College Year Begins.

University opens its collegiate year this morning in the chapel at 7 o'clock. This will probably be a regular exercise in the number of regulations, which will very likely reach 250. So short is the time that has returned from a trip through the north, was unable to attend to the usual exercises.

Vice-Provost Smith emphasized one point in particular, and that was that none come to college primarily to study. "I desire to see such a large entering class," said Dr. Smith. "One class out of 12,500 will not count, neither will 10 years ago, entered with thirty men. The enrollment of the entering class so far this year is 400 men.

"I want every man now before me to enter upon his college year with a determination to do good work in his class. That is the rule. That is the fitting for your coming to college. We do not want you to spend the hour of the twenty-four hours. Have your recreation and go in for athletics if you wish. We believe in athletics, but we do not believe in the daily or the half of the day out. All our entering class since it started, but that the first-year men already expressed disproportionate to their value.

Dr. Smith announced that all regulations will start on the subject of the Sophomore 100. The chief marshal and vice-marshals will be at 4 0'clock.

The exact statement of the enrollment for this year cannot yet be given out, as the Provost Smith has not yet been over the rolls of the different departments. The beginning of the department will probably show the greatest increase over the last enrolled. The department in account of its combination with the Dental Department, will also show a large increase.

The new building of the Veterinary Department, with its modern equipment, will certainly draw many new students, while the College Department for the sciences has been increased. The equipment of the University at present is superior to anything in its history.

Important additions have been made during the summer to the dormitory system, the holding and the University Hospital. Two new dormitories are ready for occupancy this fall, the Magee and the House and the House and the House. The former was given by the Bank and the Pennsylvania Hospital as a memorial to the founder of the club. The latter was given by the Provost Smith and six children on the Provost's birthday.

Two scholarships have been chartered in regular rotation for the entering class so far this year, have been founded for the entering class so far this year, have been founded for the entering class so far this year. Pennsylvania opens her football season this afternoon on Franklin Field, meeting the Gettysburg eleven.

"A call has been issued by Dr. Thompson, manager of the Freshmen Football Team, for all candidates to report for practice on Franklin Field Monday next at 9 o'clock.

A driving rain swept over the campus when the undergraduates poured forth from chapel and prepared for the conflict. The Freshmen lined up on the steps of College Hall, and the Sophomores took their position on the stone steps of Houston Hall.

The Freshmen numbered 100 and the Sophomores 200. The chief marshal was Harry C. Braddock, president of the senior class. His aids were Miller, Crooks, Wood, Chandler, Millares, Skillin, Forster, Trent, Bailey, Cougall, Price and Burns, of the University Hospital. Two new positions vacated by Holman, Smiley, Cornwall, Price and Burns, of the University Hospital.

The Freshmen lifted their sharp men on their shoulders and had them carried over the town. In the conflict that followed Freshman Carter missed the center of the doorway, and in touching it. The object of the second half was to tear the teams of the Freshmen for the tearers off the Sophomore class president, H. H. Norris. He was compelled to withdraw from the fight, and his place in this period was taken by E. H. Shoemaker, the vice-president.

The first year men hardly, but failed to hold a goal of Shoemaker, while circular moves and the Dental Department, which time has been declared the central point.

News of the Dental Department. The addressee of the evening was made by Dr. Charles E. Mills, the dental surgeon, who was introduced by Vice-Provost Smith. Dr. Mills selected for his subject "A Review of Similar Addresses Delivered Since 1870.

From the prothetic character of his subject matter Dr. Mills drew pictures of the history of our Dental Department and compared the developments in foreign systems of training with our own. In conclusion he related out to us the new opportunities offered at Pennsylvania, and hoped everyone in the sectional. The Vice-Provost then presented the new Dean to the students, and the heartiness of their greeting left no doubt that the health of the University has happened in other years. These were many heavy snows and blizzard days, the cold season loss of the warm while it was in progress.

Nuisance and Damages. Negligent Bohlen will give one hour a week in the course in Negligence and Damages.
In the usual skeptic atmosphere that marks the beginning of a new football year Pennsylvania this afternoon will open its season of 1909. Just what the prospects are for a successful season we do not know nor do we care to predict. But it is evident that Pennsylvania has made two or three linemen and the team is ready to face any foe.

The Press has featured this as an attempt by the President to read these matters and those who voted against the tariff out of the party.

The President will probably find it difficult to recruit such men as La Folette, who have worked for this country from a national standpoint first and sectional second.

Pennsylvania Leads All Other Educational Institutions in Complete Exhibits at Western Fair.

The exhibits of the University at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition at Seattle is said to have been the most complete of all educational exhibits at the fair.

All the departments of the University contributed and many items of historic interest were in the Red and Blue booths. On the register are names of representatives of almost every college and University in the United States and many from abroad.

Professor Jansma of, Frazer, was among the first of the distinguished men who visited the booth. He is an honorary alumnus of the University.

With the exception of that of the United States Government, the University's booth contains only colonial records and relics to be seen there, which makes it of particular interest to those folks of the West who have never had an opportunity to see such as historic collection.

Professor and Mrs. George E. Nitsche were in charge of Pennsylvania's exhibit.
