assumption, it is because the moral of the student who subscribes to 'the Honor System' has been lowered by so doing that he is found (according to the editorial writer) most frequently cheating when he is not bound by his honor. Without the 'Honor System' he finds it difficult to live as a honest man.

We often hear that a merchant's word is good as his bond, and quote it in his praise. The gentleman's word is better than his bond, for nobody can be bound. And the gentleman's word is better than Milton's bond whether affirmed or assumed, as it is taken for granted in all relations concerned of society. The gentleman's word is always on his honor, and so we need not be afraid to prevent him from cheating in examinations, on the athletic field or at cards, nor do you need to exact of him a promise not to cheat your watch or stick you in the back with a knife. Among gentlemen, it is among men of integrity, courage and in love of fair play, among men of gentle manner, possessed of a better sense of their obligations in others than their own right law in hand. We feel that this is not a thing to be scrambled for by the cheap mugging gentlemen. I reserve, therefore, my whole judgment for-""
DEBATE ON FEBRUARY 25
Date Conflicts with John R. Matt Lectures, but Columbia Cannot Change It.

Weed was received from Columbia University yesterday that postponement of the Triangle League Debate until March 4, as was anticipated by Pennsylvania, is impossible, and the annual forum contest with the New York University will be held on Friday, February 25. The latter date was originally set and then found to be in conflict with the Matt lectures in Washington next week.

Negotiations have been in progress for a postponement in which it was hoped the influence of the Pennsylva two offices could be brought to bear in the securing of a date more favorable. Final word was received yesterday definitely closing the discussion; that a telegram was received and then a better close follows from Pennsylva. Council, President of the Columbia Debating Union, in which it was stated that Columbia's position in the matter is such as absolutely to produce any change of date.

The reasons which make postponement of the debate impossible are that the capital of the Columbian Union will deliver a thesis on March 4, the other available date, and that the auditorium has been leased for the evening of February 25. Pennsylvania's teams have made excellent progress in preparation of the quality which will be presented in the Triangle League Debates. In order to strengthen the individual speeches and to plot out the flow of the word picture, two such debaters have been arranged between the "Varsity" team and will be held in the near future in Price Hall. The debates will be entirely in the nature of "secret practice."
