INTERCLASS DEBATE TO-MORROW

Seniors and Juniors Clash on Platform in Prize Hall at 8 O'clock—Cash Prize for Three Best Speakers.

Scorers and Juniors will clash in a war of words at 8 o'clock tonight in Prize Hall, on the subject: "Resolved, That a Commission Form of Government should be Adopted by the Municipality of the United States." The Junior team will uphold the negative, while their opponents will portray their work on the affirmative side.

The upper classes of the students have not met in debate for many years, and tonight's affair may be looked upon as a renewal of one of Pennsylvania's annual contests, which, until now, had apparently passed away. No doubt, if plans of the Department of Public Speaking, the Club has been for some time, and the members expect to make a good showing in the New York, Dartmouth, Chicago, and Toronto recent years.

Considerable interest centers on this contest, for the reason that a prize of $100 has been awarded to the members of the Intermediate Association.

LATE DR. PEARSON HONORED

College of Budapest Lamentation of Veterinary Dean.

Members of the faculty of the Royal Veterinary College of Budapest, one of the oldest and best-known institutions in the world, have expressed their regret over the death of Leonard A. Pearson, late Dean of the Veterinary Department of the University, in a communication which was received yesterday.

The letter was signed by Dr. Hovia, director of the college, and is as follows:

"The Teaching Body of the Royal Hungarian Veterinary College of Budapest, at the sitting on the 6th of last month, took note with great sorrow of the unexpected death of Professor Leonard A. Pearson. The sad event comes upon the minds of us no impression all the more painful from the fact that the deceased gentleman, though so young, had already rendered to science distinguished services; they feel that in him they have lost a collaborator whose personal peculiarities endeared him to all who met him."

"On behalf of the Teaching Body, whose condolences I am empowered to express, I beg that the condolences may be duly taken note of and imparted to the Teaching Body of the Veterinary College of the University of Pennsylvania."

ANSWERS MR. LEWIS’ LETTER

Agrees and Disagrees with Author of Communication on University Hymn Harmony.

(The Pennsylvania welcomes communications, but is not responsible for sentiments expressed.)

Editor of The Pennsylvania.

Dear Sir—I agree with Mr. Lewis that the method used by the students to demand the removal of the excepted man’s hat during the singing of our University Hymn is childish. But I do not agree with him that it is unjustifiable. It is merely a bad method of righting a wrongful act, and I believe that the end justifies the means.

In the first place, Mr. A., of San Francisco, has not the privilege of the cheered section. In the second place, if Mr. A. does choose to abuse a privilege and sit in the cheered section, he should act the shame throughout and play the game squarely to the end.

If I enter an institution which has rules, I am requested to conform to those rules whether I believe sincerely in them or not. For example, I personally object to compulsory gymnasium, and sincerely feel it, yet I do not excuse me from it, nor does my failure to comply with that regulation do anything more or less than to earn the punishment which the institution may see fit.

The cheering sections are an institution governed by mob rule. Their intelligence is not that of the individual student, but that of the mob. Their punishments are summary, but effective—"No man has a right to trifle with the feelings of any large class of men, so as to provoke them to a breach of the peace.”

I do not think the example of a man standing in church, where the other worshippers are kneeling, has application to the present instance. But were this same man to blaspheme while standing, I am sure righteous indignation would play an important part in the ensuing drama.

The baring of the head while singing "Hail Pennsylvania" is, as Mr. Lewis says, an outward sign of inward feeling of love and respect. But equally true, the disregard of this custom in the cheering sections is a too visible sign of flagrant disrespect for the student body to tolerate. They demand little, but they enforce what little they demand.

It is a fair principle that if a man cares to play our games, he must play according to our rules or suffer when he infringes them.

(Signed)

Various Clubs Argue Before Prominent Judges—Joint Reception Follows.

Much enthusiasm marked the opening of this winter’s Thursday night moot court arguments in the Law School last night. Each of the six law clubs argued a moot question of law, after which a joint reception was held in the rotunda of the Law Building.

After the arguments the students had the opportunity of meeting the distinguished judges and lawyers who had presided at the various trials. In selecting the judges, the object has been to have each court comprised of three men—a member of the Bench, a member of the Bar and a member of the Faculty.

The list of Judges for last night follows:

Kent Law Club—David W. Amman, Charles Biddle, Professor William R. Mikkil.

Hare Law Club—Hon. Robert M. Baldwin, Charles C. Blizer, Esq., Professor Francis H. Biddle.

Shawbrook Law Club—Hon. J. Wil- liam Martin, Theodore M. Beach, Esq., Professor Crawford D. Henning.

Miller Law Club—Professor John W. Patton, Samuel D. Matlack, Esq., Hon. James Stern, Esq.

McKeen Law Club—Frank F. Pitch- erham, Esq., William H. Lloyd, Esq., Professor Owen J. Roberts.
