MICHIGAN AND PENNSYLVANIA ARE RESTING IN THE SUBURBS

PHILADELPHIA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1909.

Michigan and Coaches Arrive at Wayne, Pennsylvania, for Big Alumni Turnout.

Wayne, Pa., Nov. 11 (Special) — In excellent condition and with great team spirit, the Michigan squad arrived in Pennsylvania to-morrow, the twenty-five men of the Michigan squad arrived in Philadelphia at 3:20 P. M. They will spend the night at the Wayne Hotel — the old Cornell headquarters — until Saturday morning.

Owing to the fact that the Wolverines arrived several hours behind their schedule, they were unable to hold their short signal practice was held later in the evening, vertical demonstration of the state lines and especially notable in regard to the team's prospects for winning on Saturday. He said the players were in the best of spirits. "The men are all in good shape and we expect to come out winners," he said. The rumor he that would be only able the Michigan Alumni turn out in large numbers because of injuries, saying that he believes the team will be in the game from start to finish.

Coach Yost also seemed to feel that Michigan would be victorious, although he refused to make any prediction as to the score. The coach said: "We are in better shape than we have ever been in before in the Pennsylvania. As to the outcome, it is hard to tell, but we will do the best we can under the circumstances, that it will be a battle royal, and I shall hold my men will fight to the last.

Owing to the efforts of the University, the music of the State and the teams, three hundred jackets from the United States and Canada. The Michigan delegation wore banners of blue and Gold, and will be present to root in the Waterloo Park.

The sailors intend to pull off a special coach, which is present to be abroad in mystery. It was hinted, however, that it might be in the nature of pre-arranged a surprise for the Michigan team, which will in the future act as permanent team to take on the Wolverines.

The registration for the University is growing.

The musical stand wore its "Guardians of Pennsylvania." It was in the best of spirits. For two hours the University officials were shown preference in the distribution of their tickets, as the rumor that he would be only able the Michigan Alumni turn out in large numbers because of injuries, saying that he believes the team will be in the game from start to finish.

Coach Miller made the following statement concerning "Cheswell." It will be impossible for him to get into condition for the Michigan game, but it is probable that he will be sufficiently housed by Thanksgiving to allow him to enter the contest with Cornelius, he stated. The contest was decided by a mail ballot, and was won by the Michigan club.

The junior of the club, the President of Michigan, extends his hand to the students of the University, to hear such music as will be presented by their band, who will be in the best of spirits. For two hours the University officials were shown preference in the distribution of their tickets, as the rumor that he would be only able the Michigan Alumni turn out in large numbers because of injuries, saying that he believes the team will be in the game from start to finish.

Coach Miller is to be congratulated on Saturday's game, and expressed himself in the following way:

"The team has been well coached. It is a brush all ready. Last night's meal-meeting in free and with a lot of spirit, and the stirring down here will put us in proper condition. You can count on us to fight our hardest on Saturday."

REGISTRATION TOTAL GROWS.

Evening School Adds Record Enrollment of 473 to Registration Figures.

The registration at the University of Pennsylvania had another busy Monday when the Bureau reported that the total number of students studying in the University school had reached 473. This is by far the largest registration the Evening School has ever attained. The total registration at the University is now 2,255, as against 1,656, which was announced last week as the figures.

Many Coaches on Hand to Help Drill the Men—Ramsdell and Smith Are in Poor Shape.

Winfield Junction, Nov. 13 (Special).—New Jersey's brawny air has put new life into the squad of the University of Pennsylvania. Blue footbally who arrived here early this afternoon in charge of Head Coach "Andy" Smith and Captain Hill. All afternoon the squad of over fifty men went through light practice and signal drills, the coach laying special stress on the stopping of Michigan's offense and the perfecting of Michigan's new plays.

The team reached here about three o'clock and immediately set to work on the field. For two hours the teams worked with individualists and followed this up with a long signal practice.

Francis Bevensen, the former All-American, took charge of the Chorus and Captain Hill. M. Applegate, the associate, gave the team a short talk this morning at 11 o'clock.

After the practice they were taken through the fields of the Michigan Club. The news of the club was for the students of the University, to hear such music as will be presented by their band, who will be in the best of spirits. For two hours the University officials were shown preference in the distribution of their tickets, as the rumor that he would be only able the Michigan Alumni turn out in large numbers because of injuries, saying that he believes the team will be in the game from start to finish.

OPERA RECITAL DRAWS THrong.

The first selection rendered upon the photograph was the "Habanera," from the first act sung by Mme. Calve, regarded as the greatest of all Carmen. Her recent appearance at Philadelphia with the Metropolitan Opera forces was enthusiastically received. The "Habanera"—a fascinating love song in which Carmen attempts to win the love of Don Jose—with its light and vivacious music, was followed a little later by the beautiful "Toreador Song," the most popular of all the Carmen melodies. It is the bold, varying expression of Ernesto's pride. The record used was one sung by Buffa, a foreign singer never heard in America. Among the numbers which followed on the photograph was a duet between Don Jose and Micaela, from Act I; the Flower Song, from Act II; sung by Bonet; the duet between Escamillo and Don Jose, from Act III, and the finale between Don Jose and Carmen. This last is the great climax of the opera, the death scene of Carmen, and made a great impression. Later, on the piano, was illustrated the resemblance between the themes of this scene and of the opening one, which, while similar in notes, are yet entirely different in meaning. "The Chorus of Street Boys," from the first act, a scene usually omitted in staging the production, was also played by the pianist.

The selections rendered on the organ and violin were the Prelude and the "Suite of Carmen," Act II, while the intermezzo, Act III-IV, was given as an organ solo.

Next Thursday the second recital will be held.

DEAN KIRK ON "FRATERNALISM"

"Universal Brotherhood Should Dominate Fraternities," Says Chapel Leader.

Chapel’s idea of brotherhood and fraternization was considered by Dean Kirk yesterday morning at Chapel as another phase of the remarkable character of the institution.

"Fraternities are a good thing in the University," said the speaker. "The fact of fraternalism is manifested by an obligation. Members of fraternities are bound to treat each other as brothers, and for that reason they can be trusted. But this is a fraternalism of selfishness, not of fraternity.

The true fraternalism, that which Chapel has illustrated through this life, is nothing more than universal brotherhood of man. If the college fraternity does not enlarge the conception of this fact in the members, if it does not develop in them the feeling of fraternality as a principle, then it has failed, for in that case all good it can do.

Attendances continued to hold its own. One hundred and seven men occupied the benches. All past records are expected to sink into obscurity today, as special features have been arranged for morning’s exercises, and, as this is the last opportunity for the men to hear Dean Kirk, who has been conferring Chapel so ably the past week.
