The Two Angry Women of Abington

“The Two Angry Women of Abington,” the play selected this year by the Philomathean Society for its annual presentation, is to be given for the first time in the Botanical Gardens of the university.

The Philomathean Society revived the custom of giving outdoor performances, of which there have been none at the University since the annual visit of the Visiting Committee in 1889.

The Second Shepherds' Play, which the Philomatheans are giving this evening, is a version of a play so successful that it was decided to continue it for another year.

The Two Angry Women of Abington, costumed in the dress of the Elizabethan period, was an exceedingly clever and effective production. The acting was altogether creditable, and the singing and dancing were characteristically Elizabethan.

The plot of the play is in brief as follows: Two neighboring housewives of the village squabble and threaten murder and mayhem. Their husbands plan a marriage which sets the date of the championship meet as during the last week of September, places the outcome beyond the field of immediate prediction. Yet with Niles, of Harvard, the present champion, and Blue with Wisconsin, the front runners, the title is still in doubt.

In the doubles Pennsylvania's championship team of Thayer and Van Vleck faces Schmidt and Isaacak, both of whom have played on Harvard's winning teams last year, and are in the form of their lives. Thayer has won several matches already this season, while Van Vleck and Merrill, but the In, the singles and doubles several times.

The Freshman baseball team leaves Philadelphia last night on its final trip of the season. The Freshmen plays in Andover today and at Exeter tomorrow, and then begins the vacation in the latter town.

The Pennsylvania Freshmen, which the first-year men will line up against during the last week of the season, are the only school teams in the country and have a long record of victories for the present season. Andover is especially strong, and 1910 will have to play great ball in order to defeat them. Exeter is not up to its standard this year. The Freshmen should win from the New Englanders.

Andover plays over Mercersburg, Hill, Yale, Freshmen, Hopkinson, Harvard Freshman, Springfield College, and Trinity College to her credit, and has held Yale down to a 2-1 game recently. It is not so good, having been defeated by William Smith, Caltech, and Harvard Freshmen last year in playing splendid ball. But if the pitchers study their basemen, they are destined to put up a great fight in both games. Freshmen will probably bring off the victory in the box tomorrow. The line up for to-day is:

Senior Class Record Out

Andover was added to Pennsylvania's Class Record library yesterday when the book of the Senior Class was presented to the Association.

From the moment the books were put on sale yesterday they have been in great demand. First six were sold out a C. Q. D. to Winston. How many will Pennsylvania's book have been obtained and everybody holding a card was supplied. Freshmen are still the sales to date, it looks as though many more will be purchased by tomorrow, and by to-night the supply will be pretty well extin

Contrary to custom, no books will be placed on sale at the Houston Club Booth. The Freshmen book coming at reduced rates. If any are disposed at that time, they will be sold at the regular price.

The Freshman baseball team left Philadelphia last night on its final trip of the season. The Freshmen plays in Andover today and at Exeter tomorrow, and then begins the vacation in the latter town.

The Philosophical Society has been in existence for the year.

The reception to the Northeast Man of the Priestley Chemical Club has been held at the Freshmen Home, 3701 Locust Street. Members of Record Board will be present.

The Undergraduate considers himself a member of a little coterie, and be surrounded by a group of like-minded individuals. He is proud of his membership in a particular society and its activities. In some branch or other of college life, the acquisition of a reputation as a good fellow or a hard worker is highly prized.

The undergraduates are capable of comprehending the atmosphere of their college environment. Favorable as it may be in some cases, it can also be unfavorable. Where the conditions of life are as favorable as those he has enjoyed in the past, he is likely to be more amiable and somnolent. Classes, and the general social atmosphere, play a significant role in shaping the behavior of college students.

Courses are fundamental to collegiate life. They provide a structured framework for learning and personal development. The calendar year is divided into quarters, and the study of specific subjects is organized into courses.

A MISCONCEPTION.
The New York "Evening Post" recently published an editorial blaming the low standard in scholarship and teaching on the "benevolent gentleman" whose easy courses are the prey of lazy and indolent students. In answer to this communication was written by an undergraduate of Princeton, who pointed out the fact that the real difficulty lies not in the easy courses which an institution may offer, but in the false ideas of many of the students. We quote the communication in part:

"The undergraduate considers himself as a member of a little coterie, and be surrounded by a group of like-minded individuals. Entries in Henley uncertain. It is still rather uncertain just what college crews will be entered in the various events of the American "Hen- ley." Although there been some talk of Harvard entering the o se collegiate race against the Cornell and Pennsylvania second Varsity crews, it now understood that the Crimson crew will put all its efforts to defeat the Yale second varsity in the first eights event for the Steward's Cup. Probably the only opponent of the Freshmen in the second eights event will be the Georgetown Freshmen. The Yale crew, which has intended at the recent entering of this race, has transferred its entry to the first eights contest, in order to give Harvard a race. Both the Varsity crews and the Freshmen boat were sent over on the "Henley" course yesterday afternoon in a short practice race. The first Varsity, which was rowing three miles in all, was a bare quarter length ahead of the Freshmen at the "Henley" finish. The latter led the second Varsity by half a length, again showing splendid form. The Freshmen held a secret ballot for Captain yesterday, which resulted in the election of Frederick Marsh Williams, coxswain of the boat.

Zeilo Speaking Contest. An extraneous speaking contest will be held by the Zoological So- ciety in Zeilo Hall tonight at eight o'clock. All members of the society, except members of the "Varsity debate team, who are not eligible, have sig- nified their intention of competing. Those who desire to part will hand in a list of five subjects on which they are ready to speak. This list must be in the hands of the committee before 7.20 o'clock at 9. At that time the committee will choose one subject for each contestant from the list handed in by him. Each contestant will speak for five minutes. The prizes are two large silver cups, that for first being over a foot in height. Graham Woodward, Sec., of the Philadelphia Bar, will be judge of the contest. Dale H. Parker, '08 L., and Samuel Bleichman, '09 C., of the "Varsity debate team are the commit- tee in charge.

Yesterday's Baseball Scores. College games. Navy, 5; Waltham A. C. 0; Michigan, 6; Detroit, 1; Fordham, 2; Syracuse, 6; Holy Cross, 1; Wesleyan, 1; National League. Philadelphia: Phillie, 5; St. Louis, 1; New York, 2; Pittsburgh, 1; Chicago, 6; Boston, 2; Brooklyn, 3; Cincinnati, 2; American League. Detroit, 5; Athletics, 3; St. Louis, 2; New York, 1; Chicago, 13; Boston, 1; Washington, 1; Cleveland, 2.

Fourth-Year Medical Class. Dr. Pepper will meet the members of this class on Monday and will tell them what he did during the summer, as a member of the American Pathological Society. The subject is very interesting to students of medicine and to those who are interested in the progress of the medical profession.

Summer Employment. Information can be given regarding the employment of medical students for the summer. The best way to get such work is to make application in time, but it will be necessary for all students who have not yet begun work and for all students who have not as yet turned in their keys to come to the Class Room at 11 A.M. tomorrow.

...the New England colleges, victories over Wesleyan and Trinity having given them much prestige. Amherst, with a win over Yale, and Dartmouth are other colleges with strong names.

Virginia and Georgetown are undoubtedly the best of the Southern colleges, but since the Big Four "hit their stride," they have not been winning with any consistency.
