SWARTHMORE DEFEATS ZELO
Young, a Chinese student is star of contest, marked by brilliant speeches and rebuttals.

In a series of brilliant speeches and rebuttals Swarthmore has driven its opponents before it to last night defeated the Swarthmore Society of Pennsylvania in its 14th annual debate. The members of the victorious team were R. K. Donworth, J. H. Willius and G. B. Jones while Zelo, was represented by J. C. Willis, H. Daniel and C. Young. Young Chinese for Zelo, although a native of the Great Empire, shone out as the best debater of the evening. His command of English and his wielding of the weapons of argument show him to be a dangerous opponent in any debate. For Swarthmore Willius and Jones cavaliered, the one in argument the other in form, and were sufficiently supported by their other colleagues to win a clear and unambiguously affirmative & most decisive victory over the Zelo side. Immediately following the debate victors and vanquished went to the Glee Club where a banquet was given by Zelo.

Pennsylvania Botanical Society.

The Pennsylvania Botanical Society of Pennsylvania was hold last evening at the Penn Museum by the provost of Dr. A. W. Miller, Professor Macfarlane's of the present society, in the absence of the President. The meeting began with a presentation of the new botanist of the society, the Rev. Mr. Peter, the tree, though never higher than forty-five inches, formed a spread across its branches of fifty-one feet, while the largest branch from the tree was fifteen inches and one-half foot. The tree seems to be one of the largest, if not the largest, of its kind recorded in the country, and has been carefully financed in by the Society.

Descriptions accompanied by fine engravings were given illustrating plant life. Program.

PROVOST HARRISON HONORED

Trustees of Carnegie Foundation For The Advancement of Teaching Elect Dr. William A. Clark as Chairman

Proovlst Charles C. Harrison, on Wednesday, was enthusiastically honored by the Trustees of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, which he served for nearly 20 years. He succeeds Dr. Charles William Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard University, his alma mater. One amount of the fund was $25,000. It is a institution supported by heads of many of America's leading colleges and universities, and has been served for twenty years in any of the 16 accepted institutions are eligible to receive.

As chairman of the trustees of the Proovst, Dr. Harrison will be on friendly connection with the Work. It was an added responsibility of great importance. Among the trustees are—Nicholas Murray Butler, Columbia University, Arthur T. Hadley, Yale University, David P. Jordan, Union
State College, James C. Rowan, Cornell University, Woodrow Wilson, Wisconsin State University, and Dr. F. W. Freihoff, Boston.

Mr. Harrison is a pupil at the Thecopial Academy under the venerable Walter B. F. Fiske, 1858, and he had the honor of always entered the Freshman Club of the University. At the end of his college career was distinguished by his taking honors in each successive class. At his graduation in July, 1882, as head of his class, he took the degree of Bachelor of Arts. On the occasion he delivered the Grand Salutatary in which he called upon his classmates to real law after graduation but circumcumstances led him to decide to the which in which he continued active and accomplished until 1897.

In 1887 Dr. Harrison was elected Trustee of the University, and while in this capacity he became familiar with the duties of the presidency. Then the death of Dr. Eliot brought Dr. Harrison to the front as Chairman of the Board made Chairman of the important \at a time when the University had an the assumptions of this responsible positions that had accumulated in the the University which has a distinctive characteristic role. He held this chairmanship until 1897, and during the years the great expansion of the University was due to his sagacity and energy, resulting in the raising of not less than $100,000.

After the resignation of Dr. William L. Proovst Harding was re-elected by the Board of Trustees to continue the duties of the President. He finally consented to take the office for a year only, more suitable places was offered. He was elected at the expiration of a year more suitable positions was offered. He was elected at the expiration of a year and called upon his class the University. During these nine years the great expansion of the University was due to his sagacity and energy, resulting in the raising of not less than $175,000.

For the administration of the University he has taken on new life in every department and is, in fact, the making and—sure, being the purpose of his life. He has been a man of deep and wide knowledge and has never been unassuming and has always been useful—working himself to the best of his and had been lacking in the past.

Among the numerous acquisitions of the University under his direction are the new Law buildings, bringing together in one location all the law courses of the daily University life; the Harri-

Places were also desired for the exhibition to be held on December 15. The club will meet again on Wednesday, December 11, at 1:30 P. M, in Room 2, Hamilton Hall. The First part of the meeting was devoted to the initiation of several new members. This was followed by a debate on the proposition, "Resolved, that the United States Government establish postal service back such as are in use in Europe." The negative was seconded by a positive. A mock debate was then begun be- tween the initiating members on the proposition, "Resolved that intercourse in an unadulterated quality is a policy." Camera Club.

At a meeting of the Camera Club, held in their room in Houston Hall, last evening, plans were discussed rela- tive to having a member of the club who make the ascent in the balloon which the Arbor Club plan to send up Thanksgiv- ing Day.

The Second Orchestra Concert
A state of suspense is not very agreeable, especially when the sus- pense arises in regard to the success or failure of such an important occasion as that of the second appearance of the Philadelphia Orchestra in the University series of concerts. In all probability, the sale of seats at Weightman Hall on Monday even- ing will prove all that can be desired, and the concert will result in as great a success as the members of the Columbia Committee trust that it will.

Today, however, the committee is worried. The advance sale of seats has been miserable. The University is not supporting the Orchestra as the Committee hopes to be supported. There is no reason why matters should be in such a state that the Comm- ittee should have to experience the least concern over the outcome of the concerts. The undergraduates realize the opportunity presented them. They should realize the heavy work on the Committee's shoulders and do all in their power to lighten that work.

The most satisfactory way in which this can be accomplished is by pur- chasing tickets in advance for the con- cert.

Director Public received a royal wel- come at his first appearance of the season in Weightman Hall. It is hoped that at his second appearance he will be even more royally welcomed.
