SMITH PREPARES FOR URUSIN

Hons Coach 'Andy' Smith in replaying his time in perfecting open formations in preparation for the Urgus game tomorrow. Practices has not been "systematized" as yet, although regular schedule of practice has been in effect since May.  Coach Smith plans to try some systems that were not used in any of the recent games against the University and the Intercollegiate. The systems have been in use during the entire practice period and Coach Smith plans to try them.

OPENING DAY HERE AGAIN

Exercises to be Held in Gymnasium at 10 O'clock This Morning

Chapel in Houston Hall

Opening Day has returned with all the excitement that has characterized football in the past, but this time the excitement has been heightened by the fact that classes begin immediately after the opening exercises. The scramble for seats will be more lively than at any time in the past, the only difference being that the scramble will be more for seats in the gymnasium, which has been converted into a football field for the day.

VACATION EVENTS.

So much has happened at the University since the last issue of The Pennsylvaniaian that it is impossible now to attempt any, but the briefest, editorial reference to the events of the spring. Three of these events, at least, were of the very highest significance.

First was the final game by the City of the great sport of land between the present campus and the Schuylkill. As yet we can predict just what changes the University will bring about, but that there will be important ones seems certain, and that they will be radical seems entirely possible.

Then there was the crew race at Poughkeepsie last June, when the Pennsylvania boat crested the line so close behind the winning Cornell crew that in the darkness no one knew for a time who won. This showing of the Red and Blue names came as a surprise to many, who expected to see the unfortunate results of the past several seasons repeated. To many others, however, who had followed the work of Dr. Bennett, it was nothing surprising to find that the Pennsylvania boat was at the front. The enthusiasm which the work of the crew in the regatta of last June has inspired should covey as Pennsylvania upon a firm basis, and it should no longer be necessary, in order to draw sufficient candidates to expand all the effort which ex-Captain Bennett last year put forth.

Another event of the greatest importance to the University was the withdrawal of the opera privileges which the University had enjoyed during the past years through the generosity of Mr. A. M. Remington. As a result, it seems that no competitions are to be hoped for from the new company. Arrangements are now under way for a new and larger building, to open the concert of the Philadelphia Orchestra in the students' visiting rooms, and The Pennsylvaniaian looks in a few days to be able to assign the details of the arrangement which has been made through the efforts of its Musical Committee. Fortunately, it is no longer the practice to make resolutions, es-

- Rapid Expansion.

During the summer the University continued its expansion. On Commmenzation Day Mayor Harnett formally presented to Provost Harnett the title to the land which was granted to the University by the action of the City Council earlier in the year. The campus is now increased by fifty-six acres, including the grounds and buildings at present occupied by the Philadelphia Museum and two farm estates of land along the Schuylkill.
In return for the city's gift the University is giving a significant free scholarship to students of Philadelphia schools.

The growth of the University during this summer is further marked by the occupation of the new dormitories,
"Tudor House" and "Provensian Tower," which were shown open this week. Although work upon the building was going on throughout the summer, they are not yet fully completed, and some remains lie in the way of painting, varnishing and outside grading. In spite of this every room in both houses is already occupied. When completed, the Tower will be adorned with a clock showing forward all four points of the compass.

The Graduate House of twenty-eight rooms is open only to instructors in the Graduate School, and contains a large assembly hall on the first floor where the Bachelor's may meet and discuss the shortest path to the shrine of Ph. D. Provost Tower, Although small, it is constructed somewhat after the pattern of the Memorial Tower and contains twenty-two rooms.
The most crowed of all the buildings of the University is now the Zoological Hall, which is only a week old but is as yet a building at all, for the bottom of the ceiling has not as yet been unveiled. A week ago today M. DeBrossard Smith looks ground for the new offices, which will be located just west of the Biological Building, facing Hamilton Walk. It is to be completed in three months and will then be given over to the Zoology Department, which will occupy it before the opening of college next year.

BASEBALL AND TRACK

The Varsity Nine Earns Title by Defeat of Cornell—Randolf Makes Brilliant Record in England.

The Varsity baseball team finished up its season after the close of the elder last year with a victory over Cornell in Commencement Day. The result of this contest gave Pennsylvania the championship of the three-game series with the Blue Coaties.

In addition this victory made good the Red and Blue's claim to the championship title among the colleges of the East to virtue of additional victories over Yale and Princeton.

Captain Robins pitched brilliantly and held his opponents safe throughout. Cornell scored once in the second inning, but Pennsylvania promptly tied it and finally won out on Smith's line drive in the eighth.

Prospects for the coming season are bright, inasmuch as the team has for its foes three new by graduation, namely, Captain Wood, Smiley, and Thayer.

After materially adding Pennsylvania to its Intercollegiates list, it is expected that the best college athletes of Great Britain will be in Canada next spring to win the hundred and running oars in the twentimest. "Texas" Randolf made a brilliant record two years ago against the best athletes of Great Britain. In several different appearances Randolf scored a total of seven times and eight seconds in both hand and sprint events.

Notably among his achievements was the defeat of Walker, the South African champion, in both the short dashes at the English Championships. On his first appearance after leaving Randolf ran the hundred yard dash in 19.72 seconds flat, in an invitation race.
