VARiTY WINS

Fencers Defeat Yale by the Score of 7 to 2 Pennsylvania Wins Last Dual Meet Held at Varsity W. T. Wendel the Star.

In the last meet before the intercollegiates Pennsylvania's fencing team defeated Yale in Phila- delphia at the new Weightman Hall by the score of 7 to 2. The Yale team was eliminated by the absence of her captain, Sanders, who was in all of the Rensselaer previous meets has shown the best form of any of Bill's opponents. Sanders was taken ill Thursday and was unable to accompany his team to Philadelphia, and Rensselaer was substituted for him. Captain Wendel, of Pennsylvania, went through the meet without a defeat. Wendel, who has been victorious in all his bouts this season, was the star of the evening. His attack was excellent, while his defense was faultless, but a few points being scored against him by any of his opponents. An interesting bout was held between Wendel, Pennsylvania, and Parke, Yale, two left-handed fencers.

The hardest fought bout was the one between Rensselaer, Yale, and Par- ke, Pennsylvania. In all, six bouts were required before the fencers were able to reach a decision as to which was the better man. This was due to the fact that neither two of these two men comes a new Varsity

First Team Defeats Scrub, 30-0; Thayer Replaces Smiley at Third.

There were several changes in the Varsity lineup yesterday when they played their second and last match in the time of 6 to 0. Stunly was taken from third on the first nine and placed on the same seat for the Scrub, while E. Thayer replaced him on the Varsity. Last year's Freshman bat- ter of Hawx and Darrach, was used for the first team. Price and Thomp- son did the twirling for the second seat but they were unable to keep the Varsity men from rallying up eight singles total in six innings. The victory of the Varsity was due to their most determined and surprising, no score results.

The game was a hit and run contest, from start to finish, there being two singles in seven innings. The victory of the Varsity was due to their most determined and surprising, no score results.

closed-knit, harmonious body, with definite purposes in view for aiding the University.

Not that the present graduating class is not such a body, but that it must become even finer in its harmony and unanimity of purpose, is this opinion expressed.

It was to be put upon the grounds of either to self or to Pennsylvania, and the certain pleasure of Senior Banquets disregarded, the strongest of arguments for the attendance of every Senior at this function would have been advanced. The present Senior Class does not need any such argument. What is said is said in advice to future classes and in praise of Senior Banquets.

1912 HOLDS UNIQUE BANQUET

Hotel Majestic the Scene of Much Recomendations—Members Present a Brilliant Series of Toasts.

Hotel Majestic was the scene of a brilliant series of toasts presented by various members of the class of 1912. Dr. Reeder acted as toastmaster. His introductions were full of humor, and after each speaker he always came back and "did himself one better." H. H. Sheppard's popularity was plainly evident, and his toast on "Class Ring" was especially charming for the occasion of 1912. H. H. Norris defined the "Punster," and the members of that illustrious class heard his remarks the banquet might have ended been possible without it. Midont of his own achievements, "Danny" Hall made a tribute to the football scrubs from the class of 1912. N. Pryor summed up an appreciation of the work of Ellis Ward, kept his audience enthralled at his store of anecdotes "wise and otherwise." Walter Hess and Lewis Walton spoke of the delights of "Baseball" and "Swimming," after which Budd Van Swearingen, although speaking extem- meant, filled the void, and the air seemed to be "very much up In the air" when called upon for the contribution of the "Punster" Wit. "Old. Majestic and filled with a mission for the future of the student body. It must have punched the Mowl or the Mowl have heen punched with the spirit"..."It wasn't me"..."I never hit anybody," said the Mowl, and all went well.

SUNDAY SERVICE

The Rev. G. A. Johnston, pastor of the Bryn Mawr Presbyterian Church, and one of the leading speakers at the North American Historical Conference, will be the speaker at the Sunday morning service at the Main Hall tomorrow. Rev. Rosc, who is formerly of Our Lady's Church, is a frequent speaker at Bryn Mawr College, and has addressed students at Yale, Princeton, and other universities. This will be his first appearance at Pennsylvania. Rev. Rosc, besides being an orator of no mean ability, is a well-known author on religious subjects.

Prior to the regular Sunday morning services tomorrow, Dr. Arthur Holmes of the Physics Department, will deliver the second of his series of three lectures on "Chemistry and Culture," at 11 o'clock, in the Main Hall. His subject will be "Imagination and Science." The lectures are proving extremely interesting and beneficial to his hearers. Nearly fifty students attended the lecture last Sunday morning, when it was given in a classroom. On account of the expected large attendance, the lecture tomorrow will be delivered in the auditorium. It will last only three-quarters of an hour, in order not to conflict with the regular services.
