Alumni Society Will Entertain Many at Annual Dinner

An impressive and lively program of speakers has been arranged for the banquet of the Alumni Society, to be held in Wrightman Hall, on the evening of February 22.

Prominent among the guests of the Society will be Governor Charles E. Hughes, of New York; Governor Edwa-

New Candidates for Board.

ADDITIONAL CANDIDATES

Another season's crew practice is in full swing. Fully 160 men report—considerable practice trials on the machines. Fifteen new candidates registered for the Varisty and Freshman crews.

Yet the prevailing opinion among the rowing officials is that there are not enough big men out for the Varsity. Captain Bennett and Manager Pfeiffer stated that while there is a reasonable number of applicants men, many of them are too young and inexperienced for the first boat. "We want more men to come out," said Captain Bennett, "especially big men from the professional department."

In speaking of the Freshman squad, Coach Wood made the following statement: "I am very well satisfied with the men who are out for the Freshman crew. There are some likely looking men among them, yet it is impossible to determine the pull of the men from their work on the machines. I have known men with good standing to go out on the water and nearly fall on some important detail. On the other hand, men of above average ability on the machines have developed into excellent Varsity material after a season's practice on the water."

P. Ferguson, of last year's "Varsity" crew, was out yesterday for the first time, and it is expected that his number will be considerable. Coach Woodhouse will repeat this work. H. P. Brandtch, coming in the pressure of other work, has definitely decided that he will be unable to compete.

VETERINARIAN TRIM DENTALS.

However, the Combined Vets. Lead in Pace for Championship.

The 1912 Vets defeated the 1912 Dentals yesterday afternoon on the Howard field in three exciting matches. The results do not materially change the League standing, but both teams were near the bottom rung. Observers said that the Combined Vets. took the Dentals into camp on Tuesday afternoon, the Combined Vets. and the leadership, Combined Dentals going to second and the Archivists falling back to third. The scores of yesterday's games follow:

IN HARMONY.

The Pennsylvania has been in- formed that its series of articles in reference to compulsory physical education has been construed as intended to

The spirit of cordial unity that subsists between students and their professors at Pennsylvania, rather than jealousy that unity, for which the University has always been noted, has not been managed to complete the series as originally planned.

CONGRATULATIONS.

Adam has an undergraduate, it seems, of Pennsylva- nia's achievement success in a field usually reserved to professional men. Yesterday we spoke of an undergradu- ate musician nominated to the Phila- delphia Orchestra—today we speak of work in another branch of art. The events of the program of this year's Mask and Wig play, "The Desert of Mahomet," has been directed by Wil- liam Wesley Roett. The work, which drawings are known to all Pennsylva- nia men. We are glad that one of our number has become known by this way by a Pennsylvania institution. We are also glad that this Pennsylvania insti- tution has found that there is talent in the University, and that, in future, it need not go elsewhere for inspiration.

CLASS DAY OFFICERS.

It was a cause of great satisfaction to us and to the whole University to learn of the spirit of harmony and unity of action that prevailed yesterday afternoon at the nominations of the Senior Class Day officers.

When the full realization came to us that four of seven of the officers were elected unanimously, we were more than pleased. To know that politicians were entirely forgotten in the matter, that harmony was the by- word, that the class with no distinction whatever, was capable of deciding who are the men best fitted to per- form the duties, is a pleasant thought, indeed.

We take this opportunity of offering our heartfelt congratulations to the men so honored. We feel sure that the class knows its mind, and has made a careful and conscientious se-

Rifle Candidates to Compete Again
Today for Places on Team
Two Meets Next Week.

Another competition will be held to day among the University's riflemen in order to determine the personnel of the squad which is to open its schedule next Monday. The coming week will be a busy one for the marksmen, for it will find them engaging in two meets, the first on Monday, against the Harvard Rifle and Pistol Club, the second on Wednesday, against Delaware College and the Harvard School of Los Angeles. In those matches each team will have on the own range under supervision, and the scores made will be wired to the other competitors.

A meet has been arranged with Co- lumbia University for March 17. The New Yorkers, who finished well up in the intercollegiate last year, appear to be on the strong college teams in the East. The following men will report this afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the Philadel phia Rifle Association, 1150 Washington avenue: Andrew Burke, Cannon, Clover, Dan doy, Embi, Hpherical, Harrison, G. H. Rains, Wlmer, H. M. Klinekow er, Leavitt, Mclnnd, Mclnld, Moit, Price, Pterk, Rotor, R. G. Scott, A. G. Smith, W. B.
