Sophomores and Freshmen Will Clash in Big Bowls on Franklin Field This Afternoon.

Sophomores and Freshmen by the hundreds will assemble at 1:30 o'clock today to urge their men to turn out in force for the big bowl, which will be held at Franklin Field. So far there has been no maker of the bowl, but when the time comes he will be known. The object of the first half will be to establish the rules of the game, and in the second half to settle the championship. The ball will be fifteen minutes.

The Bowl Fight takes place to-day. In years past, the Pennsylvania has thought it its editorial duty to dwell upon length upon the history of this great undergraduate battle; the weight of tratdition behind it, and to urge such and every member of Freshmen and Sophosioners to turn out and support their team. The Bowl Fight means to Pennsylvania. As for the Freshman Chirp, its membership knows of the Fight long before they stepped on the campus, and their knowledge will be somewhat more intimate by this even-time.

It is needless to inform them that the Bowl Fight is not only an event of their education in Pennsylvania. As for the Freshman Chirp, its membership knows of the Fight long before they stepped on the campus, and their knowledge will be somewhat more intimate by this event.

Lyman Abbott, editor of "The Outlook," one of. this country's few really important periodicals, lectures this afternoon in Houston Hall. His address is delivered under the Foundation of the Beefman Lectureship on Christian Ethics.

Any comment on this event would be incomplete if it not call to the attention of the undergraduates the importance of the Foundation by means of which opportunities are presented to them to bear during their college life the inmost thought of the foremost men in America.

The Foundation means much to Pennsylvania—exactly how much is perhaps not realized by the undergraduate body. That Dr. Abbott should be accorded to lecture is significant. No man today commands an audience comparable to his. His magazine reaches

OLD-TIME BOWL FIGHTS

A Short Sketch of This Historic "Scrap" Since Its Beginning in 1861 as a "Spoon-Fest."

Pennsylvania's bowl fight history began in 1861, then there was no fight, no bowl—only a spoon.

At the end of the first term the faculty announced in Chapel the names of those Freshmen who had won first, second and third scholastic honors for that term's work. To the lowest third honor man the Sophomore presented a wooden spoon in a spirit of fun and mockery. At first the Freshmen thought the affair as much a joke as the Sophomore's. In 1863 the spoon was accompanied by a crude wooden bowl, in which the third honor man was put and carried about the campus by the Sophomores as well as the Juniors and Seniors.

In 1867 the bowl man resisted being placed in the bowl, and was locked up by his classmates, although no fight resulted. In 1869 the third honor man presented the presentation and dashed the bowl to pieces on the ground, and a struggle resulted between the two lower classes for the pieces.

Gradually the fierceness of the "scrap" increased, the object always being for the Freshmen to keep their bowl man from being bowed, and to break the bowl and spoon.

In 1875 the fight was so bloody and bitter that contestants thought the "sombre-hearted" Provost rushed bravely into the fray, with the intention of pulling out the ringbearers, but was unsuccessful. Every new year and then the faculty has attempted to abolish the "scrap," but with little success.

The Class of 1879 had the distinction of being the first to come out with an unknown bowl since the first real fight. This was probably due to the fact that the bowl was made to order of tough material and not bought from the shop of a kitchen furnisher. Until then the object was always for the Freshmen to keep their bowl man from being bowed, and to break the bowl and spoon.

In 1877, the last year, the episode was accompanied by a great deal of noise and commotion; but the Freshmen's spirit carried them through the street, and the "scrap" was termed "tame.

Until recently the contestants did not confine themselves to the boundaries of the campus, but rushed through the streets of the city, breaking fire-plugs and lamp-posts. As the number of participants increased, it was necessary to confine them to the boundaries of the campus, but rush through the streets of the city, breaking fire-plugs and lamp-posts. The number of participants increased, it was necessary to confine them to the boundaries of the campus, but rush through the streets of the city.

The abolitionism in 1890 of the old system of awarding honors at the end of the year was recognized by the "scone." The custom of one of the most important and picturesque features, and since then they have been more organized and often more tame. No serious injuries have ever resulted from these fights.

Jaudette Leads Class Meeting.

Nothing but the bowl fight and the necessity for a large representation from the Freshman Class was to be heard at the Freshman meeting yesterday. The Junior Provost, Jaudette conducted the meeting in the absence of President Coryell, whose whereabouts were still unknown at a late hour last night. He explained the system and idea of the fight to his classmate and the Freshman Class spirit, and they were urged to be present at the time of the fight today.

In Spite of Contagion.

In spite of the diphtheria scare in the Dormitories, owing to the approach of the Christmas holidays, the various Dormitory Houses are now being thoroughly inspected by agents displaying the Pennsylvania Art Calendar.
