CRICKET.

It is with great pleasure that we observe the rapid strides that are being made in the progress of one of our minor spring sports—cricket. Judging from the number of candidates a few years back, this game was of small importance in the activity of the undergraduate body, although one of the oldest sports in this part of the country. But during the last few years it has quickly sprung into prominence, and now claims a central position in our minor sports calendar.

The management is to be congratulated for their efforts this year in securing such an exceptionally strong schedule. Although but two intercollegiate matches have been arranged, it is but a matter of time before a league of five or six members will be formed. The first eleven will play all the strong teams in this vicinity and will terminate their schedule with an unusually extended tour of Canada.

An equally potent factor in the increased activity of the game is due to the obtaining of permission to hold matches at all periods of the night, thus giving the big quadrangle and the vicinity of a capable coach to take charge.

We welcome Clinton Winner and his associates to the best of our success for the ensuing season.

INTERFRATERNITY BASEBALL.

It was a great success, although by no means a new one, proposed at the meeting called yesterday for the formation of an Interfraternity baseball league. This scheme should adequate thrive in the plan to be drawn up at the second meeting to be held today.

In past years there has been an abundance of talk and very little materialization in proposals for such a league. All past schemes have come up in the air either from a lack of harmony or of interest, and they have never descended to good solid earth as it is hoped and confidently expected that they will in the present instance.

The offering of the cup for the league championship should prove a sufficient incentive to permanent organization. With the institution in the hands of a reliable hard-working committee composed of the various team managers, much can be accomplished.

When it is realized how many in number are the fraternity spokesmen represented by chapters at Pennsylvania and what a large proportion of the students of the college body go to make them up, the benefits of any scheme that will bring about more thorough acquaintance of these men and, in so doing, give the University the greater unity of which it cannot boast too highly nor desire too greatly are obvious. Then, there is always the consideration to be taken into account that such a league may serve as the happy searchlight that may possibly reveal baseball princes of a cult who the University's teams would welcome.

But, such is after all a consideration of more importance. This league is primarily organized in the cause of fellowship, good exercise and fun in the national game and for the sake of doing all that in its power to secure a further unity among the undergraduates.

FRESHMEN TRIM PENNINGTON. Jersey School Boys Lose to First Year Men by Score of 7 to 1.

The Freshmen team easily defeated the Pennington Seminary nine yesterday at Pennington, N. J. The work of both teams was ragged at times, but the contest was close and exciting at all periods.

Jones, who started in the box for the first time, scored a very good game, allowing but one hit in seven innings. He struck out six men in seven innings. Instantly who replaced him, struck out four more in the two innings. The team returned last night, after taking dinner at the club, to the score:

MUSEUM GETS SUN ROBE

Museum gets Sun robe. Rare Example of Indian Civilization
Added to University Collection. Only Three in Existence.

One of the rarest examples of American Indian civilization, a buffalo "Sun" robe, has just been received at the University of Pennsylvania Museum. According to Dr. George G. Heye, Director of the Museum, this robe is one of only three which, so far as he knows, remain alone in existence. The robe was purchased by George G. Heye and added to his collection of American Indian robes now on exhibition at the University Museum. Mr. Heye found it in the possession of a family in Washington, D. C., where it had been for years without its owner knowing its great value.

The robe is a perfect example of a form that was one of the most decorated Indian pieces. Like many dreams of this nature, its owner was ceremonial and it was no doubt used in many of the great occasions for which the robes were noted. The design is evidently one of cosmic origin, but just what its import is cannot be definitely stated. From analogy it would seem that the design, in its entirety, typifies the earth with its four regions—the sea, maker and sustainer of life, and the four winds, which figure to such an extent in the rituals and ceremonies of most of the Plains tribes, the Sun Robe has a dark, sombre background. The sun, with its radiant rays of color to rich in its subdued values, and the four balancing elements of life to which weight is to be given...imparting on account of its great size.
