Rifle Club to Organize

Maritime Will Meet To-Day To Discuss Plans for Taylor Shoot At Easington.

Stimulated by the efforts of the National Rifle Association, the University of Pennsylvania rifle team, under the direction of Captain J. D. E. Smith, will take up active work next week. The first meeting of the new club will be held in Room 12, College Hall, at 1 o'clock today, when a date will be arranged for the Fall championship match which is to be held in the course of the next week or two.

The first intercollegiate match between the University and its sister institution, the New York University, will be held about the middle of January. Although the meetings of the club this afternoon will not take any form of practice, the officer leaders conducting the exercise.

Over the past year the team was very active, finishing third in the national rifle meet, held at New York, and Hon. W. P. Wilson, Consul for the Argentine Republic.

Citadel Cavalry and the Central High Naval Rifle Association, interested in marksmanship are urged to be present at the meeting of the club this afternoon in order to take an active part on the team. A captain of the team, being absent on account of studies will be unable to take part in the meeting.

During the first year of the history of the rifle club, most of the members interested were those who had been members of the military organization through association with the Philadelphian militia, and this must be largely due to the large number of men who have little experience or any knowledge of rifles.

The club, soon recognized, however, that there was a patriotism and state of affairs, and during the past season seventy members have been numbered. A number of men who have little knowledge of rifles was also realized that in order to turn out a good team, members desiring to do satisfactory work must be prepared to take an active part in the club. A captain will be elected shortly after organization.

It is practical to begin at once the organization of the club and drill in small squads will culminate with the match, which will take place at the Clearview ranges and will include the championship of the University and the District for a number of years.

Dr. Rowe to Deliver Address.

Dr. L. R. Rowe, of the University of Pennsylvania, is to deliver a lecture at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Academy of Sciences, to be held in the Port Royal Hotel, New York, and Hon. W. P. Wilson, Consul for the Argentine Republic.

Mass Meeting at Franklin Field

Big Football Mass Meeting To-Day on Franklin Field

Practice Rigged Yesterday and Players Need Instructions of United Support from Students

Undergraduates To Cheer Varsity Eleven as Coach Sends Men Through Strenuous Practice Preparation for Brown Struggle. Gates To Swing Open at 3:20 P. M.

Today at 3:20 will open the gates of Franklin Field, and the final week of practice will be opened for the team. At 3:20 the student body, when the first football mass meeting will be held.

It is the urgent appeal of all closely associated with the team, that support be given to the highest measure and made to the most strenuous efforts. This is the first opportunity for 1912 to exhibit its class, and in the interest of the University, and not the team, its strength of organization, there should be a full attendance.

Coach Lawny Smith and Trainer Murphy will be in charge of the band. The team will be cheered as it is put through the exercises. Among the officers, leaders conducting the cheer ing.

The season five games are to be played this year, in order to secure a winning team a larger squad is needed. We want new '92 men, and the presence of these is essential. The team needs help. If you are on the fence, as you are urged to be present at the meeting of the club this afternoon in order to take an active part on the team. A captain of the team, being absent on account of studies will be unable to take part in the meeting.

It is practical to begin at once the organization of the club and drill in small squads will culminate with the match, which will take place at the Clearview ranges and will include the championship of the University and the District for a number of years.

the opening of college. Pennsylvania was represented by a team of five men whereas a six-man team was required by the regulations of the Inter-collegiate Association. Not another team member could be secured. In spite of this discouragement, the team made an excellent showing in the individual events.

The golf management is of the opinion that one cause for the lack of interest lies in the fact that the Atlantic Association has voted the golf team no appropriation for the past two years. The financial support of the team has fallen upon its members and they have borne the heavy burden uncomplainingly.

Be this as it may, the golf interests of the University are well worth maintaining. Some support should come from the undergraduates. The least that can be done is for those familiar with the game to report for the team, take an active interest in its work and add a pride in its offices to bring victory to Pennsylvania.

NEW COLLEGE SONGS
The following songs have been printed once before in these columns and are now repeated in order that every undergraduate will become famil-Farn enough with them that he will be able to join in at Franklin Field this afternoon. In case the song leaders choose to call for any of them.

COLLEGE SONGS.

Tune: "In the Shade of a Pink Parasol." As we sit in the stands for our team we will cheer.

For they fight with their might for Our colors once so dear.

Let the yells and cheers ring When in the stands now we'll stand and sing.

Cheer our team, yip, hooral, hooral! Cheer our team, yip, hooral, hooral! For our men on the field Never waiver or yield.

Tune: "You and I Am.

Cheer our team, yip, hooral, hooral! Cheer our team, yip, hooral, hooral! For our men on the field Never waiver or yield.

Tune: "Please Don't Take Me Home." See them standing in the stands today. Ten yards more, we must score.

Cheer along, cheer along. Penn! Ten yards more, we must score.

Cheer along, cheer along. Penn! Ten yards more, we must score.

Cheer along, cheer along, cheer along. Penn! We will win this day.

Tune: "Fanny Boy.

Cheer along, cheer alone. We are here five thousand strong. This is the war, in the fray. The following rooms are illuminated: 256 Filer D, $100; 212 Franklin, $150; 32 Rodmell, $120; 33 Rodney, $120.

and we are happy that this chance came, and grant the man of such weight in the educational world as is President Hadley of Yale, is not to be disregarded by the men of the colleges of America. The hurry and bustle of the first few weeks of the college year is now over. Men have as opportunity to think.

We trust that the men of Pennsylvania will avail themselves of this opportunity to read and consider thoughtfully the following advice from a recent address by Yale's president which we take pleasure in bringing before you. It relates to the men who are entering upon their college life cannot be overestimated.

"In school we are bunted up to the performance of facts of moral and ethical laws, and restrained from the commission of various acts of folly or disorder, by coming to college we come to a place where no one will restrain us except our duty except the influence of companionship and example. We have a chance for acts of folly which we shall afterward regret. We have a chance for the thoughtless commission of acts of disorder and for the infraction of the laws of society or of morality. There is one way to prevent these things, and that is to think.

"It is easy to enter into the life of the college as fully as we know we are to correct in whatever it does. The probabilities are that we shall not be called to account at the first time, nor the second. The probabilities are that the crowd will not do anything very bad the first time or the second. But the harm shows sooner or later, and on the whole the boy is more fortunate who can be called to account promptly and brought face to face with the real character of what he is doing than the one who escapes so long that he has upon himself the habit of mental irresponsibility. The practice of taking one's ease and going with the crowd may or may not bring its penalty to day. It must bring its penalty sooner or later.

"These temptations which now meet us are essentially the same in kind which will meet us in our archives of business and professional work.

"If we take life easily and shift upon the crowd the responsibility which each man ought to assume for his own treatment of society's demands to society's reforms. Professional disgrace is ten times oftener the result of carelessness than of intentional badness. Nobody ever intended to go to jail; nobody ever intended to lose his position in society by forfeiting the respect of his fellows. The criminal act which at first seemed to be a mere transgressions past, and the judicial order of the courts if one world. We have a obligation to each other to assume for us.

Cheering Sections Change

Demand for Seats in South Stand Loses in Re-arrangement.

Beginning with the Brown game next Saturday, and for the other football games that are still to be played, except the Carroll game, all students will be seated in Section E, and those adjusting to the East in the North.

The demand for tickets in the North Stand is such that the Board of Directors does not deem it financially practicable to permit the members to distribute themselves indiscriminately throughout all the sections of the North Stand.
