INTERESTING FIGURES.

Figures tell no lies, but, despite that fact, they are often very interesting. The Pennsylvania has watched the Chapel situation since the latter part of October, and presents the following report on the condition of that institution for the weeks it has held attention.

The report teaches us one thing. Great things are in store for the morrow services provided the undergraduate body does its share to make them what they should be. After the Christmas holidays it is to be hoped that this share will be done in such thorough and consistent a manner as Pennsylvania men know how to do that which is for the good of their University.

Weekly Averages.

Oct. 26 108
Oct. 27 107
Nov. 1 108
Dec. 16 112
Dec. 17 115

Average daily attendance since October 20—147. Largest attendance for one day—December 17—566. Smallest attendance for any one day—December 3—57.

The student body is responsible for the attendance figures. On the whole, the student body deserves no great praise for the varying degree of responsibility it has shown.

On the other hand, Vice-President Smith, who has given his best efforts to work up the proper enthusiasm; the able speakers, who have delivered the daily addresses, so greatly appreciated by the faithful few; the alumni who have made provision for the quartette; the maternal itself are deserving of high praise for what they have endeavor to bring about—the popularity and success of a voluntary Chapel.

The list of speakers is beneath print.

Such a list in the reader's hands should be proof sufficient of what he has missed, and should lead him to make a first Chapel resolve for the New Year.

BASKETBALL TEAM RESTS.

No Game Until After the Holidays.

The basketball team will play in good form.

For the first time in several years, there will be no Christmas trip for the basketball team, and the squad will not be seen in action again until January 8, when Carnegie will play in Westinghouse Hall.

Although there are only two veterans on the five, it gives unusual promise for this time of the year, and the coaches are hopeful of bringing another championship to Pennsylvania. Princeton is the only member of the Ivy League that has yet been met, and the unexpected ease with which the Tigers were disposed of has given rise to wild hopes, as Yale and Cornell have both been defeated by minor League teams, and Columbia's team is not up to its 1909 caliber.

Stark was week tailed of at the beginning of the season, but successive victories in the hands of Pennsylvania, Columbia and West Point have severally joined the golden alumni aspirations. West Point has an excellent quintette, and has thus far cornered the market. Dartmouth, Gettysburg and Harvard see other institutions which have particularly bright prospects.

With Murdock back in the game and the rest of the squad playing up to their present form, the Red and Blue five will have every chance to capture the title.

MORE CHINESE COMING HERE

Many Celestials' Will Be Sent to This Country Under Returned Boxer Indemnity Fund.

That Pennsylvania will take a leading part among the great American Institutions in educating the Chinese students who are hereafter to be sent to the United States by the Pekin govern- ment to be educated on the Re- turned Boxer Indemnity Fund as the result of the recent visit to the Uni- versity of Dr. Wu Thang-fang, the re- tired Chinese Minister, to a matter of uncertainty. Dr. Wu Thang-fang expressed himself, while here, so thor- oughly pleased with the work in which things are being conducted and the instructions and facilities offered at the University, and with the work of all the Chinese students here.

In a conversation with Viso-Provost Smith, Dr. Wu said that he would ex- pect his influence to get men of those Chinese students who will be sent over to the United States to study to come to the University. And, when Dr. Smith said, "You them all," Dr. Wu smiled and answered that he would be perfectly willing, but it would be too partial to Pennsylvania, and Yale and Harvard would "grum- ble." I shall see that you get a good share of them, however," he said to Dr. Smith, "for I think Pennsylvania is as good a place as any for our young men to receive a Western education. And I am rather inclined to be partial to Pennsylvania, having been honored by her with the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws."

Already the University has a large delegation from the Celestial Kingdom which leads the foreign countries re- presented in the University with twen- ty-one representatives. Cornell, with thirty-three Chinese students, and Har- vard, with twenty-eight, are the only two large American institutions that have more Celestials than Pennsylva- nia. But, considering that there was only one Chinese student at the Uni- versity ten years ago, the present num-ber of twenty-one is a remarkable increase within that short period and serves as an excellent index of the University's growth in size and fame.

The University Graduate School has the distinction of enrolling this year eleven Chinese students in its de- partment, the greatest number of stu- dents from China that has ever at- tended any graduate school in this country at one time.

As the foreseen-educated Chinese are destined to be the future leaders of that ancient nation, the University will, without doubt, exert through the Chinese students that are now being and will be educated within her walls a tremendous influence upon the reju- venation of China.

EXCHANGES.

Dwight's play, "The Pillars of Rock- ets," was recently presented by the Cornell Dramatic Association.

The Triangle Club, of Princeton, will produce "His Honor the Sultan," a cheap comedy this spring.

Cornell's basketball schedule calls for sixteen games, including contests with Pennsylvania, Rochester, Wes- leran, Dartmouth and State.

The faculty of the Yale Sheffield Scientific School have decided that henceforth there will be no Latin re- quirements for the scientific course.

Some of the captains of the more Im- portant basketball teams are given be- low: Cornell, Crosby, forward; Co- lemnia, Klinef, forward; Dartmouth, Brad, forward; Harvard, Brown, guard; Michigan, Reit, center; Army, Millian, forward; Navy, Willis, guard; Wolframe, Hayward, guard, Princeton, Peil, forward; Stanford, Stanford, forward; Chicago, Hoffman, guard; Yale, Blom, guard.

GRADUATE SCHOOL STATISTICS.

Aside from being one of the most comprehensive universities of the world, Pennsylvania possesses one of the most creditable departments in the successful professional schools. Statistics have been compiled by the Bureau of Publicity.

The result of this work shows that at present there are nine hundred and forty-five graduate students in the University. Of these 312 received their degrees in the college department of the University before entering the professional schools.
