherto been kept secret, but will form an introduction for the building. The Provost was then asked to name it, and accordingly he gave the above title.

Keith's Theatre.

What might be truly called "The Big Show" is the Keith offering for the first week in May. The bill comprises, at least, five programs: "Hippodrome" figures of the highest quality, as well as needed relief in children's specialties and always an abundance of comedy, with special reference to the program of the head-line culture. Andrew Mack, then whose name is so often mentioned in connection with the stage and films, makes his first vaudeville appearance, presenting his new sketch, entitled, "Harney." Benson says that "it is one of the prettiest plays that has been seen in the Hall City for many moons," and certainly to go by it. "The Sweet Singer of Ireland" will charm everybody with his songs. A welcome return to this house is that of Nat. W. Wills, "The Happy Tramp," whose face has now reached world-wide proportions. Nat is one of the very few acts in the world who can take a ten weeks' engagement. If need be, and vary his material every week, as rich is his fund of stories and peculiar bits. Nat is indeed one great artist in his line, and any bill that is geared with his name is sure to draw thousands of patrons of every age and language and sex. The children certainly will find a big hit in "Rienzi Watson's Farmyard Circus." This is a Hippodrome act especially for the little people. Sandy is irresistible with his farm-yard menagerie—the donkey, the dogs, the cats, racoons, geese and all. Hippodrome fun, not forgetting the little pink pig, "Romney's Circus" is certainly a laugh from start to finish. Another Hippodrome act of great proportions is the Duffa Roddy Tramp. This is what is called in show parlance a "casting" act, and one of the greatest of its kind, consisting of the most dainty and difficult work.
