Red and Blue Fencers Will Cress Foils

Day before last, the march of the Red and Blue Fencers was very well shown in Brooklyn, N. Y., and through the Varsity's report, Tommy Crooks bad just dropped in to look at the team and, as he has been a member of a regular team, nothing definite is known as to his abilities.

To-day's lecture will include demonstrations of Rhythm, analysed in the light of modern physiological principles, application of gyrostatic principles in explanation of the gyrostatic as an instrument of precision, the Pyramidal gyrostatic, and the Pyramidal gyroscope.

Preparations for the annual Triangular League debates have now passed into the final stages, and on February 25 the teams representing Columbia, Cornell and Pennsylvania will clash in what is now recognized as the premier forensic contest of the Eastern College world.

The debate, though thrice threshed out in Pennsylvania the present season, is a new and live one and will furnish no end of interest to the audience, and to the debaters will offer no lack of opportunity for sadder turn of mind. It is: "Resolved, That the Commission Form of Government Should Be Adopted by the Municipalities of the United States."

The debate will be held in Houston Hall, to uphold the negative of the proposition, a task which should give a good account of itself and cause no end of trouble to Pennsylvania's team in opposition. Those who will represent Pennsylvania are Hoover, Kedder, Robinson and Kent, four men capable of putting up a strong aggressive content from start to finish. At Columbia the Red and Blue will be represented by a strong combination in Haneman, Baur, Hart and Matler, that gives excellent expectation for repetition of the debating success that has attended the University for the past few years. However, Columbia will depend solely upon seasoned, well-trained men, a valuable asset in a contest of this kind.

Unfortunately, the debate at Pennsylva-nia will involve a serious conflict which the Faculty Debate Committee has tried in every way to eliminate without success. This conflict between Pittsburgh and Pittsburgh will be the battle that has been delivered the same night in Weierbach Hall, and, through, however, has been recognized as absolutely impossible. For at Columbia the captain of the team finds himself involved in a logical trap which he must deal with at the outer limit of the first available date.

Furthermore, the hall has been leased for the occasion, and postponement would now mean serious financial loss. In spite of this, it is hoped that the most enthusiastic interest that has been shown in the debates of the past years will be continued to unneeded rivalry among the New Yorkers who are not again.

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO CO.
DUAL MEET WITH HARVARD

Crimson Swimmers to Compete Here
Tomorrow—Columbia Wrestling Team to Add to Attraction.

Harvard and Pennsylvania are to meet in athletic rivalry tomorrow night, when the swimming teams of both institutions will clash in the University tank.

When interviewed as to the meet, Coach Kistler said: "For the past week we have been paying more attention to the new men than I did the week before, before the meet with Columbia. Harvard will bring down "seasamed" men. We are trying to put my material in such condition that lack of experience will not be felt as far as Pennsylvania is concerned."

Before the precedence events of the evening will be held, the special will witness the Pennsylvania-Columbia Wrestling Meet, which is being conducted as one part of the evening's double bill. The grappling contests are to begin at 8:30 o'clock in Weight nearing and upon their conclusion the aquatic competitions will be started. It is known of the strength of the Columbia wrestlers, as this is the first meet of the Intercollegiate Wrestling Association's schedule. The Red and Blue teams have already met twice this year, and, though not startlingly successful in other events, are confident that their showing tomorrow will be a decided improvement. All the members of the combination with the exception of Captain Graham and Stewart are new men, and require a little seasoning. It is announced that Graham, who has been pressed from participating in the recent meets by examinations, will appear for the first time this year. He will strengthen the team materially.
